NO DECISION ON GERMANY'S PROPOSAL TO ARBITRATE

ARABIC CASE STILL HANGS IN BALANCE

Von Bernstorff Sees Lansing in Effort to Smooth Difficulties Between Germany and United States.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Secretary Lansing announced today after a conference with President Wilson that no decision had yet been reached by the United States on Germany's proposal to arbitrate the Arabic case.

It was indicated in official quarters that both Germany and the United States agree that to arbitrate the question of indemnity involves arbitrating the justification and the facts.

Secretary Lansing, after his visit to the president, returned to the state department to await his conference with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who is trying to bring the situation to a point where this government will agree to submit the question to arbitration.

One First Essential.

The conference began at noon. It was generally believed that before the United States will enter into formal negotiations on the Arabic case in particular or any phase of the general subject which might include the sinking of the Lusitania it will be necessary first to confirm Germany's assurances of the cessation of attack by submarines on liners.

The declaration that the United States would not discuss the Lusitania until it had been established whether the sinking of the Arabic was justified increases the importance of the decision on the Arabic note.

Refuses to Discuss It.

At its conclusion as he left the state department he told inquirers: "I really cannot say anything about what I said to the secretary or about what he said to me. That rests with Secretary Lansing. I really can't talk, you know."

The ambassador made it clear, however, that the situation had not come to an impasse. From his manner some of his questioners inferred that his conference with the secretary forecasted favorable outcome and that probably arbitration might be agreed upon.

Secretary Lansing, like the ambassador, refused to discuss his conference in any way. When the count returned to the embassy he sent a report to his foreign office which was believed to outline the evidence Secretary Lansing has to show the Arabic was torpedoed without warning and to controvert the claim that she was about to ram the submarine. It was understood the conference developed no suggestion from either side that the principles of submarine warfare be included in a proposal for arbitration. The inference which officials allowed to go out was that the negotiations were so far proceeding amicably and were awaiting further developments between Washington and Berlin.

The German View.

The German view, it was said, was that an agreement could be reached to arbitrate the question of reparation for American lives lost on the ship, inasmuch as the Berlin note has renewed assurances that submarine commanders had been ordered not to attack peaceful liners without warning.

NONE KILLED IN NEW RAID

Zeppelins Launch Another Attack on English East Coast.

GERMAN EFFORT IN FRANCE BEATEN OFF

Turkish Forces on Gallipoli Peninsula in Perilous Position.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

England has been visited by German Zeppelins, the latest raid over the east coast occurring last night. Like the one of Saturday night reported yesterday, however, the raid was harmless to both life and property, according to the British official statement, the only damage being breaking of glass and of telegraph wires.

A German attack north of Souchez station was easily repulsed, today's French war department statement says. Infantry assaults on the Lorraine front broke down before the wire entanglements under the fire of the French infantry. Artillery action, some of it of a violent nature, was in evidence in many sectors.

Austro-Hungarian sentiment regarding the request of the United States for the recall of Ambassador Dumba, is divided, according to indications supplied by articles in the Vienna newspapers. One section apparently is convinced he acted without orders from his government, while the other upholds his course as in line with his duty.

There seems to have been little recent activity in the Dardanelles, the Turkish officials' claim mentioning only artillery actions.

Reports from various quarters describe conditions in Constantinople as chaotic with much suffering among the population, while other reports coming through Athens declare that the position of the Turkish forces on the Gallipoli peninsula is precarious.

London, Sept. 13.—Another Zeppelin raid was made over the east coast of England last night. There were no casualties. The attack is described in the following official statement:

"The east coast was again visited by hostile air craft last night (the 12th-13th.) Bombs were dropped but there were no casualties and the only damage is that some telegraph wires are down and some glass is broken."

An attack with gunfire on a neutral ship by a German submarine is reported in a dispatch from Christiana to Reuter's Telegram company. The submarine is said to have fired upon the Norwegian ship Presto, with a cargo of wood, last Friday. The crew was saved.

PAN-AMERICANS WILL TAKE NEXT STEP SOON

Washington, Sept. 13.—The next step in the Mexican situation will be taken by the pan-American conferees as soon as arrangements can be made for them to meet. Secretary Lansing talked with President Wilson today on Gen. Carranza's proposal to discuss international affairs but nothing was disclosed regarding the conference.

Until official reports have reached here that a supplemental note is to be sent from Carranza sources outlining in detail what might be made matters of joint consideration. This would include war indemnities and guarantees to foreigners.

The setamer Morro Castle reached Vera Cruz yesterday with a large quantity of war munitions for Carranza. He is said to have placed large orders to prepare for an embargo on arms by the United States.

Kidnaped Clergyman Speaks in Fort Wayne

Rev. Louis R. Patmont, the temperance worker whose case created a country-wide sensation early in the present year when he was kidnaped and kept in seclusion for nearly four months, has been in Fort Wayne for the past few days. Sunday evening he addressed a large congregation at the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ, speaking on "The Beginning of the Christian Church in Russia." He did not discuss his own experiences.

It will be recalled that Rev. Patmont was kidnaped on the streets of Chicago following his activity in temperance work, and fifty-one days later was found half starved in a damp cellar in the slums of St. Louis, where he had been held captive. Later he fled to Detroit where he was again threatened and kidnaped a second time, finally escaping but in so nervous a condition that he was unable to recall but little of his experience. Recovering his health to some degree, Rev. Patmont has now been recalled by the International Christian Bible college of Milwaukee, to become a member of the faculty. He is now an instructor in this institution.

Rev. Patmont is a Russian by birth and served in the Russian army during the Japanese war. He is very well educated and speaks good English besides six or seven Slavic tongues. He is now interesting himself in the educating of the foreigners in Milwaukee in religious teachings. He has very many friends among the Poles in Fort Wayne and intended to make this city his home until he received the call from the Milwaukee college.

He left early Monday morning for Harlan where he will speak Monday evening at the Christian church of that place. He returns to this city Tuesday and will immediately leave for Milwaukee.

THE FRENC HSTATEMENT.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The French war office today gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

Several hand grenade combats were reported during the night near the Bethune-Arras road and an enemy attack was easily repulsed to the north of the Souchez station. At the same time there was artillery activity on both sides."

"The mine fighting proceeded continuously and stubbornly to the south of the Somme before Faye. There was violent bombarding in the sectors of Armancourt and Beauvraignes, as well as on the plateaux of Quennevieres and Nouvron. Intermittent cannonading took place in the Champagne and the Argonne. On the Lorraine front our batteries directed an efficacious fire on the German trenches and organizations in the neighborhood of Embermenil, Leintrey and Ancerviller. Enemy groups which left their trenches and advanced up to our wire entanglements were dispersed by our infantry fire."

WILL DECIDE FATE OF RIGA.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(Via London)—The battle along the Dvina river, which has been virtually in a state of deadlock for several days has swung in favor of the Germans. The war office announced today that the Russians had been ejected from several positions on the right bank of the river. This battle probably will decide the fate of Riga.

RUSSIANS LOCE SEAPLANE.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(By Wireless to Sayville)—The Russians lost one of their seaplanes in the attack by these craft on a small German cruiser off Windau, officially reported yesterday. A statement issued today tells of the attack by several Russian hydroplanes on the cruiser and of their dropping eight bombs, all of which missed the mark, and adds: "One hydroplane was shot down and brought to Windau. Its occupants, two Russian officers, were made prisoners."

Gibson recently pleaded guilty to the charge of which Mayor Bell is being tried.

Says Bell Presided.

Rucker also declared the evidence would show that Mayor Bell presided at a meeting when the "machine slates of candidates" were handed out. The mayor watched the prosecutor closely during this part of his speech.

The prosecutor also told how Mayor Bell, assisted by Thomas Taggart, succeeded in having the county commissioners appoint the registration inspectors named by Fred Barrett, democratic county chairman, after the commissioners had once refused to ratify the list. Barrett is also under indictment on the conspiracy charge.

"These inspectors," declared the prosecutor, "were as rotten a bunch of crooks as ever controlled a registration or election."

Prosecutor Rucker then told how legal voters were intimidated by policemen and sluggers and prevented from registering in a number of precincts.

Rucker, who was still talking when court recessed at noon, said he expected to complete his statement today.

BRING CONCESSIONS FROM HUNTINGTON

Six Car Loads Handled by Traction Company for Fort Wayne Fair.

Six car loads of concessions, horses and stock, were handled by the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company Sunday from Huntington to this city, for the fair to be given this week at Centlivre park. Practically the same shows that were seen at the Huntington fair, regarded as one of the best in the state, will be at the Fort Wayne fair.

In an effort to push the work to completion as rapidly as possible the traction company and Grace Construction company had laborers at work all day Sunday on the State street improvement.

Safety First Meetings.

Two safety first meetings are scheduled for Monday by the local employes of the traction company. The first was held at 1:30 o'clock at the car barns, on Holman street, and the second will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

A meeting of the Central Electric Railway association will be held Tuesday at the Anthony hotel, at which traction officials from all parts of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana will be in attendance.

A TON OF HEREFORD ARRIVES IN THE CITY

Hundreds of people were attracted on East Main street, in front of the American Express company, Monday morning, by a Hereford thoroughbred cow, the largest ever seen in the city. The animal weighed nearly a ton and was valued at $2,000. In care of Pete Frazier the cow arrived in this city Monday morning from Shelbyville, Ky., by freight and will be held here until Tuesday afternoon, when it will be shipped to Townsend, Montana, by express.

The valuable animal was raised by H. O. Moxley, who makes a specialty of raising thoroughbred Herefords at Shelbyville, Ky., and was bought by A. B. Cook, of the Cook Construction company, of St. Paul.

The cow will be loaded in with a car load of horses which are being shipped by express over the Nickel Plate from Glenn Falls, N. Y., to Townsend, Mo., and it is expected that the car will arrive here Tuesday noon. The cow will be kept at the Sovine barns, on Harrison street, until tomorrow.

7 INJURED IN AUTO SMASHES

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Eloph and sons, Raymond and Ivan Eloph, of Dunfee, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie, and a heavy Krit touring car driven by J. L. Kelly, 3012 Shawnee place, and in which were riding Mrs. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Rathert, of St. Louis, came together.

Accident on Illinois Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie were both painfully hurt, although not seriously and had employed Charles Bilcer, 1905 Spring street, who operates a jitney on Main and Runnion streets, to take them home. In attempting to pass the McIntyre car belonging to O. P. Eversole, a local four and a half miles out on the Illinois road, who with his wife, son, Arthur Eversole, son-in-law, James B. Johnson and his two children were on their way home after spending the day in Warsaw, the two machines collided, both cars being badly damaged and the occupants badly shakened. Mrs. Gillespie was more seriously injured in the second wreck than she was in the first and she was hurried to Dunfee in a car that happened to be passing a few minutes later. Mrs. Eversole with her little grandchild in her arms, was thrown headling from the rear seat to the side of the road and though she was slightly injured the babe escaped without a scratch. Mr. Eversole was painfully cut by broken glass on the face and right hand.

The jitney was coming from the east and in attempting to pass Eversole's car, bumped into the running board throwing it to the right side of the road the other car to the left. Neither car was overturned. Bilcer was driving the jitney, a Nutting car, and Arthur Eversole the McIntyre.

The First Accident.

In the first accident Kelly attempted to pass a car ahead of him, circling around it on the left. The Eloph car was passing at the same point in the opposite direction, the left front wheel of the Kelly car interlocking with the Eloph car, both machines being put out of commission. Mrs. Eloph was thrown almost out and was painfully hurt about the right leg and received body bruises. She was brought to headquarters in the police ambulance where she was given medical attention. Mrs. Kelly, who was in the front seat with her husband, was thrown out onto the fender and painfully hurt about the chest. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie were bruised. The Kelly car was the worst damaged of the two and had to be brought to the city on a truck. No blame is attached to either driver for the accident.

According to Attorney Eversole, who figured in the second accident, his son was blinded by the dazzling lights of the approaching car, while the same charge is made by Bilcer, driver of the jitney.

Another Collision.

Another collision occurred Sunday when Lloyd Landis, of Churubusco, crashed into the automobile of G. A. Thumm, residing on the Goshen road. The accident occurred at Third and Cass street. The motorcycle was almost a complete wreck, while the automobile was only slightly damaged. No one was hurt.

SUNDAY WARMEST DAY.

All heat records for the season were broken Sunday when the thermometer registered 88 degrees. The maximum temperature Monday was one defree less at 2 o'clock.

ANOTHER WIFE WHO DID NOT DO COOKING

Fred B. Gagnor Complains in Divorce Suit of Cruel Neglect.

Fred B. Gagnon ranks somewhat about sixth in the procession of husbands who have gone into the local courts during the past week complaining of wives who would not cook the grub, patch the breeches and darn the socks, and he wants a divorce from Anna Gagnon. He says they were married April 22, 1912, and separated last Sunday. He recites in his complaint that during their entire wedded life she treated him in a cruel and inhuman fashion by failure to attend to the household duties and refusing to prepare his meals for him, compelling him to be his own Betty. He charges her with an ungovernable temper, calling him vile and improper names and threattening him. Life with her has ceased to be a possibility, he declares, and he wants a decree. Charles H. Aldrich is his attorney.

Kingman Trial Postponed.

Because his attorneys, Harper & Feulber, were prevented by engagement with the hearing of other causes in the courts the trial of Tracy J. Kingman on a charge of grand larceny for stealing Clifford L. Bornchein's automobile and taking it to New York, where he sold it, did not come up in the circuit court Monday, as was scheduled. The trial was postponed without date, but it will take place some time during the present week.

Enlists in Grand Army of Smiths.

Toting a moniker like Joseph Frank Seepetovoski proved a heavier burden than the citizen bearing that name felt like carrying and he appealed to the circuit court to have it changed. Mr. Sepetovoski scanned the lits of names common in any American directory and he picked on "Smith" as being of them all plain, common, unpretentious and easy to manage. So he was duly enlisted in the grand army of Smiths by proceedings in the circuit court, Monday morning, and will henceforth be known and legally entitled Joseph Frank Smith.

Wants Divorce From Convict.

Lillian Mennewisch has begun action in the superior court for divorce from Harry W. Mennewisch. She charges her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment and says he is an habitual drunkard. He also is accused by her of striking and beating her. She asks the custody of three children aged, respectively, 7, 5 and 3 years, and $1,000 alimony. Her husband is now serving a sentence at the Indiana penal farm upon conviction in the city court of keeping a house of prostitution. Mennewisch has been arrested more than once for cruelty to his wife and she has told shocking stories of his attempts to drive her upon the streets to shamefully earn a living for him. Somers and Kennerk are her attorneys.

City Is Again Sued.

William Wiegman and others have brought suit in the superior court against the city of Fort Wayne to compel the park board to set aside an assessment for the improvement of Anthony boulevardd and for $500 damages. The property involved was assessed $950, which the plaintiffs say is too high, and it is alleged that the grading of the street will damage their abutting land. Emrick and Emrick are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Notes of the Courts.

O. F. Gilliom has brought suit in the superior court against Albert Lantz to collect $90 on a note. Glenn A. Smiley appeared for the plaintiff.

In the superior court in the suit of Daniel C. Cope vs. Alice M. Habecker, et al, title to real estate has been quieted as prayed for.

Change of venue from Allen county has been asked by the defendants in the suit of Frank C. Grosshart and Edward C. Gale vs. James R. Sturgeon.

The case of Robin J. and Bert Kenner vs. Charles McCulloch and wife, has been set for trial November 1 before a jury in the superior court.

In the suit of the National Yarn and Cordage company vs. S. Bash & Co., the superior court has given the plaintiff judgment for $315.07.

In the suit of James W. Squires vs. Edward and Samantha Morschand, the defendant, E. Morschand, has asked for a change of venue from the Allen superior court to some other county.

The suit of Mary Jackson vs. Charles Lenz, chief of police of Fort Wayne, and Harvey Gass, of Huntington, has been dismissed from the circuit court by the plaintiff. The suit was to replevin a diamond ring taken by Chief Lenz from Ray Jackson, husband of the plaintiff. Mrs. Jackson was tried in the Huntington courts on a charge of grand larceny for stealing the ring from Mrs. Gass, but was acquitted. Chief Lenz has refused to surrender the ring to anybody until the title to it was settled.

In the suit of Emma Reyer, administratrix of the estate of Herman Reyer, vs. J. W. Charles Bender, the circuit court has given the plaintiff judgment for $111 on a note.

The circuit court has given the plaintiff judgment for $100 in the suit of Henry Doehrman vs. Lizzie Lohmeyer.

The superior court has dismissed the suit of Helen Link vs. William Link for support and in the divorce suit of William vs. Helen has ordered the plaintiff to pay his wife $5 a week.

In the suit of Arthur G. Locke vs. the Fort Wayne Miniature Lamp company the superior court has rendered judgment for $500 to the plaintiff.

LICENSED TO WED.

PLUNGES TO HIS DEATH.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—Fred Schrader, 76, plunged from a ninth story window of a down town office building and was killed when he struck the roof of a third story building. It is believed Schrader jumped out of the window.

The Rosary society of the Cathedral parish will entertain at cards Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, at Library hall. All are invited.

Attorney A. C. Nierman will leave Wednesday for Plymouth to settle up the estate of Mrs. Phil Conway.

GIFT WATCH WAS THE ONLY THING STOLEN

A valuable gold watch, kept by the owner as an heirloom and on that account greatly treasured by him, was the only thing of value taken from the home of Attorney William S. O'Rourke, 1401 Washington boulevard west, when thieves entered the residence early Monday morning. The watch was one that belonged to Mr. O'Rourke's father, Hon. Patrick S. O'Rourke, for many years superintendent of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, and had been presented to Mr. O'Rourke, sr., as a testimonial of esteem by employes of the railroad. There were five other gold watches in the house, three of them lying on a bureau in the chamber of Mr. O'Rourke's son, but none of them or anything else of value was carried away.

On the floor down stairs Mrs O'Rourke found her husband's pocketbook, but it had cotnained only a check for $30 and no cash. Mr. O'Rourke's trousers were taken from his bedroom and were found in the hallway.

Entrance to the house was gained by removing a screen from a kitchen window. The front door of the house has not been locked for years, Mr. O'Rourke says, and the cellar door also was unlocked. Mr. O'Rourke did not retire until after midnight. The robbery has been reported to the police.

U. S. TROOPER KILLED BY MEXICAN BANDITS

Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 13.—One United States trooper was killed and two others wounded, one probably fatally, when a gang of Mexican bandits, early today, attacked the American patrol of seven men at an irrigation pumping plant, several miles up the river from this point.

The soldier killed was Private Craft, who received a wound through the head. Private Forney was shot through the back and is expected to die. Private Walsh also was wounded, but his condition is not considered serious. The firing was heard by nearby detachments, who located it at the pumping plant, on the Los Indios project, but asisstance, which was rushed to the beleaguered men came too late to prevent casualties. The squad of troopers were fired upon from the darkness by a gang estimated at forty in number. It is believed the bandits have crossed into Mexico.

ON LANSING'S MIND.

Robert Lansing, secretary of state, has seven big things on his mind, any one of which would be enough in itself to cause war or other great trouble.

The things on the secretary's mind are: 1—Torpedoing of the Hesperian; 2—Sinking of Lusitania and Arabic; 3—Dumba case; 4—Trouble with Mexican bandits on Texas border; 5—Carranza, the only man opposing plan for peace in Mexico; 6—British blockade; 7—Landing of marines in Haiti to control custom houses.

tion, but on the Dumba case. Nevertheless, it was understood that while Germany's explanation of the sinking of the Arabic was considered unsatisfactory, the United States would consent to the arbitration of the reparation issue if the discussion were limited to the question of facts as to whether the submarine commander was justified in launching his torpedo. That would not involve general principles for which the Washington government has contended. The Berlin note declared the commander attacked the Arabic because he though she was about to attempt to ram the submarine. Testimony of the liner's passengers, however, tends to show the ship was torpedoed without warning.

The German note on the Orduna case was being decided at the state department today. In German circles it was believed that the communication stated that the torpedo which missed the Orduna was fired in belief that the ship did not carry passengers.

Government officials awaited news from Ambassador Penfield on Austria's reception of the request that Ambassador Dumba be recalled. Press dispatches had stated that the Vienna foreign office would accede without precipitating an issue.

Count von Bernstorff made an engagement to confer with Secretary Lansing at noon. Mr. Lansing before seeing the ambassador went to the white house to talk with the president. It is probable that the ambassador will have an audience with the president later, but the time has not been fixed.

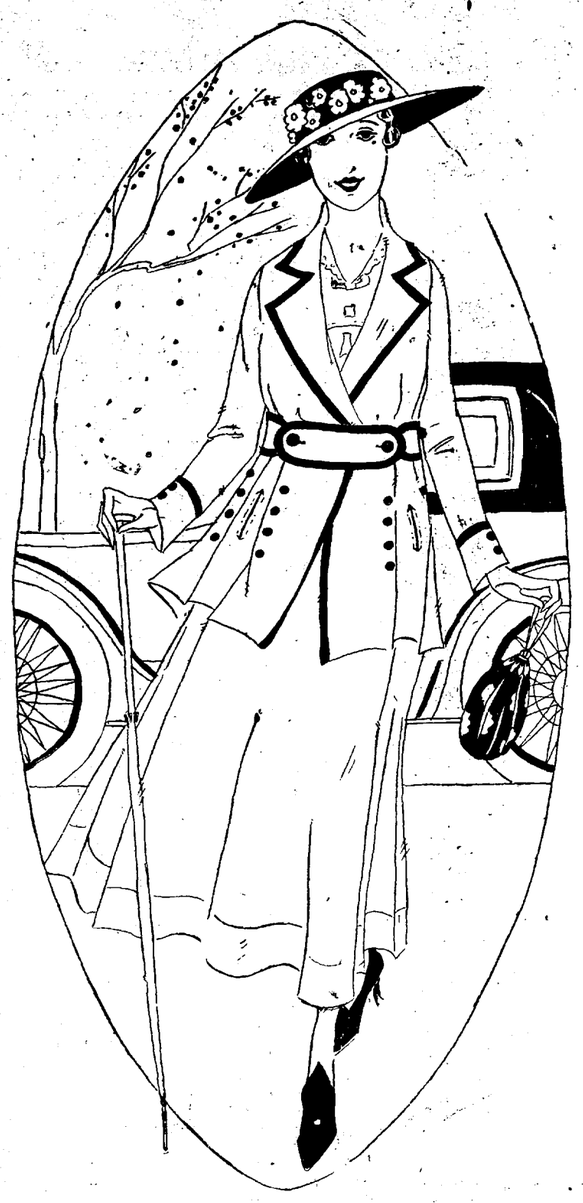
Anniversary Sale Price $2.98 and Up

Our First Anniversary Sale Starts Today



The ready-to-wear sections invite you to their first birthday party, starting tomorrow and continuing all of next week. This celebration will be a very practical demonstration of the power of price and will establish anew the reasons for our prodigious growth in the brief span of twelve months. We don't care a fig for profits during this sale—neither do you care a rap for the sentimental side of our story—value is what talks; price is what convinces; merit is what counts—and we rest our case on these very rational issues—if we can't save you money at our birthday sale, if you aren't reasonably sure we have prepared the bargains of a lifetime—then the past twelve months mean nothing whatever to you, and the future means still less.

We're going to fuss up a bit for our birthday; extra preparations are all finished for a big attendance—but over and above all these plans stand the mute but eloquent price arguments, which shout their economics in a voice all understand, which tell their tale of practical thrift so that all who run may read—prices that will bowl over all competition with one full swoop, as follows:

GERMANS IN CHECK ONLY AT ONE POINT

London, Sept. 13.—The Austro-German armies on the eastern front, still striving for definite results, are making progress everywhere except along the Galician frontier, where the Russians report a further success.

In the north where the Russian line has been straightened by a withdrawal of forces, Field Marshal von Hindenburg is directing a violent drive towards Dvinsk and a crossing of the Dvina. In the center Crown Prince Leopold has forced his way over the Selwianka and is attacking in the vicinity of Skidel. In the south Field Marshal von Mackensen on both sides of the Pinsk railroad, is pressing eastward toward the town. These movements have resulted in the capture of several thousand Russians.

The final object of the central powers in this campaign is still a matter of conjecture, but General Ruzsky, commander of the northern Russian army, declares positively that there is no danger that Petrograd will fall this year before the guns of the invaders.

On the other fronts there is little to report. It appears to be established that Bulgaria has struck a bargain with Turkey and Premier Radoslavoff in response to an appeal from Germany, stated that Sofia is now on the most friendly terms with Constantinople.

In the Balkans and Italy rumors are again current of an Austro-German offensive movement toward Constantinople.

English newspapers devote much space to the announcement of David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, that the nation must increase her efforts very greatly if victory for the entente allies is to be assured.

WAITING FOR MR. ARCHIBALD

Agents of Department of Justice to Meet Him When He Lands.

TAKING UP CASE OF CORRESPONDENT

Trouble is Brewing for American Who Carried Dumba's Letter.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Acting under instructions from the white house, agents of the department of justice will meet James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent involved in the case of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, wheen he lands at New York on the steamer Rotterdam from Holland. Archibald carried Dr. Dumba's letter to the Vienna foreign office disclosing plans to cause strikes in American munitions plants.

All officials here are maintaining strictest silence regarding Archibald's case, but it became known today that United States Attorney Marshall at New York has been instructed by the department of justice, which takes the view that there is ground for considering whether Archibald violated a federal law. The question of whether he actually, knew the contents of the papers he carried probably will be the deciding factor in what action the government ultimately takes toward him.

The statute on which the government is proceeding fixes a fine of not more than $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than three years for its violation. There was no indication today of any further move by the government in the case of Capt. Franz von Papen, military attache of the German embassy, for whom Archibald also carried a letter and who was mentioned in Dr. Dumba's report as being connected with the strike plans.

At the German embassy it was said no intimation has been received from the state department that Captain von Papen was personna non grata, but that the embassy of course would accede to any request the United States might make in his case. All that was asked was a safe conduct for the captain back to Germany. If the United States decided that Captain von Papen's connection with the Dumba case made his presence in this country undesirable it would only be necessary, according to diplomatic procedure, to indicate that view to Ambassador Bernstorff, his chief, and communications between Washington and Berlin would be unnecessary.

SUBSEA COMMANDER VIOLATED ORDERS

Washington, Sept. 13.—Germany's explanation of the unsuccessful attempt to destroy the Cunard liner Orduna on July 9 is that the submarine commander violated his instructions which were not to attack any liner, but that because of the weather he was unable to make out the character or nationality of the Orduna.

The Orduna, bound from Liverpool to New York with some 200 passengers of whom 22 were Americans, was attacked by a torpedo, which barely missed her, and then was shelled by the submarine until she was out of range.

To substantiate the statement that the German commander was inclined to follow his orders, it is stated that he soon after allowed the steamer Normandie, carrying a cargo of lumber, to pass unmolested.

The German explanation which comes in the form of a note, was laid before President Wilson today by Secretary Lansing and may figure in discussion of the submarine issue with Count von Bernstorff the German ambassador.

A special conclave of Fort Wayne commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, will be held next Tuesday evening for the exemplification of the order of the Temple and Knights of Malta.

NUMBER OF FARMERS MEETINGS INCREASES

Work Conducted Throughout Country Under Many Forms.

Washington, Sept. 13.—It is announced by officials of the department of agriculture that both the number of farmers' institutes held each year and the attendance at these meetings are steadily increasing. In the fiscal year which ended June 30. 1914, 25,238 of these institutes were held in various parts of the United States and the total attendance upon them was 3,656,381, an increase of 26 per cent over the attendance in any previous year. At the same time, it is pointed out, the cost of conducting the institutes was nearly $63,000 less than last year, the total cost being $447,897.51.

The farmers' institute organization, say department officials, conducts its work under many different forms, so that it is well nigh impossible to summarize its activities briefly. For example, in addition to the ordinary meetings there were movable schools in thirteen states, which had an attendance of 112,498 different people. Field demohstration meetings were also held in fifteen states, although no record of the attendance was kept. Special railroad trains were organized in seventeen other states to aid in giving lectures and demonstrations.

Fort Wayne Fair Throws Open Its Gates Tuesday

With a string of seventy light harness speeders entered into the three days' racing meet, with the heaviest exhibition list of heavy draft horse stock ever secured for a Fort Wayne fair and with a mammoth poultry show, a splendid art exhibition and a mile or more of "pike" attractions, as well as a myriad of concessions ranging from dining tents to hamburger wagons, Fort Wayne's great fair, scheduled to open a five day engagement at the Centlivre park grounds Tuesday, bids fair to be the mecca for amusement seekers from all over the northern portion of the state.

Steady streams of wagon trains have been pouring through the gates for two days, bearing their loads of effects for the big annual celebration, and assisted by a young army of special workmen the stage at the new fair grounds is all set for the opening day. The race card for the first day consists of two match races for Fort Wayne owned horses. The succeeding three days will be given over to the professional horses and on Saturday motorcycle day will be observed.

This year one of the greatest special attractions in the fair world has been secured in Madame Marantette's string of high schooled horses and her celebrated racing ostrich, Gaucho. This string of horses includes the world's champion high jumping horse, St. Patrick, who will be leaped against his own record by Madame Maranette. Two high schooled beauties will demonstrate their skill in favorite equine tricks and Gaucho will step a mile hitched with a running horse to a pole, and driven by Madame Marantette.

ROBBER SLAIN IN QUARREL OVER LOOT

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 13.—As a sequel to the daylight robbery of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank, Saturday, one of the gang that held up Ralph M. Tritz, the assistant cashier, was killed early today during a pistol duel after a quarrel over the division of spoils.

The police have been unable to identify the dead man. He was identified by the bank cashier, however, as one of the three highwaymen who took $375 from the bank after holding up Tritz and locking him in the vault.

J. M. Murphy, at whose home the murder occurred, declared that he was just entering the house when he heard shots, saw one man fall and two other men leave the place.

Van Wert, O., Sept. 13.—Pleading guilty today to a charge of carrying concealed weapons, Ray E. Holmes, 23 years old, formerly of Columbia City, was held to the grand jury under a bond of $600. He has gone to jail.

Holmes was taken from a Pennsylvania train here Saturday evening, and upon his person was found a 38-calibre revolver and a big assortment of cartridges. NO OFFER OF MEDIATION NOW.

Rome Newspaper Discusses Visit of Cardinal to President.

Rome, Sept. 13.—In discussing the recent visit of Cardinal Gibbons to President Wilson the newspaper Roma, which often is considered to be inspired by the vatican, says there is no idea at present of offering mediation to the belligerents, but that the pope's object is to influence public opinion in favor of peace, that mediation may have every chance of success when the circumstances seem favorable. The pontiff is said to realize that if he were to propose intervention now there is no possibility that his good offices would be accepted by the belligerents.

VILLA FORCES MAKE VERY POOR SHOWING

Washington, Sept. 13.—State department advices from Torreon, described as coming from an unofficial, but reliable source, say Villa troops in all the recent encounters with Carranza forces in northern Mexico had made a poor showing.

In many cases it was declared the Villa soldiers cast away their arms and abandoned towns apparently without any real defense. Trains reaching Torreon with Villa troops were filled with ties from the railroad tracks. Four loaded with provisions were abandoned. From some towns it is reported the troops fled so precipitately as to take no precautions against pursuit.

ON TRAIL OF SMELTER TRUST.

Prices on Zinc Ore Given in Missouri Investigation.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 13.—Mine operators of southwest Missouri testifying here today at an investigation to determine whether a smelter trust exists in Missouri gave information regarding prices paid in this district for zinc ore.

The hearing, which began today before Frank W. McAllister, special commissioner appointed by the state supreme court, is being conducted by W. T. Rutherford, assistant attorney general of the state. Allegations that a commission of smelter concerns fixed prices caused the attorney general to order a full investigation.

Mark 15:1-15.

1 And straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

2 And Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of Jews? And he answering said unto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the chief priests accused him of many things: but he answered nothing.

4 And Pilate asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.

5 But Jesus answereed nothing; so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now at that feast he released unto them one prisoner, whomsoever they desired.

7 And there was one named Barabbas, which lay bound with them that had made insurrection with him, who had committed murder in the insurrection.

8 And the multitude crying aloud began to desire him to do as he had ever done unto them.

9 But Pilate answered them, saying, Will ye that I release unto you the King of the Jews?

10 For he knew that the chief priests had delivered him for envy.

11 But the chief priests moved the people, that he should rather release Barabbas unto them.

12 And Pilate answered and said unto them, What will ye then that I shall do unto him whom ye call the King of the Jews?

13 And they cried out again, Crucify him.

14 Then Pilate said unto them, Why, what evil hath he done? And they cried out the more exceedingly, Crucify him.

15 And so Pilate, willing to content the people, released Barabbas unto them, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified.

What About Mr. Archibald?

Correspondent Archibald, the American writer who carried the letter which has gotten Ambassador Duma into trouble and brought a crisis in the diplomatic relations between the United States and Austria-Hungary, has taken occasion to cable from England a defense of himself. He asserts that he had no intent of wrong-doing that his was merely the role of innocent messenger boy; that he accepted the mission of carrying the letter merely through friendship for the ambassador and without suspicion that its contents were questionable.

It is true that had Archibald refused to be the bearer of the letter the ambassador might have found other means of starting it on its way to Vienna, but that any American citizen should undertake in time of war to be the bearer of any secret messages whatever from the representative of any belligerent to his government can be appraised at little less than treason—in any event, absolutely dangerous. Mr. Archibald's offense is so serious that it will be extremely unfortunate if the lack of adequate law governing such cases permits him to go unscotched after being the active agent in involving his country in a new international muddle. As a matter of fact the acts, one kind and another, of fool Americans have contributed in no small degree to the complications which have beset this country from the outset of the war. One phase of national preparedness for which there is striking need is the sort that will protect us from internal recklessness as well as outside dangers.

The public is now informed that the "formal" announcement of the candidacy of James E. Watson for the republican senatorial nomination next year will be made at Rushville, Mr. Watson's home town, in a few days. Mr. Watson has been distinctly told by a portion of his party that it doesn't want him as a candidate, while another element is just as insistent in its belief that he is the precise Moses needed at this juncture to lead the G. O. P. hosts out of the political wilderness. Precisely as it produces horse races and dog fights, it is the difference of opinion that is going to invest Mr. Watson's candidacy with most of its spectacular interest. There is no fact more apparent than that the Rushville man is at least going to make a heap of trouble for the other aspirants if he doesn't succeed in landing the nomination for himself.

The Swinney park railroad bridge has claimed two more victims—one killed and the other frightfully injured—and, as usual, they were trespassers who were wholly without their rights in attempting to negotiate a crossing at this point. No year passes without fatalities at this point, and yet the tragic record seems wholly ineffective as a warning. There are always others willing to take the chance. Some of them escape, but the proportion which does not is an appalling one.

The annual Fort Wayne fair will open its gates on Tuesday morning, and the management has given assurance that the exhibition this year will be in every way worthy—large, cleanly, acceptable and interesting. Upon the interest manifested by the public in patronage, of course, depends the future of the organization. A good fair is a highly desirable fall factor for Fort Wayne, and efforts to that end merit liberal public encouragement.

A girl at Brazil has just filed suit for damages in the sum of $20,000, alleging that a Lafayette young man has broken his promise to wed her. Still, it is doubtful if the young man himself will admit that his former sweetheart has lost a matrimonial prize worth anything like so fancy a price as that.

Austro-Hungarian societies in the United States are now going on record with resolutions condemning the course of Ambassador Dumba which resulted in a demand by the United States for his recall to Vienna, and this would appear to make the thing pretty nearly unanimous.

Heat prostrations in mid-September constitute pretty conclusive evidence that somebody must have jumbled up the weather man's calendar when he didn't happen to be looking.

OUR GREAT WATER HIGHWAY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The August report of shipping on the Great Lakes shows that 10,540,781 tons of freight passed through the St. Mary's canal at the Soo. That is more than half as much traffic as passes through the Suez canal in a year. The total to go through the ditch connecting the Mediterranean and Red Seas in 1913, the last year in which conditions were normal was 20,033,884 tons. The Kiel canal between the North Sea and the Baltic handled less freight in a year than passes Sault Ste. Marie each month during the busy season.

The locks at our great interlake canal handle more tonnage each year than all the famous ocean waterway links put together. The government report shows that 3,219 boats passed between lakes Huron and Superior last month and they carried, in addition to freight, 9,357 passengers. The eastbound freight last month, which was largely iron ore, totaled 8,249,257 tons and that west bound was 2,291,524. The total traffic through the canal in 1913 was 79,718,344 tons, and the record for this year will exceed 80,000,000, it is expected.

The significance of the "Soo" canal as a traffic highway may be grasped when it is explained that 210,815 freight cars of fifty-ton capacity passed through the canal last month. Allowing fifty feet to a car they would have made a solid train reaching from Indianapolis to New York and back again with a leftover string of cars long enough to reach St. Louis. A total of 16,000 trains of 100 cars each would be needed to transport the freight that passes through the canal this season.

FOREIGNER HIT BY TRAIN AND KILLED

In attempting to cross the Pennsylvania bridge over St. Mary's river at Swinney park Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock, Powet Jankowski, 29 years old, a Pole employed as a laborer in the Pennsylvania company's east car shops, was instantly killed, and Stanley Hoinski, 27 years old, a fellow countryman, with whom he boarded at 2111 Weisser park avenue, suffered a fracture of his left leg, when struck by eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 22.

The two foreigners were on their way to the rolling mill district to spend the afternoon and were walking with their heads down, talking together very earnestly. Suddenly the passenger train loomed before them just as they had reached the west end of the bridge. Hoinski was the first to see the train and shouting a warning to his companion jumped onto the railing at the side of the bridge. Jankowski was not quick enough and the pilot of the engine struck him, throwing him with terrific force to the side fo the bridge, his body falling into the river below.

Hoinski hung on to the side of the bridge until the train was stopped and the crew had returned to the scene of the accident, when he was rescued.

Jankowski's body was taken from the river by Walter Bechtol, 1412 Washington boulevard west, who was in the park a short distance away when the accident occurred. Martin O'Brien, 247 Masterson avenue, and Ezra Norris, 1219 Winter street, engineer and fireman on the train, declare they did not see the two men until the locomotive was almost upon them and then it was too late to stop. James Breen, 231 West DeWald street, was conductor on the train. Hoinski was placed aboard the train and taken to the depot, where an ambulance was called to take him to the hospital. His injuries are not regarded as serious.

Jankowski leaves a wife and one child in Poland. Funeral services Tuesday from the Getz & Cahill morgue.

WHO WILL WEAR MARLOWE'S MANTLE?—WILL IT BE ONE OF THESE TWO FAMOUS STARS?

By Honor Fanning.

Julia Marlowe has made her final exit from the stage she so long adorned, and the public is already electing her successor—theater-going folks are asking who will succeed the loveliest of the Juliets, the most winsome of Rosalinds, who will play Portia now that Marlowe acts no more?

Though several dramatic stars have been named as possible successors to Marlowe two, that stand pre-eminently above the others are Margaret Illington and Mary Mannering.

Neither of these stars have devoted their dramatic gifts to Shakespearan plays, though Rosalind and Portia have been the long cherished ambition of Margaret Illington and should she become Sothern's leading woman, which will be formal acknowledgement of her succession to Marlowe, she'll doubtless, essay Shakespearan roles.

Miss Mannering's talent has been identified with the modern romantic plays, rather than the classic drama and should she shine beside Sothern, their repertoire would probably be restricted to the romantic and picturesque drama.

Margaret Illington, now playing in Henry Arthur Jones' "The Lie," is the younger of the two actresses said to be poising their shoulders for Marlowe's mantle. She is 34, and though hers is no longer the sylphlike form of a Juliet she has the vivacity and the spirit of youth and the emotional intensity that would fit her well for many of the Shakespearan heroines.

Miss Mannering has reached the unromantic age of 39—11 years younger than Marlowe, but she'd bring stateliness and beauty and a fine dramatic intelligence to the position just vacated by the loveliest of Juliets, though the "maid of Verona" is a role that could never be included in her repertoire.

An English woman by birth, Miss Mannering, or Florence Friend, to give her her real name, came ao America when still in her girlhood, played at the Lyceum theater, New York, and later appeared in "Trelawney of the Wells," "Janice Meredith," "To Have and to Hold," "Mistress Betty" and other romantis plays. She starred with James K. Hackett in "The Walls of Jericho" and later starred alone in "A Man's World."

William Winter, the noted critic, has said of Mary Mannering: "She has a figure, an expressive countenance, a demure look and a fond, caressing manner and the semblance of earnest feeling." After divorcing James K. Hackett five years ago, she married the Michigan millionaire, F. W. Wadsworth.

Margaret Illington, who left the stage for four years because it was "cruelly hard on women," has said of herself: "The stage is no place for a woman of my temperament. I am too intense in all my emotions. If I had the power of reserve all would be well, but that I have never had, I feel everything I act." Surely a good recommendation, even if unintentionally given, for an actress with Shakespearan ambition.

But Miss Illington changed her mind about the stage and came back two years ago to play "Kindling" and to prepare, so her friends say, for an adventure in Shakespeare. In Bernstein's "The Thief" and as John Drew's leading woman in "His House in Order," the actress won her present eminence in the theater.

The Lyceum theater in New York was Margaret Illington's dramatic training school! She married Daniel Frohman and became a Frohman "leading woman" and was associated with many distinguished actors, among them Kyrle Bellew, with whom she played in "The Thief." She's now the wife of E. J. Bowes, a Tacoma business man.

Wed After Forty Years of Wooing

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Hill.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 13.—Time is an unknown quantity and the years have ceased to be milestones for Miss Eliza G. Starr and E. S. Hill, D. D., who have just commenced the last lap of their lives, TOGETHER!

What does it matter to them if the bride is 54 and the groom past 77? With the confidence of a tried friendship, which has lasted forty years, these two, whom a kind fate has united in the sunset of their lives, have set out to seek happiness in the great adventure, together. The five ushers at the wedding were five of the grandchildren of the groom. Dr. Hill came up from San Diego for the ceremony and Miss Starr traveled all the way from New York state, her home for a number of years. "Love is never old and hearts are always young," she says.

ROBISON PARK IS OFFICIALLY CLOSED

Robison park was officially closed Sunday with one of the largest crowds present during the day since the opening of the park last spring. A special musical program was rendered by Roembke's orchestra and at 6 o'clock a balloon ascension was made by William Crowl. Manager C. H. Williams expects to remain at the park about a month longer before leaving for his home in the east, during which time he will make a number of improvements preparatory to the opening of the park next season. While the park has made no money for Mr. Williams on account of weather conditions, he says he has been fully repaid for his efforts by the many letters he has received from hundreds of children, aged women and old soldiers whom he has entertained during the summer.

There were crowds at all the parks Sunday on account of the warm weather. The country roads were lined throughout the entire day with automobiles.

About five hundred attended the Buffaloes' picnic in Kluge's grove and the sheriffs' picnic in the Fitzgerald grove was also largely attended.

The annual family outing of the German Beneficial Union was held at Winkler's grove east of the city Sunday afternoon.

Several members of the Ben Hur tribes in Fort Wayne will attend the fifteenth annual session of the western central Ohio district congress of the order at Lima, Ohio, next Wednesday.

Wed After Forty Years of Wooing

Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Hill.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 13.—Time is in unknown quantity and the years have ceased to be milestones for Miss Eliza G. Starr and E. S. Hill, D. D., who have just commenced the last lap of their lives, TOGETHER!

What does it matter to them if the bride is 54 and the groom past 77? With the confidence of a tried friendship, which has lasted forty years, these two, whom a kind fate has united in the sunset of their lives, have set out to seek happiness in the great adventure, together. The five ushers at the wedding were five of the grandchildren of the groom. Dr. Hill came up from San Diego for the ceremony and Miss Starr traveled all the way from New York state, her home for a number of years. "Love is never old and hearts are always young," she says.

ROBISON PARK IS OFFICIALLY CLOSED

Robison park was officially closed Sunday with one of the largest crowds present during the day since the opening of the park last spring. A special musical program was rendered by Boembke's orchestra and at 6 o'clock a balloon ascension was made by William Crowl. Manager C. H. Williams expects to remain at the park about a month longer before leaving for his home in the east, during which time he will make a number of improvements preparatory to the opening of the park next season. While the park has made no money for Mr. Williams on account of weather conditions, he says he has been fully repaid for his efforts by the many letters he has received from hundreds of children, aged women and old soldiers whom he has entertained during the summer.

There were crowds at all the parks Sunday on account of the warm weather. The country roads were lined throughout the entire day with automobiles.

About five hundred attended the Buffaloes' picnic in Kluge's grove and the sheriffs' picnic in the Fitzgerald grove was also largely attended.

The annual family outing of the German Beneficial Union was held at Winkler's grove east of the city Sunday afternoon.

Several members of the Ben Hur tribes in Fort Wayne will attend the fifteenth annual session of the western central Ohio district congress of the order at Lima, Ohio, next Wednesday.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

OPERA, MINSTRELS, GIRLS.

John W. Vogel's New Combination at the Majestic Two Days.

It remained for John W. Vogel to do what, it seems to us, should have been done many years ago. Thirty years of Mr. Vogel's life have been devoted to minstrelsy and few managers in that line accomplished so much. But now Mr. Vogel is offering us what he is pleased to term an operatic, minstrel farce comedy; a musical show with enough minstrelsy to please those who prefer that form of entertainment. In fact "Japland," for that is the title of the vehicle used by Mr. Vogel for the alliance of the several forms of amusement, contains more than a modern minstrel first part as well as a complete act of grand and comic opera, farce comedy and extravaganza. "Japland" will be seen a tthe Majestic Wednesday and Thursday, with matinee daily.

AT KEITH PALACE

SECOND STRONG BILL.

Frank Fogarty, Famous Humorist, Tops Strong Keith Program.

With the inimitable Frank Fogarty, the Dublin minstrel, topping the bill, the New Palace today presents its second Keith bill of the current season. In Mr. Fogarty Fort Wayne is to make the acquaintance, through the medium of the vaudeville stage, of a wit of international fame, a monologist whose sparkling stories of Celtic folk lore and whose character paintings have been the goal toward which ambitious humorists have striven for years. Mr. Fogarty, brilliant as he is, does not scintillate alone in the New Palace firmament this week, as included on the bill with him are Miss Agnes Scott and Harry Keane, in the delightful little sketch, "The Final Decree." The noted composer, Ernest R. Ball, whose contributions to songland include "Mother McCree," "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," "In the Garden of My Heart," "Love Me and the World is Mine," "A Little Bit of Heaven Called Ireland" and other equally popular compositions, will present a singing pianologue in which he will employ only his own song hits. A Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic feature, Melissa Ten Eyck and Max Weily, in a series of graceful dances and striking poses, entitled "The Gambols of the Gods," is one of the promising attractions on this strong bill. Harry Adler and Miss Anna Arline will provide a distinct novelty in the skit called "A New Idea." Margaret and William Cuttv, of the famous Cutty family and the Four Janleys, world famous exponents of risley equilibristics, complete this splendid program.

AT THT EMPRESS

Trio of Live Comedians.

The trio of comedians, Meyer Harris, George Hart and Fred DuBois, with the French burlesque production, "The Queens of the Follies Bergere," keep the Empress houses in an uproar all the time with their quick-fire of new jokes. In wit and humor nothing has ever excelled these kings of the burlesque stage.

The catchy airs that predominate through the songs sung by the leading lady, Josephine Barlow, assisted by the well organized beauty chorus, is one of the features which stands out prominently in this great musical comedy. The costumes and fancy designed dresses that are worn by the ladies of the company, with a background of pretty scenery, would be a good subject for an artist's brush.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI."

Screaming Comedy to Be Presented by the Temple Players.

A cream comedy hit, one that brings laughs in a deluge from curtain to curtain is "The Girl in the Taxi," the vehicle in which the Temple players will me enjoyed all week, opening this evening. This widely-heralded show has been the talk of Paris, London and New York for several seasons and but recently has been released to stock. It is essentially a farce comedy relying on the amusing lines and funny situations for the laughs.

The mix-ups start at the flat of John Stewart, on Riverside drive, New York. Mr. Stewart's family is a wife and one son; the wife very much on the hen-with-one-chick order; the son just arriving in tennis flannels and $5.00 a month spending money—and objecting strenuously to the penury thus forced upon him. Indeed he has been making absent treatment love to a contortionist lady in the flat upstairs and pawning his father's clothes to buy flowers for her. Then Percy and Mary Peters appear upon the scene. Percy is looking for "The Girl in the Taxi," who proves to be Mrs. Smith, the wife of a perfume manufacturer, who comes to pay a visit to the Stewarts on the eventful evening which starts the play on its rapid-fire, speed-defying journey of joys and jealousies.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

LITTLE MARY PICKFORD.

Enthralls With Beautiful Character Drawing in "Esmeralda."

Mary Pickford, winsomest of all screen immortals, reaches the very pinnacle of her dramatic powers in "Esmeralda," the Famous Players company's beautiful picturization of Frances Hodgson Burnett's touching story. The story fairly overflows with that kindly, homely sentiment which the author invariably weaves into her fascinating stories, while the character of "Esmeralda" seemingly was written to conform to the inimitable personality of "Little Mary."

Tomorrow and Wednesday the brilliant Charlotte Walker, who scored pronouncedly in "Kindling," will appear in a new Lasky-Paramount production, "Out of Darkness, written by Hector Turnbull, former dramatic critic of the New York Tribune.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

GEORGE NASH AND "BROKEN COIN"

Due to the fact that several thousand local serial-play enthusiasts are following "The Broken Coin" with an unusual display of interest, the Orpheum theater has decided after numerous requests to continue this wonderful Universal serial-drama, and the thirteenth installment will be shown today. George Nash, the eminent Broadway star, makes his maiden appearance in films in the headlining attraction of the day, a filminization of the noted stage success, "The Cotton King."

John Osborne, the cotton king, refuses to go into a cotton crner, and buys a big mill in ahe Suth, which is blown up. He is in love with one girl, and is accused of running with another. The bottom falls out of the cotton market, and he is ruined. His rival, the villian of the piece, attempts to kill Osborne's fiancee, but is defeated. The girl escapes, the villian is unmasked, and the lovers are made happy. Sensational scenes on the cotton market and illustrative of life in the South are shown in the picture.

The chief detective of a New York hotel, worked hard and earnestly on a stolen watch "case," and finally recovered the missing article. As a reward, the owner of the watch, a woman, named her dog after the nice man.

ROGERS
WEIGHT SPECIALIST
SPFLD ILL. Ft. WAYNE OFFICE ANTHONY HOTEL BLDG. LIMA OHIO

BY THE NIP IN AT THE WAIST YOU MAY KNOW IT'S BRAND NEW.

By Betty Brown.

The gently nipped-in waistline is one of the things you can't help but notice if you cast an observant eye on the new fall frocks, for almost all of them are more or less in-drawn at the waist. Just to show you how graceful and pretty this fitted waist may be, I sketched this model the other day in the studio of Mme. Reichert of the Fashion Art League of America. Velvet in a golden brown tint was used to develop the gown, which proves its up-to-dateness, not only by the fitted waistline, but by the flaring skirt of the rather long coat. Tabs embroidered in green and brown make a pretty garniture at the belt line; the full skirt is cut with a flare, and it's a bit shorter than even the shoe-top length skirt.

FASHION

A Rehearsal Of the Newest Ideas.

BY MRS. KINGSLEY.

AN evening gown of thin black is a satisfactory possession at all times, whether intended primarily for winter or for summer wear. It is always ready to put on, never soiled, looks cool enough in summer and warm enough in winter, and one never tires of it. It has another advantage, that of looking simple enough for an informal occasion and dressy enough for an elaborate one. Very many such gowns were sent from Paris this year, as we should naturally expect. Even those French women who are not actually wearing mourning are dressing sympathetically in sombre colors. For these last cut jet was revived to give a discreet brightness, and frocks of thin black materials banded with jet in graduated widths rivaled the ruffles of the mode. The crowns of transparent hats have been incrusted with it, and their brims edged with jet beads. A charming new scarf has appeared of a length of black chiffon edged with narrow braids of jet, with broad bands at each end, giving it weight and causing it to take most becoming lines when draped around the shoulders.

Striped blouses and corsages are one of the novelties of the fashion season. Suppose the morning tailored suit is to be worn. Then you will don a sheer striped blouse with plain lawn collar and cuffs. In the corner of the collar and cuffs will be seen a little clover leaf flower or geometrical figure done in the color of the stripe in the blouse. This stripe, it is well understood, is of the color of the tailored suit, blue, buff or black.

A vest front, a skeleton one that passes in two long strips only in front and ends in vest points just below the waist, is brought around toward the back by a narrow two-inch extension stripe and hidden under the blouse's lace sides. A striped belt shows between the opened vest front and passes around to the back and ties in two big loops. Six-inch cuffs of the striped material bind the wrists and a frill of net falls over the hand. A rolled-over collar of the silk is faced with the lace and descends in a V. Below this comes the vest flap, an oblong extension of about eight inches, fastened with round black glass buttons that nearly touch.

BUYING A HOME

BY MRS. McCUNE.

WE'VE been thinking of getting a home—our ideal home, for years," began Mrs. Little, "but there were always so many expenses we thought we just couldn't do it. John and I were always talking about it and always putting it off from year to year.

"I guess we've lived in every kind of a house and flat in the city—including housekeeping rooms when we first came here. Maybe I didn't get sick of moving. It seemed we never had a real home, and we used to say our children could never look back to their childhood with happy memories of the old home—because there wasn't any home. It was just one succession of moving days.

"Now our oldest daughter is married nicely and the other two children have positions so that they are no longer an expense to us. So father said, about a couple of months ago: 'Mother,' he said, 'don't you think we might start in and buy that home now. We're getting along in years and it's time. And I'd like,' he said, 'to be carried out of my own doorway for the last long journey.'

"That made me cry, because I don't like to think of my John leaving me. But I agreed that it was high time we were starting if we ever intended to buy. So we began to look around.

"Say, how do you suppose all the real estate agents get wind of it when you're thinking of buying? I never saw anything like it. It seems we'd no more than made up our minds when they all knew it! Anyway, John and I had more automobile rides to look at places!

"But we kept getting more and more particular. You see, we learned so much from all those real estate agents that took us around. And then, of course, we were looking for a place minus all the faults of all the flats and houses we've rented.

"We'd almost decided we couldn't find what we wanted and would have to build, when a woman agent called us up one evening and said she guessed she had what we wished. We'd heard that before, but still we didn't want to pass up a possibility. And it happened that she did have what seemed to be almost perfect. It's a perfect dream of a little place and has home all over it. And there are climbing roses on the back porch. John and I said in chorus: 'We'll take it.'

"Yesterday all the papers were signed up and we got the key to the house. Maybe you think it's silly, but I put that key under my pillow when I went to bed last night.

"I lay awake all night just thinking about that dream of a home and planning the pictures and the furniture and all. John slept and snored same as always—he'd sleep through a fire. 'How can that man sleep,' I thought, 'when I'm so happy?'

"Just think—a real home for ourselves. And if our own children have no childhood memories of a homestead, our grandchildren will have, anyway."

"It's simply fine," beamed Mrs. Smith. "But it seems to me I'd get tired living in one place all the time. I always say to my husband, it's necessary to move every once so often just to get rid of a lot of truck that gathers when you stay too long in one place."

THE LITTLE MOTHER'S CHEERY WINDOW PLACE.

GOOD MANNERS

HOSPITALITY demands the courtesy of a gracious note of thanks. To call up your hostess on the 'phone and tell her what a delightful visit you had at her house is not sufficient.

Send the note at once, don't put off writing it until several days have elapsed since your visit.

The girl who makes a point of acknowledging a favor done her by a gracious little note, sent at once, wins more friends than she who spends much time in telephoning or in being effusive in her thanks when she happens to meet her hostess perhaps several weeks after the favor has been granted or the hospitality offered her.

Good manners always pay in the long run. They may seem to be unnecessary and irksome at the time, but the girl who is always courteous and who is careful to carry out all the little forms and obligations of the social life will find that after all it does pay.

ODDS & ENDS

THE proper care of the hair does not require a woman to scour her scalp with soap and drench her hair with water until a shampoo, including drying the hair, takes the better part of the day. In fact, authorities say that the less soap and water used on the hair the better, as the alkali and moisture tend to make the hair coarse, dull and brittle. If you want to keep the scalp clean and the hair light and fluffy, try dry shampooing.

A HOSTESS who is ever on the lookout for novelties for her afternoon tea table should be sure to serve her crackers in little baskets made of themselves. Use salted wafers for the basket, allowing one to a side, and tying them together with a narrow satin ribbon about a quarter of an inch in width. Put this on a handsome plate covered with a lace doily and pile the other crackers in and around it. The effect is charming and will be much admired. One hostess used these cracker baskets as corner pieces on her luncheon table. In the center were purple asters, while the crackers were tied with purple ribbon the same shade and were filled with purple and white grapes.

A KITCHEN sink should be kept spotlessly clean. The best way to clean a galvanized iron sink is to rub strong soap powder into every corner and over every inch of surface. Let it rest for ten or fifteen minutes, then with a scrubbing brush and boiling water go over the whole, rubbing vigorously. When thoroughly scrubbed polish with a soft flannel cloth wet with kerosene. This prevents the sink from rusting after the strong powder has been used. For a porcelain-lined sink use kerosene first, last and every time.

ODDS and ends of a bright gingham can be made into a pretty chair cushion. Cut the pieces in octagon shapes and join with white dress beading. One cushion made in this manner was tufted. The pattern was cut double, the two pieces filled with cotton, lightly pasted together, then joined with the beading, which was stitched on the machine. Colored material can be used in the same manner and joined with some bright dress braid. Striped material in red and white can be made into tiny star shapes, with an irregular stripe and finished in the same manner. Pincushions are made of silk, joined with lace insertion through which narrow ribbon is run.

BREAD that is not very stale can be used to advantage in bread tarts. Cut the bread a quarter of an inch thick, and stamp it into circles with a biscuit cutter. Moisten these circles with milk, but do not use enough milk to make them lose their shape. Then spread over them some sort of jam or preserve, and place two circles together like a sandwich. Put them in a frying pan with a little butter, and saute them on both sides to a delicate color. Sprinkle with powdered sugar, and serve very hot. A fruit charlotte is another excellent dessert in which to utilize stale bread. Cut the bread into slices about a quarter of an inch thick, then into strips two inches wide. Butter a mold, clip the slices of bread with melted butter and arrange them around the bottom and sides of the mold, slightly overlapping. Fill the center with apple sauce, seasoned with butter and sugar, and put a teaspoon of apricot jam in the center of this. Cover the top of the mold with strips of the bread and bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes. The bread should be amber in color when done. Serve with a hard sauce. Any stewed fruit may be used in making this dessert.

THE new way to make puff paste is to take half a cup of any shortening, butter, lard, drippings or any of those sold in cans, and put into a mixing bowl with a cup and one-half of flour and give just a few chops or until the lumps of fat are about an inch square. In making an apple pie add to the dry flour one-quarter teaspoonful each of nutmeg and ground cinnamon, the same amount of salt and half teaspoonful of baking powder. This is an improvement over putting the flavoring in with the apples, as in the old way. The whole is mixed to a stiff paste with cold water, then turned on to a floured board still lumpy and rolled out. This mashes the lumps into irregular layers of flakes. After rolling once the sides of the pastry are folded over toward the middle, making three folds and rolled out again. The top and bottom are brought together and there is a third rolling. The pastry is now ready for use, but it will be improved by being put in the ice box for an hour or so.

A WOMAN who sleeps in a house full of rattling windows was delighted to receive the other day a dozen bent springs of steel for insertion between the sashes and casings of rattling windows. They are flat at one end and swell toward the other, thus fitting themselves to any casing. Another novelty is the radiator brush. These are long or short and as flat and thin as can be, the bristles being wired in. They are the only things that will clean a radiator, going between the various pipes and getting out every bit of dust. In lamb's wool there are long-handled brushes of the wool for wiping off wall paper, and these take off every bit of dust. They are also useful for dusting highly polished or oiled floors. They may be washed with lukewarm water and white soap when sufficiently soiled. Short-handled sticks, with round swabs of the wool, come in many sizes for dusting picture frames and furniture, and single gloves, with the palms and fingers lined with lamb's wool, are also good for dusting. All are washable and come out when rinsed and shaken as white as when first bought.

HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT

BY EDNA EGAN.

TO develop her figure, the thin woman should eat wisely, breathe deeply, exercise sanely, sleep long—and stop worrying.

A mere increase in the quantity of her diet is not enough. She is already using up too much nervous force, and her digestive machinery will call for more if she gives it too much work to do. Unless the machinery is badly out of order she should eat three good meals every day, but any nourishment taken between meals should be malted milk, plain milk with lime water in it, or some other nutriment that will not set up a rebellion in the stomach.

The thin woman especially needs fats, sweets and starches in her diet. She can obtain these substances in such foods as eggs, milk, chocolate, honey, potatoes, rice, olive oil, beans and meat with the fat left on it. Egg-and-milk combinations are particularly beneficial, either cooked or uncooked. The thin woman will do well to eat as much cream as she can digest—and afford—either directly, or in the form of sauces for meat and puddings.

The thin woman should avoid tea, coffee and alcohol, all of which are stimulants and increase her natural nervousness that is burning up her flesh faster than it can be replaced. She should also eschew vinegar, lemon juice, pickles, sharp fruit juices, sour sauces, hot peppery dishes. She may eat and drink practically everything else, so far as her digestion permits. Unlike her stout sister, she need not even fear the candy box.

Eight or nine hours a night is none too long a sleep for the thin woman. Also, she will do well to adopt this summer the hot weather custom of the siesta that obtains in many countries. If she is in circumstances that permit it, a nap after lunch will do her a world of good.

The hours she spends in bed will not be particularly helpful, however, unless she resolves to banish all her useless worries—which means all of them, for no worry was ever useful, ever did a particle of good. The thin woman must cheer up.

The deep breathing exercise is so important for the thin woman that I am going to repeat once more the directions for it.

Stand relaxed and let the arms hang. Hold the head and chest erect. Inhale deeply through the nose. Continue breathing until you feel the breath has been forced up into the lungs. If you have followed these instructions the abdomen will now lie flat, while your chest will be thrown up and out. The breath should be held for ten counts, then slowly allowed to escape through the nose. Breathe in this way for ten minutes, morning and night, in the open air, and in a few weeks you will be surprised at your appearance and development.

The exercise taken by the woman who would gain weight should be gentle and persistent. Ten or fifteen minutes every day should be devoted to the various movements for developing chest, shoulders, arms and neck which I have shown. The exercises should be performed in a calm, steady fashion, so that when you are through with them you are refreshed rather than exhausted. They should be followed by a cold shower, or, at the least, a cold sponge.

Walking and swimming are the best outdoor exercises for the thin woman. Both will give her a splendid appetite. Swimming, especially, is positively the best and quickest way to develop the bust and shoulders.

BOUDOIR CAPS

A NATURAL accompaniment of the negligee, be it of the pajama order or of a more feminine style, is the boudoir cap. Women adore these dainty contrivances of lace and ribbon and rightly so, for the boudoir cap covers a multitude of sins in the way of a mussed coiffure and makes the wearer look neat and pretty, when without it she would largely resemble a fright.

Men, on the other hand, are said to dislike these airy bits of nothingness, but it is safe to say that when appropriately worn the boudoir cap appeals to a man's sense of beauty and he has nothing but admiration to bestow upon it. What man does not like to see his wife sitting opposite him in the morning contentedly sipping her coffee, dressed in a dainty and becoming negligee, her coiffure partly covered by an attractive cap? But what man, on the other hand, cares to see those same ruffles bending over the frying pan, assimilating the odors of the kitchen, losing their freshness and daintiness by this coarse contact? When once frills have been so desecrated they lose their charm. To many men light pink is the most odious color in the rainbow because it calls up recollections of shattered illusions—that wonderful creation of crepe de chine and lace that began its career in the dear delightful honeymoon days and ended it several seasons later, gray and bedraggled, as the easiest thing to put on in the early morning when duties called the wearer reluctantly from sleep.

THE KITCHEN

Nut Chowder.

Take ½ pound of mixed nut meats which have been broken into small pieces. Put them in a saucepan and allow them to simmer for an hour and 30 minutes. Peel and dice several potatoes, a turnip, and a good sized onion. Have a pint of canned or stewed tomatoes. Line the bottom of a kettle with a layer of potatoes, add a layer of the turnip and onion with a sprinkling of thyme, sweet marjoram, chopped parsley and salt, then a layer of tomatoes, and lastly the nut meats. Let simmer 30 minutes, then add 1 pint of milk and a little thickening.

Carameled Carrots.

The humble carrot, so little thought thought of by Americans, becomes on the Hungarian table a delicious sweet to serve with meat.

Cut one or two large carrots into thin pieces about an inch long, put them in a sauce pan, sprinkle them well with sugar and add 1 tablespoonful of butter. Pour on enough water to just cover them and let them simmer until all but about 1 tablespoonful has boiled away, by which time they will be soft. Then sift a little flour over them and stir until it is all absorbed.

Thus carameled, they do not taste like the ordinary carrot at all, and they may be used with meat or as a luncheon dish.

Canned Peas.

When canned peas are to be used, open and drain them early in the morning; put in a bowl of cold water, changing the water several times. Twenty minutes before they are needed, put them in agate pan over a slow fire with salt, pepper, a little sugar and a large spoonful of butter. Don't cook, but toss about occasionally that they may be thoroughly heated.

Sour Cream Cabbage.

Shred ½ small firm head of cabbage; put in kettle with cold water to cover; add salt to season; boil until tender; drain off water; add ½ a cup of sour cream and 4 tablespoons of vinegar. Let it boil up once before serving. It will take a delicate pink and is extremely palatable.

Baked Macaroni With Tomatoes.

Put 1 cup of macaroni broken into ½ inch lengths into boiling salted water, and cook until perfectly tender; turn into a colander to drain, then pour cold water over it and let drain again. Mix together ¼ of a cup of flour, ½ teaspoon of salt, ½ teaspoon of curry powder and 1 teaspoon of paprika, and stir it into 1 rounding tablespoon of butter heated to the bubbling point. Add gradually 1½ cups strained tomato liquor and stir until smooth and thick, then add 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1 teaspoon of minced parsley, ¼ of a teaspoon of onion juice, and cook gently for about 5 minutes. Butter a baking dish, turn in half of the macaroni, cover with half of the sauce and sprinkle with ¼ of a cup of soft American cheese cut in small bits; add the rest of the macaroni, then the rest of the sauce, sprinkle with another layer of cheese, then with fine crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown.

Fried Stuffed Eggs.

Fried stuffed eggs make a delicious luncheon dish. Boil the eggs for 12 minutes and then drop them into cold water and remove the shells without breaking the whites. Cut the eggs in two through the middle, take out the yolks, and mix them with minced ham and chicken, or any savory meat on hand. Season to taste, add with salt and pepper the uncooked yolk of an egg, a few bread crumbs, and a little butter. Minced parsley and a soupspoon of onion juice add to their flavor. Then put the eggs together again, pressing the sides tight; they should not be filled so full as to prevent this, and roll the eggs first in the white of egg and then in bread crumbs, repeating the process if the surface is not well covered. Fry in a basket in deep fat and serve with tomato sauce and celery or parsley as a garnish.

Mock Terrapin.

One cup veal cut in dice shape, 1 cup cream or rich milk, one hard-boiled egg cut in small pieces, 1 tablespoon butter. Put all together in a stew pan, season with salt and pepper to taste, heat to boiling point, and thicken with 1 teaspoon of cornstarch dissolved in milk. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Green Pepper Stuffed With Corn.

Cut around stem end of pepper about three-fourth around, leaving other fourth as hinge, forming a lid. Put peppers in cold water sufficient to cover and bring to a boil. Drain, cover with freshly boiling water, and cook slowly until tender. Drain again, salt lightly, and allow to cool. Allow 2 tablespoons of butter to become hot in frying pan, add 3 cups corn, 3 tablespoons boiling water in which is dissolved 1 teaspoon beef extract. Cook 5 minutes; add ½ cup cream, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper. Cook slowly until quite thick. Cool and fill peppers. Fasten down lids of peppers and place in buttered baking dish. Melt one tablespoon of butter in ½ cup boiling water, add 1 teaspoon of beef extract. Pour over peppers and bake for 25 minutes. Delicious when served with fish.

GIBBONS EASILY BESTS M'FARLAND

Brighton Beach, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a boxing match in this country, Mike Gibbons, of St. Paul, outpointed Packey McFarland, of Chicago, in a ten-round no decision contest here Saturday night. The bout, which brought together two of the cleverest boxers in the ring today, was hard fought from start to finish, but Gibbons scored the more frequent and more effective blows. McFarland showed that his long absence from the ring had dulled his speed and power to snap punches to vulnerable points of his opponent's head and body. McFarland showed flashes of his old rapid fire left but the leads were little more than snaps and did not check Gibbons in his assaults. McFarland appeared nervous when he entered the ring and was not as fined conditioned as his opponent. The St. Paul phantom immediately took the aggressive and showed that he intended to make a fight of it instead of a sparring exhibition.

There was power behind almost every blow that he landed and he found little difficulty in beating the stockyards boxer to the punch. For the first four rounds Gibbons was always in the lead, playing alternately for the head and body. In the fifth McFarland took the aggressive and being thoroughly warmed up, fought desperately to stem the tide of defeat. Gibbons met him half way, however, and the best the Chicago boxer could get was an even break in this round. Mike increased his speed in the sixth and scored the majority of effective blows. McFarland made a strong play for Gibbons' body but the latter covered so well that few of the blows reached their objective.

CASE OF TENNIS VS. BASEBALL

(By Jack Murphy).

Tennis enthusiasts are claiming tennis as the national pastime. Baseballers look on them with deep seated pity. But there's no denying that tennis is coming. Its popularity is growing with such rapidity that it is hard to realize what a hold it has on the mass of people.

In the middle west it is estimated that one in every four persons between the ages of 15 and 25 plays tennis. And all players are enthusiasts. And now the question arises, what will become of baseball?

Well, this is what will happen—baseball will keep right on plodding. Baseball is here to stay. Tennis will never in the world depose it.

Tennis may become so popular that it is played everywhere by everyone, but even so the interest in baseball will remain. There are now and always will be men and women who have a certain limited time for amusement in the daylight hours, say one afternoon a week, and to them tennis has not the charm it holds for the constant player. They will be content to have others do the playing. Tennis never can become as spectacular to watch as baseball, as the limited space, the few players, the very character of the game prohibits the things that are intensely interesting to great multitudes.

Baseball may become less popular as an amateur game, but as a professional game, tennis cannot supplant it. People will continue to watch it as they watch a play, they will watch it for the skill and the brawn there are there. They will flock to baseball, a game that has the esential requirements of a game to be watched, rather than to tennis, a game that needs to be played to be properly enjoyed.

NO WORRY AT THE MICHIGAN CAMP

"Hustle-'em-up" Yost isn't worrying. The Michigan football boss has seven veterans as the nucleus for this year's eleven, and the sophomore class is placing at his disposal about twenty promising looking rookies.

Michigan's prospects are bright—so bright that they dazzle Michiganders into the belief that this year's eleven will do stunts that will recall the days of Heston, Weeks, Snow, Redden and others who made "point-a-minute" elevens.

Johnny Maulbetsch is ready. Johnny was known last fall as "The Michigan Team," and Johnny, because of his amazing ground gaining powers won an almost unanimous vote for the All-American eleven.

The other 1914 regulars who were not shorn from Michigan via the graduation process, are: Cochran, captain and tackle; Reimann, tackle; Dunne, Benton and Staatz, ends, and Watson, a great guard.

Most of these men were "green" last year, but before the end of November had developed into wonderful players. The seasoning will add to their ability and Yost won't look around for tackles or ends—and he'll need just one new guard.

Yost needs a center to replace Raynsford, three backfield men and a drop kicker.

From last year's second team Yost has as candidates for the line Rehor, Norton, Millard, Neiman, Skinner and Warner. For backfield candidates he has Bastian, Roehm, Zeiger, Calvin, Hildner, Johnson, McNamara and Boyle.

Howe and Probanz look best for the line. If both show well enough, Yost may make room for them, playing one at guard and the other at tackle, shifting Capt. Cochran to guard.

Some feel that with Maulbetsch back of the line Michigan has all the backfield needed. But Yost, probably for appearances sake, has decided to have the full quota.

Bastian, because of his work as a substitute, seems a certainty for one of the jobs. Zeiger and Hildner, because of kicking ability, may land the others, although Roehm will give both battle.

Smith and Schultz, who hail from Bay City, are touted as the best sophomores who yearn to become varsity halfbacks.

"I need a drop kicker—a real drop kicker," said Yost, "but I am confident that among the thirty-seven men who report Sept. 20 I'll find the kicker I want."

INDIAN TELLS OF REAL GAME FISH

(This is the first of two stories on fishing, told to C. L. Gilman, fisherman, hunter and writer, by Buckahtay Moingam, an Objibway Indian. The Indian used to depend upon the water and woods for his food. He had to know where to look for what he wanted. His traits and information have been passed down from one generation to another).

(By Buckahtay Moingam, as Told to C. L. Gilman).

A fish is like a man. When the weather is hot he wants to be cold and when it is cold he wants to be hot. So in summer he stays in deep water, or, on bright, hot days is in the shade. When the sun goes down or when it is cloudy he goes to shallow water to hunt food.

Indians know this because if the Indian does not catch fish maybe he does not eat. When he catches a fish he remembers the place and maybe he will tell somebody. By and by he will tell somebody else and after awhile all Indians know good places to fish.

It is nearly time for catching black bass. All spring Ah-shegun (black bass) watched his eggs in shallow water and fought with everybody who came past. There was no shallow water then for the little fish to hide in and the black bass had easy eating. In the summer then he is tired and fat and stays down where it is cold.

Soon as it is colder black bass will seek shallow water where he can lie in the sun. If you drop in a minnow or frog or crawfish where he can get it without any work, he might bite it.

Maske-no-zhe (the big pickerel) lives in deep water, two or three paddles deep (about ten or fifteen feet), where the little fish are bigger. He eats Oh-za (perch) and na-ma-bin (the sucker). At night or when the day is dark he will seek rushes.

When you see weeds growing in deep water and coming almost to the top, there is a place where the pickerel lives. It is a good place to fish deep with a little fish for bait. (Note—Good water to comb with a floating lure. An eight-pound northern pike coming after a pork chunk with his head out of the water and his mouth open is some sight).

Where the water is deep and cold and the bottom is rocky, is a good place to fish for Oh-gah (wall eyed pike). He like minnows. Na-ma-goes (lake trout) is another fish that swims deep.

In hot weather the trout hunts cold water. Where there is a spring at the bottom of a deep lake is a good place to fish for him. Or where a cold brook flows into the lake. Even in spring, when he is not in the coldest water, you must fish deep, about one paddle (five or six feet) for him. It is no good to fish for him unless you know where the water is cold. It is best to troll with a sinker to make the spoon go deep and a long line.

(The next story will appear tomorrow).

GOOD SCORES MADE BY THE RIFLE CLUB.

Some very creditable scores were made Saturday by the members of the Fort Wayne Rifle club at the shooting range of Company E, First provision battalion, on the Kreager farm Saturday. At 300 yards A. E. Archibold made a score 35 out of a possible 50. W. V. Beemer was second with 31 and E. A. Wagner with a score of 30, was third. Firing on the 500-yard range the high scores were as follows: Dr. E. H. Underwood, 42, first; E. A. Wagner, 40, second; W. V. Beemer, 31, third.

BASEBALL CARRIED SPPALDING FROM $5 GROCERY JOB TO MULTI-MILLIONAIRE.

A. G. Spalding, How He Looked as a Ball Player and Picture Story of His Career.

(By Brown Holmes).

A. G. Spalding, whose memory is revered in all parts of the country, following his death at Point Loma, Cal., his home, was devoted to baseball from his school days and through his connection with the game rose from grocery clerk to multi-millionaire.

Spalding was 65. He was born at Byron, Ill., then moved to Rockford, Ill., where he worked in a grocery for $5 a week, and was docked every time he took an afternoon off to play ball.

Spalding organized a kid team called the Pioneers and one of his players was Ross Barnes. Spalding and Barnes went into professional ball together at Boston, where Spalding became a great pitcher and Barnes a great second baseman.

At 17 Spalding's pitching caused him to be offered a job as bill clerk in a wholesale grocery at Chicago at $40 a week. Besides working in the grocery he was to pitch for the Forest City team. Spalding went to Chicago in the fall. Before the baseball season arrived the firm failed and Spalding returned to Rockford.

At 21 Spalding went to Boston in 1871 and pitched the team to five consecutive pennants. He was the only pitcher on the club. In 1876 he went to Chicago and was there until 1891, serving as manager, secretary and president consecutively.

In 1888 he organized a team that made the first baseball tour of the world, a trip that was not duplicated until Charley Comiskey led two teams around the globe two years ago.

Spalding was one of the organizers of the National league and was the main force in settling the war with the Players' brotherhood, which, for a time, threatened to disrupt the game.

After retiring from baseball activity Spalding organized a sporting goods concern and became wealthy.

An example of his determination to win at everything he tried was shown in 1890 when he was asked to run for the California senate, and although he had only thirty days in which to make a campaign, carried seventy-five legislative districts.

RECEIVES BAD CUT IN FOREHEAD

Charles Szink, a helper at a locomotive spring fire in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, sustained an injury at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning which rendered him unconscious for an hour and badly frightened his comrades, who feared he was fatally hurt. Mr. Szink, with a heavy sledge, was attempting to knock the band off a locomotive spring, when a piece of broken spring leaf flew up and struck him, inflicting an angular wound extending over and down the side of the right eye. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where Dr. Budd VanSweringen attended him. It was found that the wound was a flesh one, but that the force of the blow caused temporary concussion and the injured man was unconscious when taken from the shops. Mr. Szink is not dangerously injured, however, the attending surgeon says. The young man is a son of C. A. Szink, the painter at the shops, who is off duty on account of the accident. He is helper for Blacksmith F. H. Gaylord.

WILL HAVE ROLL CALL.

G. I. A. No. 513, Will Take Inventory of Membership.

Now that the summer vacation season is practically over, Nickel Plate division No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the B. L. E., will have a roll call of officers and members and otherwise prepare for the fall and winter work. It is the desire of the officers that every member be present at the meeting next Thursday to answer to her name. The division now has forty-nine members and it is proposed to inaugurate a membership campaign soon. The ladies inaugurated the 1915-1916 series of pedro parties last week and will give the second one tomorrow afternoon at the hall and follow it up with an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. John Hood, 1150 West Main street, in the evening. All friends are invited to these affairs.

J. T. CALLAHAN ON THE JOB.

James T. Callahan, notice of whose appointment to the chief clerkship in Supt. W. E. Watterson's office, on the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate, was made by the Sentinel two or three weeks ago, arrived in the city from Conneaut Sunday and this morning assumed the duties of the office. Mr. Callahan succeeds P. J. H. Meyers, who went to California two months ago. Mr. Callahan has been chief train dispatcher of the eastern division of the road with headquarters at Conneaut, for six or seven years, but Fort Wayne was his home for many years and he is glad to be returned here. He is known to all the employes of the railways of Fort Wayne and no introduction is necessary.

BOOMING JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENT.

His good work as district prseident during the past eighteen months and as business agent for Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, has resulted in a boom in various places for Clayton H. Johnson for the presidency of the Indiana State Federation of Labor. The Fort Wayne unions are unanimously for him, it is said, and last week the South Bend News contained an editorial predicting his election to that office. The strongest opposition was removed when Charles Fox, of Terre Haute, was named for a position connected with the Indiana Workmen's Compensation law, the exceptance of which disqualifies him for office in the State Federation of Labor body.

J. A. LECHLER TO BE ORGANIZER.

James A. Lechler, machinist at the Wabash shops, has accepted the office of special organizer for the International Association of Machinists, with territory in the east, probably in the New England states. He has obtained leave of absence from the Wabash shops for ninety days, beginning next Wednesday, and will leave as soon as he has instructions from J. F. Anderson, first vice president of the International Association of Machinists, with charge of organization work. Not until he hears from Mr. Anderson, will Mr. Lechler know to what territory he will be assigned. A special effort is being made to boom the eastern I. A. M. and it is said to be meeting with great success.

HEAVY MOVEMENT OF STUDENTS.

Up to noon today the local Wabash passenger station had handled eighty students who went to Lafayette to enter the Purdue university. Most of these boys came from the surrounding country and came here over the Pennsylvania, the Nickel Plate, the New York Central, the L. E. and W., the G. R. and I. and the C. H. and D. The Fort Wayne students will leave for the university tonight and tomorrow and it is expected that many more will come from the country, bringing the total handled by the Wabash during the two days up to over 200.

ADDED ANOTHER CREW.

Trainmaster Ogden Pierce, of the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate, added another crew to the regular list this morning, an indication that business is increasing. The personnel of the new crew is Conductor D. C. Potts and Brakemen C. W. Lathrop and T. A. Muldary. They had been on the extra list.

PENNSY TEAM DEFEATED.

The Pennsylvania shop base ball team went down to defeat yesterday in the game at League park with the Knights of Columbus team. The score was 2 to 1. Lill and Haslup composed the battery for the K. of C. and Webberus and Mason for the Pennsylvania. The K. of C. made eight hits and no errors and the Pennsylvania 6 hits and 2 errors.

O. R. C. AUXILIARY PARTY.

Kekionga division, No. 51, Ladies' Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors, will give its first pedro party of the season tomorrow afternoon at Unity hall.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MONTPELIER BANK SAFE BALKS.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 13.—About $20,000 has been temporarily put out of circulation by the big safe at the First National bank in this city, baffling all attempts to open it. The safe is one operated on a time basis and is always set to open about 7 o'clock in the morning, but Thursday the big safe refused to open and money had to be borrowed to conduct the business. The employes tried at different times to open it, but were unsuccessful, so a man from the factory was sent for and has worked all day today in an effort to open it, but has also been unsuccessful. He is awaiting further instructions from the factory.

FORT WAYNE MEN IN SMASH.

Peru, Ind., Sept. 14.—John Rogers and some companions of Fort Wayne were in an automobile wreck near here, but all escaped injury, when an automobile driven by Rogers plunged down the Wabash river embankment about two miles west of Peru. The car was badly damaged but Mr. Rogers and his three companions, Fred Smith, William Ollinger and George Umberger, all of Fort Wayne, were uninjured. According to the story told by the men they were attempting to get around a farm wagon when they slid off the embankment. The damaged car is being cared for at a local garage.

DEKALB SETTLER IS DEAD.

LaOtto, Ind., Sept. 13.—Moses Simon, a pioneer of DeKalb county, near here, will be buried this afternoon after services in the Methodist Episcopal church here and interment will be made in the cemetery at Swan. He had lived in this vicinity for sixty-seven years. Mrs. Simon, who was Miss Abigail Homesher and to whom he was married on March 20, 1848, died four years ago. Six of a family of seven children survive. They are: Mrs. Martha Kinsey, of South Whitley; Oliver Simon, of this place; Mrs. Annice Bowman, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Esther Duglay, of Churubusco, and Mrs. Ella Bridenstine and Miss Cornelia Simon, at home.

WAS KILLED IN MOTOR SMASH.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 13.—Fred Davis, a former Adams county boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Davis, formerly of this city, now of Chicago, was killed in a motorcycle accident Thursday morning at Chicago, but word of his death was received by telegram only Saturday. The boy's grandfather, James Boyd, and aunt, Mrs. Addie Boyd, left for Chicago. The funeral will be held today.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT BURIED.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 13.—The remains of John Schmidt, 45, of this city, who was killed in a hunting accident at Wallace, Neb., arrived in Hartford City Saturday. John R. Johnston, who was at the head of the party of which Mr. Schmidt was a member, was not able to come on from Chicago until later, as he was taken ill there, due to the strain under which he has been. A party of Knights of Columbus and members of the office force of Mr. Johnston met the train and accompanied the body to the house, west of the city. Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church. Interment in the Odd Fellows' building.

FORT WAYNE BARBER LEAVES.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 13.—C. M. Swigart, of this city, has sold a half interest in his barber shop here to Ernest Linn, of Fort Wayne, who has been here several days looking over the situation. The business had increased so that additional facilities and help were necessary and Mr. Swigart decided to take a partner.

FINDS STEEL SAWS IN JAIL.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 13.—Four steel hack saws were discovered today in a cell at the Wells county jail by James Brown, a youthful prisoner, in a crack above the door of a room in which the toilet for prisoners is located.

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Boys and Matches are Blamed for Big Blaze on East Jefferson Street.

The barn situated in the rear of the home of Mrs. Mary Colerick, 315 East Jefferson street, was destroyed by fire at 10 o'clock Saturday evening and two adjoining buildings were badly damaged. It is thought that boys who have been in the habit of playing in the barn are responsible for the blaze.

The barn was empty with the exception of the winter supply of coal, but this was nearly all saved. The barn belonging to George P. Dudenhoefer, 311 East Jefferson street, was badly damaged and the flames were also communicated to te barn at 317 Jefferson street, owned by Joseph Winerord. All three structures were insured.

The fire was only a square and a half from Hope hospital and many people who thought that the fire was at that place rushed to the scene and shortly after the department arrived several thousand people had congregated.

VEGETABLE GROWERS MEET.

Appoint Committee to Investigate High Cost of Living.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Progressive advertising, co-operation, establishment of the national market commission, and other subjects of vital importance to producer and consumer were discussed yesterday at the sessions of the national convention of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America.

A movement was started by Howard W. Selby, of Philadelphia, president, of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' association, to run a membership campaign to bring the membership of the national association up to 10,000. More than 1,500 members are attending the convention.

One of the most important events of the session was the passage of a resolution appointing a committee of five members of the association to investigate the cause of the present high cost of living and to draw up a plan of reducing this cost as much as possible.

"PAWED" BY A LEOPARD.

Meat Packer Injured at Circus When Feeding the Animals.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 13.—Leopold Dryfus, one of Lafayette's wealthiest business men, is suffering from a badly lacerated right arm, the result of trying to feed wild animals in a circus which was showing here last night. Dryfus, who conducts a packing plant and several meat markets, was feeding fresh meat to a leopard, when the animal stuck its paw through the cage and tore Dryfus's arm open from the shoulder to the wrist. He was badly frightened and is suffering also from nervous shock.

Members of the Mizpah patrol and band will go to South Bend Saturday, September 18, to attend the first interstate fair held in St. Joseph county in twenty years. The fair will be held at Springbrook park, of which Eph. P. Dailey, of this city, is general manager. The trip will be made in automobiles.

$5,000.00 PAID TO MRS. NICHOLS

CASHIER WAS DROWNED WHILE FISHING

The many friends of Mrs. Rachel M. Nichols, widow of the late Frank M. Nichols, cashier of the State Bank of Lima, at Howe, Indiana, will be pleased to know that she has received from the Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident association a check for $5,000.00 on account of the accidental death of her husband on the 12th day of August.

Had Paid in Only $30.

The check was issued to Mrs. Nichols within three days after the proofs of death were in the hands of the association—another instance of the absence of "red tape" in settling claims against this splendid Fort Wayne institution.

Mr. Nichols had paid in to the association only $30 in assessments.

How the Accident Occurred.

Mr. Nichols, one of the best-known business men of his community, had gone fishing at Ferrell Lake on the fatal day, accompanied by a little son. He was standing in a boat, several rods from shore, when, in making a cast, he lost his balance and fell into the water. At the same time, the boat was tipped to such an extent as to let in a quantity of water which almost caused it to sink with the boy.

Just at this moment, F. G. Smeltzley came driving by. He heard the boy's cry of distress and hastened to attempt to give relief to Mr. Nichols who had risen to the surface. On wading into the water, however, he became partially mired in the mud which coats the bottom of the lake. He was also unable to save Mr. Nichols after a boat had been procured, although the boy was rescued. The body of Mr. Nichols was removed shortly afterward.

Mrs. Nichols' Grateful Letter.

The gratitude of Mrs. Nichols for the prompt payment of the claim against the Accident association is expressed in the following letter which the association received from her:

Howe, Ind., Aug. 30, 1915.
Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident Association, Fort Wayne, Ind.,
Gentlemen:

I am today in receipt of your check, No. 7933, on the First National Bank, of Fort Wayne, Ind., for Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), in full settlement of my claim against the Association, on account of the accidental death of my late husband, (Frank M. Nichols), who met death by accidental drowning on August 12th, 1915. My proofs were completed and sent to you under date of August 25th, 1915.

I wish to thank you for the courtesy extended to me under these circumstances, and also wish to thank you for the promptness with which my claim has been handled and paid.

RACHEL R. NICHOLS,
Beneficiary.

Splendid Growth of Mercantile.

The past year has been one of marked growth of the Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident association, due largely to the growing knowledge among the people of Fort Wayne and various other parts of the state that the Mercantile provides the best protection at the lowest cost; that it pays its claims promptly and without the usual annoying delays in such instances.

Costs $10 a Year.

The low cost of protection in the Mercantile is one of its attractive features. At no time have policy-holders paid more than $10 per year for protection which may be presented briefly as follows:

Death by accident, $5,000.00.
Loss of both arms or legs, $5,000.00.
Loss of both eyes, $5,000.00.
Loss of one hand or foot, $1,250.00.
Loss of one eye, $1,250.00.
Loss of one leg, $2,500.00.
Loss of one arm, $2,500.00.
Total disability, $25 per week.
Partial disability, $12.50 per week.

Best Protection at Lowest Cost.

A study of the above figures will convince the honest investigator that the Mercantile provides the best of protection at the lowest possible cost. This condition is due to the fact that the effort from the beginning has been to provide accident insurance at actual cost. A small, efficient office force is maintained, and no large salaries are paid to those in charge of the management of the association.

Louis F. Curdes is the president of the association; George W. Pixley, vice president, and L. H. Ransom, secretary treasurer. The directors, in addition to the gentlemen mentioned, are: R. D. Hudgel, chairman; William Lawson, U. S. Shoff, J. A. Rossell, James C. Craig and Wm. M. Leedy. Mr. Ransom is in direct charge of the association offices.

Fort Wayne people, especially, are recognizing in ever-enlarging measure the value of the Mercantile in the commercial life of the city and are showing their confidence and appreciation by joining the association as policy-holders.

Secretary Ransom will welcome the visit of any who are interested in securing the best accident insurance at the lowest cost. His office—third floor of the People's Trust building—is convenient to reach. The 'phone number is 2494. Many who have joined the Mercantile are delighted with their common-sense move. The readers of this paper are urged to identify themselves with this substantial home institution.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS INAUGURAL PICNIC

Outing of Allen County Sheriffs' Association Successful Event.

As an experiment the picnic of the Allen County Sheriffs' Protective association, Sunday, was some degrees more of a success than the most sanguine of its promoters anticipated. It was scheduled as first annual affair of the association and interest in the outing, as well as ideal picnic weather, drew a crowd of about 1,000 people to Fitzgerald's grove, in St. Joe township, near Robison park. The crowd began to arrive about 10 o'clock in the morning and kept increasing until late in the afternoon. Arrangements for the picnic were perfect and there was refreshment and diversion for all who attended.

At a short business session of the association during the forenoon the association re-elected its officers as follows: President, Amiel C. Gladieux; secretary, Henry Branning, jr.; treasurer, Andrew Blume, of St. Joe township. After a few words of welcome by Sheriff Gladieux, Prosecuting Attorney H. H. Hilgemann addressed the members of the association on the work for which it was organized, the best means for its effectiveness and the notable freedom of Allen county from crime.

Refreshments were dispensed through the medium of the time-honored basket picnic and there were plenty of baskets and each one was filled. Following the dinner there was a program of athletic events. The Silver Star Cornet band, of Adams township, furnished music throughout the picnic.

STREETS OF TOWN TO BE PAVED WITH GOLD

Kusa, Ok., to Use "Sludge" Which Holds Precious Metal.

Kusa, Akla., Sept. 13.—The main business street of Kusa will be paved with material which carries a per cent of both gold and silver. The material is the residium or "sludge" from a zinc smelter which George E. Nickolson and associates are building here.

Paving the streets of an Oklahoma town with gold will be done in the next sixty days, according to an official of the townsite company who completed arrangements today with the smelter people to save the waste paving material. Much of the one hundred tons of ore that will be smelted daily at Kusa carries rich gold and silver values. The ore is shipped here from Montana, Idaho, Utah and other mountain states. When the gold value is sufficiently rich to defray the cost of shipment it is sold to smelters in Colorado that make a specialty of handling precious metals. If found to be insufficient it will be used on Kusa streets.

It is estimated that about ten tons of excellent paving material a day will be saved, practically all of which will carry gold and silver. None of the Joplin ore has precious metal. Thousands of tons, however, will find its way into the Kusa smelter.

None Equal to Chamberlain's.

"I have tried most all of the cough cures and find there is none that equal Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes W. V. Harner, Montpelier, Ind. When you have a cold give this remedy a trial and see for yourself what a splendid medicine it is. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

By the Past Chiefs' Association of the Pythian Sisters.

At a meeting of the Past Chiefs' association of the Pythian Sisters at the home of Martha Lotz the following officers were elected: President, Anna Wohlach; vice president, Edna Black; secretary, Cassie Clark; treasurer, Ella Hartle. Mrs. Martha Lotz was named delegate from Rathbone temple, No. 31, Pythian Sisters, to the grand temple meeting at Indianapolis in October.

Biliousness and Constipation.

It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of biliousness and constipation." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WILSON TO WIG-WAG GREETING TO VETS

Opening Day Feature of Big G. A. R. Encampment at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 13.—On the opening day of the forthcoming Grand Army encampment in Washington, President Wilson will "wig wag" a message of greeting and good will to the veterans visiting the national capital. Mr. Wilson will not personally manipulate the flags for he does not understand the old Myer code which was in use by the Union army during the Civil war, but his welcome will be translated into the sign language and sent from station to station about Washington by survivors of the signal corps of fifty years ago.

Arrangement for the signalling features of the encampment were announced today by Lieut. Carr Round, the president of the United States Veterans Signal Corps association, who has called upon all members of the organization who are able to do so to be present in Washington during encampment week. The main station of the signal corps boys of '61-'65 will be upon the heights of Georgetown in the extreme western section of Washington and upon the very spot where the government had its signal camps of instruction during the war. Mt. Tabor Methodist church stands there now and it will be used as the headquarters of the corps. From that point welcomes will be "wig-waged" by such signal corps officers at General Fisher, General Greely, General Scriven and Col. Albert J. Myers, Jr. These officers understanding the code will doubtless take the flags in their own hands and do their own signaling, flashing messages of peace and good will to the American people. At various points about Washington such as Fort Stevens, Fort De Russy, The Soldiers' Home, Fort Richardson and Fairfax Seminary, which were used as signaling points in war times, stations will be established during the encampment and messages will be transmitted in the old way as in the days before the invention of the field telephone and the wireless. Instead of being war orders they will be what President Round of the Signal Corps association, calls "jubilee messages." The scheme was tried with much success during the encampment at Chattanooga and Gettysburg.

FREAK SWINE.

There will be a freak swine on exhibition at the Fair grounds which will certainly interest both young and old. This pig goes about everywhere he wishes and has but one leg on each side and was raised on the Bowser farm north of Fort Wayne. Don't fail to see him on west side of Fair gound.

Worth Their Weight in Gold.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and found them to be just as represented, a quick relief for headaches, dizzy spells and other symptoms denoting a torpid liver and a disordered condition of the digestive organs. They are worth their weight in gold," writes Miss Clara A. Driggs, Elba, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

LINDMAN NAMED MANAGER.

Will Have Charge of New Morris Bank to Open Here Soon.

Ed J. Lindman, who has had much experience in the banking business, has been selected by the executive committee of the Morris Plan company as manager of the office soon to be opened by the newly organized company in this city. A meeting of the committee will be held this week at which time a location will be selected. Mr. Lindeman was formerly cashier of the Bank of Wayne on East Berry street and for some time was connected with the S. Ackerman and Co. real estate agency in Physicians' Defense building.

To the Public.

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Witherall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately." Obtainable everywhere. —Adv.

STEEPLECHASE MAKES SOCIETY GIRLS POSSESS SYLPH-LIKE FIGURE.

Every girl might be svelt and sylph-like if she would but follow the simple rules laid down by Miss Doris Collins, society girl and sportswoman of Los Angeles.

Riding horseback is her recommended panacea for all ills which are spelled in those dread three letters F-A-T!

But is not sufficient to ride horseback, merely as a fad or fancy, to the park in the evening or on the fashionable turf paths in the afternoon.

The woman who would shave off the sides of her hips, and remove all flabbiness from her shapely limbs, must take to STEEPLECHASING!

Both in Los Angeles and New York

Miss Doris Collins and her pet mount

Out of her broad experience she has set forth the following as distinct benefits of riding:

Steeplechasing in the early morning hours makes one an accomplished equestrain.

Horseback riding gives woman a poise they cannot gain in any other outdoor sport.

One should ride for the sport not for fancy or fad.

Early morning riding will prevent women from becoming stout.

"It is difficult to be sick and be an habitual rider," Miss Collins cheerily advises.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Wheat took a decided upward swing today after a show of weakness at the start. General rains northwest and a forecast of more gave courage to the bulls. The opening, which ranged from ¼c to 1¼c lower, with September at 98c to 98⅜c and December at 74¼c to 94¾c, was followed by a sharp general advance, which in some cases went 2c a bushel above Saturday night's level.

The close was unsettled at ⅜@½c net gain, with September 99¾c and December at 95⅝c.

High temperatures making ideal conditions for growth cheapened corn. After opening ⅛@¼c to 1¼c down the market rallied a little with wheat.

The close was weak at ⅝c to ⅞@1c net decline.

Oats eased off somewhat as a result of the break in corn. Rural offerings showed a slight increase.

Transactions in provisions were few and far between. The market was nominally steady.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 13.—War shares furnished the sole interest in today's early trading, with further phenomenal gains. Both Bethlehem Steel opened at 320½, soon advancing to 326. General Motors gained 5½ at 26, Crucible Steel 3¼ a '89 and Studebaker 2 at 117. United States Steel was the only former speculative favorite to make marked improvement over last week's close, gaining a point at 75½. Railroads as a whole were irregular at the outset, with a downward tendency later. London was again a seller of our shares, judging from the heaviness of the international list at that center.

Some specialties increased their early gains. The railways were under steady pressure except Erie and Rock Island. Trading dwindled during the second hour, with reactions of one to four points in war stocks. Interest continued to center in foreign exchange, which evinced greater weakness. Bonds were lower. Moroccan [illegible] were [illegible].

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; probably local thundershowers.

For Indiana and Ohio: Fair tonight and Tuesday, except probably thundershowers in extreme north portion.

For Lower Michigan: Rain tonight and probably Tuesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high on the Atlantic coast, with highest in the extreme northeast. It is low in the interior districts, with the center of the disturbance in Colorado. This distribution of pressure has resulted in rains in the lake region and upper Mississippi valley, with heavy falls in localities, and local showers in the northern plateau region, north Pacific states, northern Rocky mountain region, on the northeastern slope and on the west gulf coast. Clear skies prevail in the south, but in the northern half of the country the weather is generally unsettled. It is warm in eastern and southern sections, but in the northwestern states temperatures are below the normal.

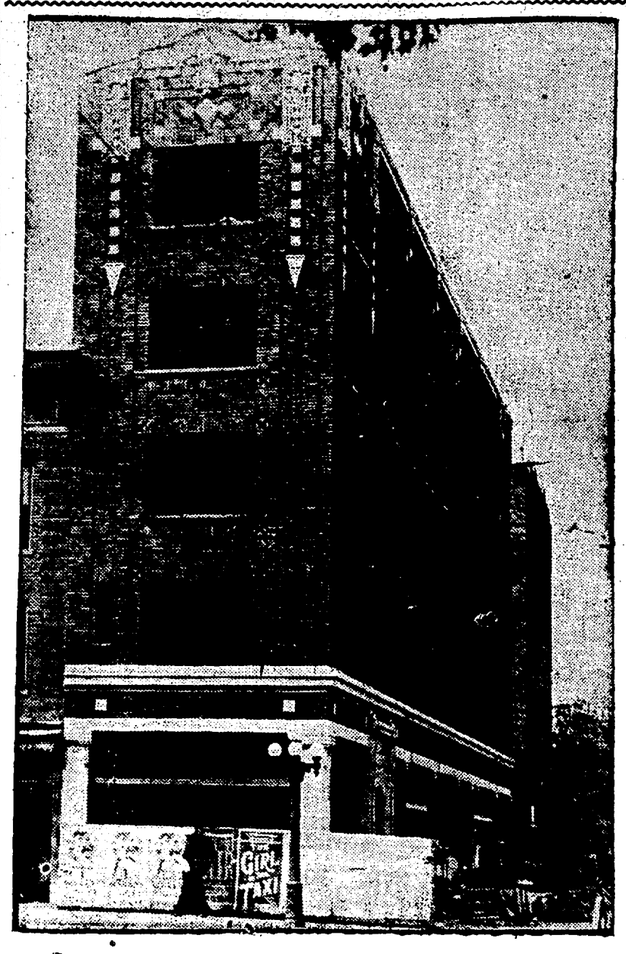
COONEY BAYER BUILDING PRESENTS BEAUTIFUL APPEARANCE AS IT NEARS COMPLETION.



The new Cooney Bayer building at Calhoun and Lewis streets is one of the most beautiful in the city and soon will be ready for occupancy. Al Riegel will open a second cigar store in the front of the structure and the upper floor will be utilized by the Bayer cigar factory.

FIND BLIND TIGER UNDER A REDLIGHT

There was barely enough evidence in the city court to convict Laura Frazier, a negress, of keeping a house of ill-fame, Anna Brown, another colored lady, of prostitution, and Sam Rickards, John Holley, J. W. Reed, Frank Bondle, Edward Hall and William Anderson, all white men, and John Brown, a colored man better known as Moulton, of associating. There was an abundance of evidence that the place has been doing business as a blind tiger and on that charge more may be heard of it. The raid was made about 1 o'clock Sunday morning on the Frazier home, 239 Holman street, by Officers Kavanaugh, Madden, Fry, Buuck, Pattee and Godfrey and the mixed crowd was taken to police headquarters. Brown tried to escape through a window, but was captured, and one of the women was found under a bed upstairs. The rooms indicated the character of the place. The white men testified in court that they went there to buy beer and Holley stated that they purchased several bottles for which he settled a bill of $1.25. Henry Murphy, a colored man held as a witness, said he went into the place and solicited the companionship of a lady and after paying $1 to a man was chased out of the house at the point of a gun. Judge Kerr fined Laura Frazier $25 and costs for keeping a house, and added thirty days in jail. Anna Brown drew $15 and costs and fifteen days, and all the men but Anderson, who was not in court, were fined $15 and costs and given fifteen days. The jail sentences were suspended in each case. "Wing" Frazier, husband of Laura Frazier, who was on guard in front and directing traffic into the place, has disappeared.

Paroled Man Is in Trouble.

Ralph Dunlap, a paroled man who was not long ago released after doing time for forgery, was arraigned in the city court Monday morning on a charge of horse-stealing. He pleaded not guilty, and after part of the testimony was taken the case was continued until next Monday and he went to jail for want of $1,000 bond. The testimony was that Dunlap had tried to sell a horse he had hired of Walter E. Tinkel, a liveryman at Huntertown, to the Webers, horse dealers, at the Burnett sales stables on Wells street in the afternoon. A Huntertown man recognized the Tonkel horse and notified Officer John Greer, who arrested Dunlap.

Alcoholfest Broken Up.

Fred Raymond, Tom Moser, Cornelius Kramer, Edward Jones, Ernest Doweyer and James Wilson had purchased a half gallon of alcohol, some bacon, pork chops and other provender and were laid out on the river bank near the baseball park Saturday evening preparing to stage a "white line" party. Two colored women who passed became frightened and notified the police. The bunch was pinched and all were fined $1 and costs.

Had His Teeth Knocked Out.

Harvey Croy and Christ Sommers were quietly passing along the west side of Harrison street Saturday evening when they were assaulted by Edward Hoffman, of Franklin avenue. Croy had two teeth knocked out. Hoffman was fined $10 and costs. He said the men insulted him and that there had been bad blood between them. Croy and Sommers both testified that they had said nothing to provoke the assault.

Other City Court Cases.

These drunks were disposed of: Robert Green, $5 and costs; Elmer Hess, of Auburn, $5 and costs; William Weber, $1 and costs; James Wilson, $1 and costs; William Salzer, $1 and costs; William English, erne Worden, Jack Ross and John Miller, turned loose; Jack Cummings, continued to Wednesday; William Wilson, continued to Tuesday.

Arthur Mannier, a youth of 20, charged with disorderly conduct, was allowed to go. He had been arrested by the police upon complaint of a sister after the youngster had come home drunk and fought with his brother.

A gang of five vags picked up at the hobo camp along the Wabash tracks west of the city had a uniform story of wanting to leave the city and all were turned loose.

William Jacobs and Ernest Blazer, two young men who were accused of having insulted some women who were going early Sunday morning to meet their mother at the Nickel Plate station, were arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct. They were continued until Tuesday for further testimony.

Earl Bales, who borrowed an overcoat from Dalton Green, of the Baltes hotel, found $17 in the pockets. He returned the coat but not the money. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel on a charge of larceny. He pleaded guilty in court and the case was continued. Bales has been an inmate of the school for feeble-minded.

Three cases for violation of the weed ordinance were continued until Tuesday morning.

CLOSING CONTRACT FOR GIFT OF PARK

Board to Take Over Sieling Donation of Spot in East End.

The board of park commissioners at its Monday afternoon meeting is closing up the contract for the transfer to the city orf Sieling park, in the far east end of the city, which tract is the gift of Dietrick F. and Ida Sieling. It is about an acre in area and is a triangular tract bounded by Wayne trace, New Haven avenue and Warren street. One corner of this tract was dedicated some years ago to the city and upon it Mary Penrose Wayne chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, placed a large boulder containing a tablet commemorating this part of the old trail to inclinati, and marking it as a part of the route of General Harmer's army in 1790 and of General Wayne's in 1794. The local chapter of the D. A. R. has long been anxious to secure the entire triangle as a public park and Mr. and Mrs. Sieling decided to make a gift of it to the city. The only condition is that the city pay the expense of removing the buildings and fences, purchase a lot upon which to place one of the buildings, assume the assessment for the New Haven avenue pavement and designate the park by the official title of "Fletrick F. and Ida Sieling park," and henceforth to maintain it as a park. The city will incur an expense of about $3,000, while the tract is valued at about $7,000. The park board will pay the expense from its funds in three annual installments, the city council having already appropriated $1,000 for the first payment. The contract will go to the council Tuesday evening for ratification.

GERMANY'S PROPOSAL TO ARBITRATE

Von Bernstorff Sees Lansing in Effort to Smooth Difficulties Between Germany and United States.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Secretary Lansing announced today after a conference with President Wilson that no decision had yet been reached by the United States on Germany's proposal to arbitrate the Arabic case.

It was indicated in official quarters that both Germany and the United States agree that to arbitrate the question of indemnity involves arbitrating the justification and the facts.

Secretary Lansing, after his visit to the president, returned to the state department to await his conference with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who is trying to bring the situation to a point where this government will agree to submit the question to arbitration.

One First Essential.

The conference began at noon. It was generally believed that before the United States will enter into formal negotiations on the Arabic case in particular or any phase of the general subject which might include the sinking of the Lusitania it will be necessary first to confirm Germany's assurances of the cessation of attack by submarines on liners.

The declaration that the United States would not discuss the Lusitania until it had been established whether the sinking of the Arabic was justified increases the importance of the decision on the Arabic note.

Refuses to Discuss It.

At its conclusion as he left the state department he told inquirers: "I really cannot say anything about what I said to the secretary or about what he said to me. That rests with Secretary Lansing. I really can't talk, you know."

The ambassador made it clear, however, that the situation had not come to an impasse. From his manner some of his questioners inferred that his conference with the secretary forecasted favorable outcome and that probably arbitration might be agreed upon.

Secretary Lansing, like the ambassador, refused to discuss his conference in any way. When the count returned to the embassy he sent a report to his foreign office which was believed to outline the evidence Secretary Lansing has to show the Arabic was torpedoed without warning and to controvert the claim that she was about to ram the submarine. It was understood the conference developed no suggestion from either side that the principles of submarine warfare be included in a proposal for arbitration. The inference which officials allowed to go out was that the negotiations were so far proceeding amicably and were awaiting further developments between Washington and Berlin.

The German View.

The German view, it was said, was that an agreement could be reached to arbitrate the question of reparation for American lives lost on the ship, inasmuch as the Berlin note has renewed assurances that submarine commanders had been ordered not to attack peaceful liners without warning.

NONE KILLED IN NEW RAID

Zeppelins Launch Another Attack on English East Coast.

GERMAN EFFORT IN FRANCE BEATEN OFF

Turkish Forces on Gallipoli Peninsula in Perilous Position.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

England has been visited by German Zeppelins, the latest raid over the east coast occurring last night. Like the one of Saturday night reported yesterday, however, the raid was harmless to both life and property, according to the British official statement, the only damage being breaking of glass and of telegraph wires.

A German attack north of Souchez station was easily repulsed, today's French war department statement says. Infantry assaults on the Lorraine front broke down before the wire entanglements under the fire of the French infantry. Artillery action, some of it of a violent nature, was in evidence in many sectors.

Austro-Hungarian sentiment regarding the request of the United States for the recall of Ambassador Dumba, is divided, according to indications supplied by articles in the Vienna newspapers. One section apparently is convinced he acted without orders from his government, while the other upholds his course as in line with his duty.

There seems to have been little recent activity in the Dardanelles, the Turkish officials' claim mentioning only artillery actions.

Reports from various quarters describe conditions in Constantinople as chaotic with much suffering among the population, while other reports coming through Athens declare that the position of the Turkish forces on the Gallipoli peninsula is precarious.

London, Sept. 13.—Another Zeppelin raid was made over the east coast of England last night. There were no casualties. The attack is described in the following official statement:

"The east coast was again visited by hostile air craft last night (the 12th-13th.) Bombs were dropped but there were no casualties and the only damage is that some telegraph wires are down and some glass is broken."

An attack with gunfire on a neutral ship by a German submarine is reported in a dispatch from Christiana to Reuter's Telegram company. The submarine is said to have fired upon the Norwegian ship Presto, with a cargo of wood, last Friday. The crew was saved.

PAN-AMERICANS WILL TAKE NEXT STEP SOON

Secretary Lansing talked with President Wilson today on Gen. Carranza's proposal to discuss international affairs but nothing was disclosed regarding the conference.

Until official reports have reached here that a supplemental note is to be sent from Carranza sources outlining in detail what might be made matters of joint consideration. This would include war indemnities and guarantees to foreigners.

The setamer Morro Castle reached Vera Cruz yesterday with a large quantity of war munitions for Carranza. He is said to have placed large orders to prepare for an embargo on arms by the United States.

The wreck was caused by tampering with a switch.

Kidnaped Clergyman Speaks in Fort Wayne

Rev. Louis R. Patmont, the temperance worker whose case created a country-wide sensation early in the present year when he was kidnaped and kept in seclusion for nearly four months, has been in Fort Wayne for the past few days. Sunday evening he addressed a large congregation at the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ, speaking on "The Beginning of the Christian Church in Russia." He did not discuss his own experiences.

It will be recalled that Rev. Patmont was kidnaped on the streets of Chicago following his activity in temperance work, and fifty-one days later was found half starved in a damp cellar in the slums of St. Louis, where he had been held captive. Later he fled to Detroit where he was again threatened and kidnaped a second time, finally escaping but in so nervous a condition that he was unable to recall but little of his experience. Recovering his health to some degree, Rev. Patmont has now been recalled by the International Christian Bible college of Milwaukee, to become a member of the faculty. He is now an instructor in this institution.

Rev. Patmont is a Russian by birth and served in the Russian army during the Japanese war. He is very well educated and speaks good English besides six or seven Slavic tongues. He is now interesting himself in the educating of the foreigners in Milwaukee in religious teachings. He has very many friends among the Poles in Fort Wayne and intended to make this city his home until he received the call from the Milwaukee college.

He left early Monday morning for Harlan where he will speak Monday evening at the Christian church of that place. He returns to this city Tuesday and will immediately leave for Milwaukee.

The refugees numbering thousands, are sleeping in the woods at night, drenched by the cold rains. The authorities are doing their utmost to relieve distress.

THE FRENC HSTATEMENT.

Paris, Sept. 13.—The French war office today gave out a statement on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

Several hand grenade combats were reported during the night near the Bethune-Arras road and an enemy attack was easily repulsed to the north of the Souchez station. At the same time there was artillery activity on both sides."

"The mine fighting proceeded continuously and stubbornly to the south of the Somme before Faye. There was violent bombarding in the sectors of Armancourt and Beauvraignes, as well as on the plateaux of Quennevieres and Nouvron. Intermittent cannonading took place in the Champagne and the Argonne. On the Lorraine front our batteries directed an efficacious fire on the German trenches and organizations in the neighborhood of Embermenil, Leintrey and Ancerviller. Enemy groups which left their trenches and advanced up to our wire entanglements were dispersed by our infantry fire."

WILL DECIDE FATE OF RIGA.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(Via London)—The battle along the Dvina river, which has been virtually in a state of deadlock for several days has swung in favor of the Germans. The war office announced today that the Russians had been ejected from several positions on the right bank of the river. This battle probably will decide the fate of Riga.

RUSSIANS LOCE SEAPLANE.

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(By Wireless to Sayville)—The Russians lost one of their seaplanes in the attack by these craft on a small German cruiser off Windau, officially reported yesterday. A statement issued today tells of the attack by several Russian hydroplanes on the cruiser and of their dropping eight bombs, all of which missed the mark, and adds: "One hydroplane was shot down and brought to Windau. Its occupants, two Russian officers, were made prisoners."

SAYS MAYOR GAVE ORDER

Gibson recently pleaded guilty to the charge of which Mayor Bell is being tried.

Says Bell Presided.

Rucker also declared the evidence would show that Mayor Bell presided at a meeting when the "machine slates of candidates" were handed out. The mayor watched the prosecutor closely during this part of his speech.

The prosecutor also told how Mayor Bell, assisted by Thomas Taggart, succeeded in having the county commissioners appoint the registration inspectors named by Fred Barrett, democratic county chairman, after the commissioners had once refused to ratify the list. Barrett is also under indictment on the conspiracy charge.

"These inspectors," declared the prosecutor, "were as rotten a bunch of crooks as ever controlled a registration or election."

Prosecutor Rucker then told how legal voters were intimidated by policemen and sluggers and prevented from registering in a number of precincts.

Rucker, who was still talking when court recessed at noon, said he expected to complete his statement today.

BRING CONCESSIONS FROM HUNTINGTON

Six Car Loads Handled by Traction Company for Fort Wayne Fair.

Six car loads of concessions, horses and stock, were handled by the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company Sunday from Huntington to this city, for the fair to be given this week at Centlivre park. Practically the same shows that were seen at the Huntington fair, regarded as one of the best in the state, will be at the Fort Wayne fair.

In an effort to push the work to completion as rapidly as possible the traction company and Grace Construction company had laborers at work all day Sunday on the State street improvement.

Safety First Meetings.

Two safety first meetings are scheduled for Monday by the local employes of the traction company. The first was held at 1:30 o'clock at the car barns, on Holman street, and the second will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

A meeting of the Central Electric Railway association will be held Tuesday at the Anthony hotel, at which traction officials from all parts of Michigan, Ohio and Indiana will be in attendance.

A TON OF HEREFORD ARRIVES IN THE CITY

Hundreds of people were attracted on East Main street, in front of the American Express company, Monday morning, by a Hereford thoroughbred cow, the largest ever seen in the city. The animal weighed nearly a ton and was valued at $2,000. In care of Pete Frazier the cow arrived in this city Monday morning from Shelbyville, Ky., by freight and will be held here until Tuesday afternoon, when it will be shipped to Townsend, Montana, by express.

The valuable animal was raised by H. O. Moxley, who makes a specialty of raising thoroughbred Herefords at Shelbyville, Ky., and was bought by A. B. Cook, of the Cook Construction company, of St. Paul.

The cow will be loaded in with a car load of horses which are being shipped by express over the Nickel Plate from Glenn Falls, N. Y., to Townsend, Mo., and it is expected that the car will arrive here Tuesday noon. The cow will be kept at the Soyine barns, on Harrison street, until tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Eloph and sons, Raymond and Ivan Eloph, of Dunfee, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie, and a heavy Krit touring car driven by J. L. Kelly, 3012 Shawnee place, and in which were riding Mrs. Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Rathert, of St. Louis, came together.

Accident on Illinois Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie were both painfully hurt, although not seriously, and had employed Charles Bilger, 1905 Spring street, who operates a jitney on Main and Bunnion streets, to take them home. In attempting to pass the McIntyre car belonging to O. P. Eversole, a local [illegible] four and a half miles out on the Illinois road, who with his wife, son, Arthur Eversole, son-in-law, James B. Johnson and his two children were on their way home after spending the day in Warsaw, the two machines collided, both cars being badly damaged and the occupants badly shakened. Mrs. Gillespie was more seriously injured in the second wreck than she was in the first and she was hurried to Dunfee in a car that happened to be passing a few minutes later. Mrs. Eversole with her little grandchild in her arms, was thrown headling from the rear seat to the side of the road and though she was slightly injured the baie escaped without a scratch. Mr. Eversole was painfully cut by broken glass on the face and right hand.

The jitney was coming from the east and in attempting to pass Eversole's car, bumped into the running board throwing it to the right side of the road the other car to the left. Neither car was overturned. Bilger was driving the jitney, a Nutting car, and Arthur Eversole the McIntyre.

The First Accident.

In the first accident Kelly attempted to pass a car ahead of him, circling around it on the left. The Eloph car was passing at the same point in the opposite direction, the left front wheel of the Kelly car interlocking with the Eloph car, both machines being put out of commission. Mrs. Eloph was thrown almost out and was painfully hurt about the right leg and received body bruises. She was brought to headquarters in the police ambulance where she was given medical attention. Mrs. Kelly, who was in the front seat with her husband, was thrown out onto the fender and painfully hurt about the chest. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie were bruised. The Kelly car was the worst damaged of the two and had to be brought to the city on a truck. No blame is attached to either driver for the accident.

According to Attorney Eversole, who figured in the second accident, his son was blinded by the dazzling lights of the approaching car, while the same charge is made by Bilger, driver of the jitney.

Another Collision.

Another collision occurred Sunday when Lloyd Landis, of Churubusco, crashed into the automobile of G. A. Thumm, residing on the Goshen road. The accident occurred at Third and Cass street. The motorcycle was almost a complete wreck, while the automobile was only slightly damaged. No one was hurt.

SUNDAY WARMEST DAY.

All heat records for the season were broken Sunday when the thermometer registered 88 degrees. The maximum temperature Monday was one defree less at 2 o'clock.

ANOTHER WIFE WHO DID NOT DO COOKING

Fred B. Gagnor Complains in Divorce Suit of Cruel Neglect.

Fred B. Gagnon ranks somewhat about sixth in the procession of husbands who have gone into the local courts during the past week complaining of wives who would not cook the grub, patch the breeches and darn the socks, and he wants a divorce from Anna Gagnon. He says they were married April 22, 1912, and separated last Sunday. He recites in his complaint that during their entire wedded life she treated him in a cruel and inhuman fashion by failure to attend to the household duties and refusing to prepare his meals for him, compelling him to be his own Betty. He charges her with an ungovernable temper, calling him vile and improper names and threattening him. Life with her has ceased to be a possibility, he declares, and he wants a decree. Charles H. Aldrich is his attorney.

Kingman Trial Postponed.

Because his attorneys, Harper & Feulner, were prevented by engagement with the hearing of other causes in the courts the trial of Tracy J. Kingman on a charge of grand larceny for stealing Clifford L. Bornchein's automobile and taking it to New York, where he sold it, did not come up in the circuit court Monday, as was scheduled. The trial was postponed without date, but it will take place some time during the present week.

Enlists in Grand Army of Smiths.

Toting a moniker like Joseph Frank Seepetovoski proved a heavier burden than the citizen bearing that name felt like carrying and he appealed to the circuit court to have it changed. Mr. Sepetovoski scanned the lits of names common in any American directory and he picked on "Smith" as being of them all plain, common, unpretentious and easy to manage. So he was duly enlisted in the grand army of Smiths by proceedings in the circuit court. Monday morning, and will henceforth be known and legally entitled Joseph Frank Smith.

Wants Divorce From Convict.

Lillian Mennewisch has begun action in the superior court for divorce from Harry W. Mennewisch. She charges her husband with cruel and inhuman treatment and says he is an habitual drunkard. He also is accused by her of striking and beating her. She asks the custody of three children aged, respectively, 7, 5 and 3 years, and $1,000 alimony. Her husband is now serving a sentence at the Indiana penal farm upon conviction in the city court of keeping a house of prostitution. Mennewisch has been arrested more than once for cruelty to his wife and she has told shocking stories of his attempts to drive her upon the streets to shamefully earn a living for him. Somers and Kennerk are her attorneys.

City Is Again Sued.

William Wiegman and others have brought suit in the superior court against the city of Fort Wayne to compel the park board to set aside an assessment for the improvement of Anthony boulevardd and for $500 damages. The property involved was assessed $959, which the plaintiffs say is too high, and it is alleged that the grading of the street will damage their abutting land. Emrick and Emrick are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

Notes of the Courts.

O. F. Gilliom has brought suit in the superior court against Albert Lantz to collect $90 on a note. Glenn A. Smiley appeared for the plaintiff.

In the superior court in the suit of Daniel C. Cope vs. Alice M. Habecker, et al, title to real estate has been quieted as prayed for.

Change of venue from Allen county has been asked by the defendants in the suit of Frank C. Grosshart and Edward C. Cale vs. James R. Sturgeon.

The case of Robin J. and Bert Keuner vs. Charles McCulloch and wife, has been set for trial November 1 before a jury in the superior court.

In the suit of the National Yarn and Cordage company vs. S. Rash & Co., the superior court has given the plaintiff judgment for $315.07.

In the suit of James W. Squires vs. Edward and Samantha Morschand, the defendant, E. Morschand, has asked for a change of venue from the Allen superior court to some other county.

The suit of Mary Jackson vs. Charles Lenz, chief of police of Fort Wayne, and Harvey Gass, of Huntington, has been dismissed from the circuit court by the plaintiff. The suit was to replevin a diamond ring taken by Chief Lenz from Ray Jackson, husband of the plaintiff. Mrs. Jackson was tried in the Huntington courts on a charge of grand larceny for stealing the ring from Mrs. Gass, but was acquitted. Chief Lenz has refused to surrender the ring to anybody until the title to it was settled.

In the suit of Emma Beyer, administratrix of the estate of Herman Beyer, vs. J. W. Charles Bender, the circuit court has given the plaintiff judgment for $111 on a note.

The circuit court has given the plaintiff judgment for $100 in the suit of Henry Doerman vs. Lizzie Lohmeyer.

The superior court has dismissed the suit of Helen Link vs. William Link for support and in the divorce suit of William vs. Helen has ordered the plaintiff to pay his wife $5 a week.

In the suit of Arthur G. Locke vs. the Fort Wayne Miniature Lamp company the superior court has rendered judgment for $500 to the plaintiff.

PLUNGES TO HIS DEATH.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—Fred Schrader, 76, plunged from a ninth story window of a down town office building and was killed when he struck the roof of a third story building. It is believed Schrader jumped out of the window.

The Rosary society of the Cathedral parish will entertain at cards Tuesday evening, Sept. 14, at Library hall. All are invited.

Attorney A. C. Nierman will leave Wednesday for Plymouth to settle up the estate of Mrs. Phil Conway.

GIFT WATCH WAS THE ONLY THING STOLEN

Residence of William S. O'Rourke is Entered by Thieves.

A valuable gold watch, kept by the owner as an heirloom, and on that account greatly treasured by him, was the only thing of value taken from the home of Attorney William S. O'Rourke, 1401 Washington boulevard west, when thieves entered the residence early Monday morning. The watch was one that belonged to Mr. O'Rourke's father, Hon. Patrick S. O'Rourke, for many years superintendent of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, and had been presented to Mr. O'Rourke, sr., as a testimonial of esteem by employes of the railroad. There were five other gold watches in the house, three of them lying on a bureau in the chamber of Mr. O'Rourke's son, but none of them or anything else of value was carried away.

On the floor down stairs Mrs O'Rourke found her husband's pocketbook, but it had contained only a check for $30 and no cash. Mr. O'Rourke's trousers were taken from his bedroom and were found in the hallway.

Entrance to the house was gained by removing a screen from a kitchen window. The front door of the house has not been locked for years, Mr. O'Rourke says, and the cellar door also was unlocked. Mr. O'Rourke did not retire until after midnight. The robbery has been reported to the police.

U. S. TROOPER KILLED BY MEXICAN BANDITS

Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 13.—One United States trooper was killed and two others wounded, one probably fatally, when a gang of Mexican bandits, early today, attacked the American patrol of seven men at an irrigation pumping plant, several miles up the river from this point.

The soldier killed was Private Craft, who received a wound through the head. Private Forney was shot through the back and is expected to die. Private Walsh also was wounded, but his condition is not considered serious. The firing was heard by nearby detachments, who located it at the pumping plant, on the Los Indios project, but assistance, which was rushed to the beleaguered men came too late to prevent casualties. The squad of troopers were fired upon from the darkness by a gang estimated at forty in number. It is believed the bandits have crossed into Mexico.

ON LANSING'S MIND.

Robert Lansing, secretary of state, has seven big things on his mind, any one of which would be enough in itself to cause war or other great trouble.

The things on the secretary's mind are: 1—Torpedoing of the Hesperian; 2—Sinking of Lusitania and Arabic; 3—Dumba case; 4—Trouble with Mexican bandits on Texas border; 5—Carranza, the only man opposing plan for peace in Mexico; 6—British blockade; 7—Landing of marines in Haiti to control custom houses.

tion, but on the Dumba case. Nevertheless, it was understood that while Germany's explanation of the sinking of the Arabic was considered unsatisfactory, the United States would consent to the arbitration of the reparation issue if the discussion were limited to the question of facts as to whether the submarine commander was justified in launching his torpedo. That would not involve general principles for which the Washington government has contended. The Berlin note declared the commander attacked the Arabic because he though she was about to attempt to ram the submarine. Testimony of the liner's passengers, however, tends to show the ship was torpedoed without warning.

The German note on the Orduna case was being decided at the state department today. In German circles it was believed that the communication stated that the torpedo which missed the Orduna was fired in belief that the ship did not carry passengers.

Government officials awaited news from Ambassador Penfield on Austria's reception of the request that Ambassador Dumba be recalled. Press dispatches had stated that the Vienna foreign office would accede without precipitating an issue.

Count von Bernstorff made an engagement to confer with Secretary Lansing at noon. Mr. Lansing before seeing the ambassador went to the white house to talk with the president. It is probable that the ambassador will have an audience with the president later, but the time has not been fixed.

Our First Anniversary Sale Starts Today

GERMANS IN CHECK ONLY AT ONE POINT

London, Sept. 13.—The Austro-German armies on the eastern front, still striving for definite results, are making progress everywhere except along the Galician frontier, where the Russians report a further success.

In the north where the Russian line has been straightened by a withdrawal of forces, Field Marshal von Hindenburg is directing a violent drive towards Dvinsk and a crossing of the Dvina. In the center Crown Prince Leopold has forced his way over the Selwianka and is attacking in the vicinity of Skidel. In the south Field Marshal von Mackensen on both sides of the Pinsk railroad, is pressing eastward toward the town. These movements have resulted in the capture of several thousand Russians.

The final object of the central powers in this campaign is still a matter of conjecture, but General Ruzsky, commander of the northern Russian army, declares positively that there is no danger that Petrograd will fall this year before the guns of the invaders.

On the other fronts there is little to report. It appears to be established that Bulgaria has struck a bargain with Turkey and Premier Radoslavoff in response to an appeal from Germany, stated that Sofia is now on the most friendly terms with Constantinople.

In the Balkans and Italy rumors are again current of an Austro-German offensive movement toward Constantinople.

English newspapers devote much space to the announcement of David Lloyd George, minister of munitions, that the nation must increase her efforts very greatly if victory for the entente allies is to be assured.

WAITING FOR MR. ARCHIBALD

Agents of Department of Justice to Meet Him When He Lands.

TAKING UP CASE OF CORRESPONDENT

Trouble is Brewing for American Who Carried Dumba's Letter.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Acting under instructions from the white house, agents of the department of justice will meet James F. J. Archibald, the American correspondent involved in the case of Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, wheen he lands at New York on the steamer Rotterdam from Holland. Archibald carried Dr. Dumba's letter to the Vienna foreign office disclosing plans to cause strikes in American munitions plants.

All officials here are maintaining strictest silence regarding Archibald's case, but it became known today that United States Attorney Marshall at New York has been instructed by the department of justice, which takes the view that there is ground for considering whether Archibald violated a federal law. The question of whether he actually knew the contents of the papers he carried probably will be the deciding factor in what action the government ultimately takes toward him.

The statute on which the government is proceeding fixes a fine of not more than $2,000 and imprisonment of not more than three years for its violation. There was no indication today of any further move by the government in the case of Capt. Franz von Papen, military attache of the German embassy, for whom Archibald also carried a letter and who was mentioned in Dr. Dumba's report as being connected with the strike plans.

At the German embassy it was said no intimation has been received from the state department that Captain von Papen was personna non grata, but that the embassy of course would accede to any request the United States might make in his case. All that was asked was a safe conduct for the captain back to Germany. If the United States decided that Captain von Papen's connection with the Dumba case made his presence in this country undesirable it would only be necessary, according to diplomatic procedure, to indicate that view to Ambassador Bernstorff, his chief, and communications between Washington and Berlin would be unnecessary.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Germany's explanation of the unsuccessful attempt to destroy the Cunard liner Orduna on July 9 is that the submarine commander violated his instructions which were not to attack any liner, but that because of the weather he was unable to make out the character or nationality of the Orduna.

The Orduna, bound from Liverpool to New York with some 200 passengers of whom 22 were Americans, was attacked by a torpedo, which barely missed her, and then was shelled by the submarine until she was out of range.

To substantiate the statement that the German commander was inclined to follow his orders, it is stated that he soon after allowed the steamer Normandie, carrying a cargo of lumber, to pass unmolested.

The German explanation which comes in the form of a note, was laid before President Wilson today by Secretary Lansing and may figure in discussion of the submarine issue with Count von Bernstorff the German ambassador.

A special conclave of Fort Wayne commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, will be held next Tuesday evening for the exemplification of the order of the Temple and Knights of Malta.

NUMBER OF FARMERS MEETINGS INCREASES

Work Conducted Throughout Country Under Many Forms.

Washington, Sept. 13.—It is announced by officials of the department of agriculture that both the number of farmers' institutes held each year and the attendance at these meetings are steadily increasing. In the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1914, 25,238 of these institutes were held in various parts of the United States and the total attendance upon them was 3,656,381, an increase of 26 per cent over the attendance in any previous year. At the same time, it is pointed out, the cost of conducting the institutes was nearly $63,000 less than last year, the total cost being $447,807.51.

The farmers' institute organization, say department officials, conducts its work under many different forms, so that it is well nigh impossible to summarize its activities briefly. For example, in addition to the ordinary meetings there were movable schools in thirteen states, which had an attendance of 112,498 different people. Field demonstration meetings were also held in fifteen states, although no record of the attendance was kept. Special railroad trains were organized in seventeen other states to aid in giving lectures and demonstrations.

With a string of seventy light harness speeders entered into the three days' racing meet, with the heaviest exhibition list of heavy draft horse stock ever secured for a Fort Wayne fair and with a mammoth poultry show, a splendid art exhibition and a mile or more of "pike" attractions, as well as a myriad of concessions ranging from dining tents to hamburger wagons, Fort Wayne's great fair, scheduled to open a five day engagement at the Centlivre park grounds Tuesday, bids fair to be the mecca for amusement seekers from all over the northern portion of the state.

Steady streams of wagon trains have been pouring through the gates for two days, bearing their loads of effects for the big annual celebration, and assisted by a young army of special workmen the stage at the new fair grounds is all set for the opening day. The race card for the first day consists of two match races for Fort Wayne owned horses. The succeeding three days will be given over to the professional horses and on Saturday motorcycle day will be observed.

This year one of the greatest special attractions in the fair world has been secured in Madame Marantette's string of high schooled horses and her celebrated racing ostrich, Gaucho. This string of horses includes the world's champion high jumping horse, St. Patrick, who will be leaped against his own record by Madame Marantette. Two high schooled beauties will demonstrate their skill in favorite equine tricks and Gaucho will step a mile hitched with a running horse to a pole, and driven by Madame Marantette.

ROBBER SLAIN IN QUARREL OVER LOOT

Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 13.—As a sequel to the daylight robbery of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank, Saturday, one of the gang that held up Ralph M. Tritz, the assistant cashier, was killed early today during a pistol duel after a quarrel over the division of spoils.

The police have been unable to identify the dead man. He was identified by the bank cashier, however, as one of the three highwaymen who took $375 from the bank after holding up Tritz and locking him in the vault.

J. M. Murphy, at whose home the murder occurred, declared that he was just entering the house when he heard shots, saw one man fall and two other men leave the place.

Rome Newspaper Discusses Visit of Cardinal to President.

Rome, Sept. 13.—In discussing the recent visit of Cardinal Gibbons to President Wilson the newspaper Roma, which often is considered to be inspired by the vatican, says there is no idea at present of offering mediation to the belligerents, but that the pope's object is to influence public opinion in favor of peace, that mediation may have every chance of success when the circumstances seem favorable. The pontiff is said to realize that if he were to propose intervention now there is no possibility that his good offices would be accepted by the quadruple entente.

VILLA FORCES MAKE VERY POOR SHOWING

Washington, Sept. 13.—State department advices from Torreon, described as coming from an unofficial, but reliable source, say Villa troops in all the recent encounters with Carranza forces in northern Mexico had made a poor showing.

In many cases it was declared the Villa soldiers cast away their arms and abandoned towns apparently without any real defense. Trains reaching Torreon with Villa troops were filled with ties from the railroad tracks. Four loaded with provisions were abandoned. From some towns it is reported the troops fled so precipitately as to take no precautions against pursuit.

ON TRAIL OF SMELTER TRUST.

Prices on Zinc Ore Given in Missouri Investigation.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 13.—Mine operators of southwest Missouri testifying here today at an investigation to determine whether a smelter trust exists in Missouri gave information regarding prices paid in this district for zinc ore.

The hearing, which began today before Frank W. McAllister, special commissioner appointed by the state supreme court, is being conducted by W. T. Rutherford, assistant attorney general of the state. Allegations that a commission of smelter concerns fixed prices caused the attorney general to order a full investigation.

Mark 15:1-15.

1 And straightway in the morning the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and bound Jesus, and carried him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

2 And Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of Jews? And he answering said unto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the chief priests accused him of many things: but he answered nothing.

4 And Pilate asked him again, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.

5 But Jesus answereed nothing; so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now at that feast he released unto them one prisoner, whomsoever they desired.

7 And there was one named Barabbas, which lay bound with them that had made insurrection with him, who had committed murder in the insurrection.

8 And the multitude crying aloud began to desire him to do as he had ever done unto them.

9 But Pilate answered them, saying, Will ye that I release unto you the King of the Jews?

10 For he knew that the chief priests had delivered him for envy.

11 But the chief priests moved the people, that he should rather release Barabbas unto them.

12 And Pilate answered and said unto them, What will ye then that I shall do unto him whom ye call the King of the Jews?

13 And they cried out again, Crucify him.

14 Then Pilate said unto them, Why, what evil hath he done? And they cried out the more exceedingly, Crucify him.

15 And so Pilate, willing to content the people, released Barabbas unto them, and delivered Jesus, when he had scourged him, to be crucified.

What About Mr. Archibald?

Correspondent Archibald, the American writer who carried the letter which has gotten Ambassador Duma into trouble and brought a crisis in the diplomatic relations between the United States and Austria-Hungary, has taken occasion to cable from England a defense of himself. He asserts that he had no intent of wrong-doing that his was merely the role of innocent messenger boy; that he accepted the mission of carrying the letter merely through friendship for the ambassador and without suspicion that its contents were questionable.

It is true that had Archibald refused to be the bearer of the letter the ambassador might have found other means of starting it on its way to Vienna, but that any American citizen should undertake in time of war to be the bearer of any secret messages whatever from the representative of any belligerent to his government can be appraised at little less than treason—in any event, absolutely dangerous. Mr. Archibald's offense is so serious that it will be extremely unfortunate if the lack of adequate law governing such cases permits him to go unscotched after being the active agent in involving his country in a new international muddle. As a matter of fact the acts, one kind and another, of fool Americans have contributed in no small degree to the complications which have beset this country from the outset of the war. One phase of national preparedness for which there is striking need is the sort that will protect us from internal recklessness as well as outside dangers.

The public is now informed that the "formal" announcement of the candidacy of James E. Watson for the republican senatorial nomination next year will be made at Rushville, Mr. Watson's home town, in a few days. Mr. Watson has been distinctly told by a portion of his party that it doesn't want him as a candidate, while another element is just as insistent in its belief that he is the precise Moses needed at this juncture to lead the G. O. P. hosts out of the political wilderness. Precisely as it produces horse races and dog fights, it is the difference of opinion that is going to invest Mr. Watson's candidacy with most of its spectacular interest. There is no fact more apparent than that the Rushville man is at least going to make a heap of trouble for the other aspirants if he doesn't succeed in landing the nomination for himself.

The Swinney park railroad bridge has claimed two more victims—one killed and the other frightfully injured—and, as usual, they were trespassers who were wholly without their rights in attempting to negotiate a crossing at this point. No year passes without fatalities at this point, and yet the tragic record seems wholly ineffective as a warning. There are always others willing to take the chance. Some of them escape, but the proportion which does not is an appalling one.

The annual Fort Wayne fair will open its gates on Tuesday morning, and the management has given assurance that the exhibition this year will be in every way worthy—large, cleanly, acceptable and interesting. Upon the interest manifested by the public in patronage, of course, depends the future of the organization. A good fair is a highly desirable fall factor for Fort Wayne, and efforts to that end merit liberal public encouragement.

A girl at Brazil has just filed suit for damages in the sum of $20,000, alleging that a Lafayette young man has broken his promise to wed her. Still, it is doubtful if the young man himself will admit that his former sweetheart has lost a matrimonial prize worth anything like so fancy a price as that.

Austro-Hungarian societies in the United States are now going on record with resolutions condemning the course of Ambassador Dumba which resulted in a demand by the United States for his recall to Vienna, and this would appear to make the thing pretty nearly unanimous.

Heat prostrations in mid-September constitute pretty conclusive evidence that somebody must have jumbled up the weather man's calendar when he didn't happen to be looking.

OUR GREAT WATER HIGHWAY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The August report of shipping on the Great Lakes shows that 10,540,781 tons of freight passed through the St. Mary's canal at the Soo. That is more than half as much traffic as passes through the Suez canal in a year. The total to go through the ditch connecting the Mediterranean and Red Seas in 1913, the last year in which conditions were normal was 20,033,884 tons. The Kiel canal between the North Sea and the Baltic handled less freight in a year than passes Sault Ste. Marie each month during the busy season.

The locks at our great interlake canal handle more tonnage each year than all the famous ocean waterway links put together. The government report shows that 3,219 boats passed between lakes Huron and Superior last month and they carried, in addition to freight, 9,357 passengers. The eastbound freight last month, which was largely iron ore, totaled 8,249,257 tons and that west bound was 2,291,524. The total traffic through the canal in 1913 was 79,718,344 tons, and the record for this year will exceed 80,000,000, it is expected.

The significance of the "Soo" canal as a traffic highway may be grasped when it is explained that 210,815 freight cars of fifty-ton capacity passed through the canal last month. Allowing fifty feet to a car they would have made a solid train reaching from Indianapolis to New York and back again with a leftover string of cars long enough to reach St. Louis. A total of 16,000 trains of 100 cars each would be needed to transport the freight that passes through the canal this season.

In attempting to cross the Pennsylvania bridge over St. Mary's river at Swinney park Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock, Powet Jankowski, 29 years old, a Pole employed as a laborer in the Pennsylvania company's east car shops, was instantly killed, and Stanley Hoinski, 27 years old, a fellow countryman, with whom he boarded at 2114 Weisser park avenue, suffered a fracture of his left leg, when struck by eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train No. 22.

The two foreigners were on their way to the rolling mill district to spend the afternoon and were walking with their heads down, talking together very earnestly. Suddenly the passenger train loomed before them just as they had reached the west end of the bridge. Hoinski was the first to see the train and shouting a warning to his companion jumped onto the railing at the side of the bridge. Jankowski was not quick enough and the pilot of the engine struck him, throwing him with terrific force to the side fo the bridge, his body falling into the river below.

Hoinski hung on to the side of the bridge until the train was stopped and the crew had returned to the scene of the accident, when he was rescued.

Jankowski's body was taken from the river by Walter Rechtol, 1412 Washington boulevard west, who was in the park a short distance away when the accident occurred. Martin O'Brien, 247 Masterson avenue, and Ezra Norris, 1219 Winter street, engineer and fireman on the train, declare they did not see the two men until the locomotive was almost upon them and then it was too late to stop. James Breen, 231 West DeWald street, was conductor on the train. Hoinski was placed aboard the train and taken to the depot, where an ambulance was called to take him to the hospital. His injuries are not regarded as serious.

Jankowski leaves a wife and one child in Poland. Funeral services Tuesday from the Getz & Cahill morgue.

WHO WILL WEAR MARLOWE'S MANTLE?—WILL IT BE ONE OF THESE TWO FAMOUS STARS?

By Honor Fanning.

Julia Marlowe has made her final exit from the stage she so long adorned, and the public is already electing her successor—theater-going folks are asking who will succeed the loveliest of the Juliets, the most winsome of Rosalinds, who will play Portia now that Marlowe acts no more!

Though several dramatic stars have been named as possible successors to Marlowe two that stand pre-eminently above the others are Margaret Illington and Mary Mannering.

Neither of these stars have devoted their dramatic gifts to Shakespearan plays, though Rosalind and Portia have been the long cherished ambition of Margaret Illington and should she become Sothern's leading woman, which will be formal acknowledgement of her succession to Marlowe, she'll doubtless, essay Shakespearan roles.

Miss Mannering's talent has been identified with the modern romantic plays, rather than the classic drama and should she shine beside Sothern, their repertoire would probably be restricted to the romantic and picturesque drama.

Margaret Illington, now playing in Henry Arthur Jones' "The Lie," is the younger of the two actresses said to be poising their shoulders for Marlowe's mantle. She is 34, and though hers is no longer the sylphlike form of a Juliet she has the vivacity and the spirit of youth and the emotional intensity that would fit her well for many of the Shakespearan heroines.

Miss Mannering has reached the unromantic age of 39—11 years younger than Marlowe, but she'd bring statleliness and beauty and a fine dramatic intelligence to the position just vacated by the loveliest of Juliets, though the "maid of Verona" is a role that could never be included in her repertoire.

An English woman by birth, Miss Mannering, or Florence Friend, to give her her real name, came ao America when still in her girlhood, played at the Lyceum theater, New York, and later appeared in "Trelawney of the Wells," "Janice Meredith," "To Have and to Hold," "Mistress Betty" and other romantis plays. She starred with James K. Hackett in "The Walls of Jericho" and later starred alone in "A Man's World."

William Winter, the noted critic, has said of Mary Mannering: "She has a figure, an expressive countenance, a demure look and a fond, caressing manner and the semblance of earnest feeling." After divorcing James K. Hackett five years ago, she married the Michigan millionaire, F. W. Wadsworth.

Margaret Illington, who left the stage for four years because it was "cruelly hard on women," has said of herself: "The stage is no place for a woman of my temperament. I am too intense in all my emotions. If I had the power of reserve all would be well, but that I have never had. I feel everything I act." Surely a good recommendation, even if unintentionally given, for an actress with Shakespearan ambition.

But Miss Illington changed her mind about the stage and came back two years ago to play "Kindling" and to prepare, so her friends say, for an adventure in Shakespeare. In Bernstein's "The Thief" and as John Drew's leading woman in "His House in Order," the actress won her present eminence in the theater.

The Lyceum theater in New York was Margaret Illington's dramatic training school! She married Daniel Frohman and became a Frohman "leading woman" and was associated with many distinguished actors, among them Kyrle Bellew, with whom she played in "The Thief." She's now the wife of E. J. Bowes, a Tacoma business man.

Wed After Forty Years of Wooing

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 13.—Time is an unknown quantity and the years have ceased to be milestones for Miss Eliza G. Starr and E. S. Hill, D. D., who have just commenced the last lap of their lives, TOGETHER!

What does it matter to them if the bride is 54 and the groom past 77? With the confidence of a tried friendship, which has lasted forty years, these two, whom a kind fate has united in the sunset of their lives, have set out to seek happiness in the great adventure, together. The five ushers at the wedding were five of the grandchildren of the groom. Dr. Hill came up from San Diego for the ceremony and Miss Starr traveled all the way from New York state, her home for a number of years. "Love is never old and hearts are always young," she says.

ROBISON PARK IS OFFICIALLY CLOSED

Robison park was officially closed Sunday with one of the largest crowds present during the day since the opening of the park last spring. A special musical program was rendered by Boemhke's orchestra and at 6 o'clock a balloon ascension was made by William Crowl. Manager C. H. Williams expects to remain at the park about a month longer before leaving for his home in the east, during which time he will make a number of improvements preparatory to the opening of the park next season. While the park has made no money for Mr. Williams on account of weather conditions, he says he has been fully repaid for his efforts by the many letters he has received from hundreds of children, aged women and old soldiers whom he has entertained during the summer.

There were crowds at all the parks Sunday on account of the warm weather. The country roads were lined throughout the entire day with automobiles.

About five hundred attended the Buffaloes' picnic in Kluge's grove and the sheriffs' picnic in the Fitzgerald grove was also largely attended.

The annual family outing of the German Beneficial Union was held at Winkler's grove east of the city Sunday afternoon.

Several members of the Ben Hur tribes in Fort Wayne will attend the fifteenth annual session of the western central Ohio district congress of the order at Lima, Ohio, next Wednesday.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

OPERA, MINSTRELS, GIRLS.

It remained for John W. Vogel to do what, it seems to us, should have been done many years ago. Thirty years of Mr. Vogel's life have been devoted to minstrelsy and few managers in that line accomplished so much. But now Mr. Vogel is offering us what he is pleased to term an operatic, minstrel farce comedy; a musical show with enough minstrelsy to please those who prefer that form of entertainment. In fact "Japland," for that is the title of the vehicle used by Mr. Vogel for the alliance of the several forms of amusement, contains more than a modern minstrel first part as well as a complete act of grand and comic opera, farce comedy and extravaganza. "Japland" will be seen a tthe Majestic Wednesday and Thursday, with matinee daily.

AT KEITH PALACE

Frank Fogarty, Famous Humorist, Tops Strong Keith Program.

With the inimitable Frank Fogarty, the Dublin minstrel, topping the bill, the Keith Palace today presents its second Keith bill of the current season. In Mr. Fogarty Fort Wayne is to make the acquaintance, through the medium of the vaudeville stage, of a wit of international fame, a monologist whose sparkling stories of Celtic folk-lore and whose character paintings have been the goal toward which ambitious humorists have striven for years. Mr. Fogarty, brilliant as he is, does not scintillate alone in the New Palace firmament this week, as included on the bill with him are Miss Agnes Scott and Harry Keane, in the delightful little sketch, "The Final Decree." The noted composer, Ernest R. Ball, whose contributions to song-land include "Mother McCree," "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," "In the Garden of My Heart," "Love Me and the World is Mine," "A Little Bit of Heaven Called Ireland" and other equally popular compositions, will present a singing pianologue in which he will employ only his own song hits. A Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic feature, Melissa Ten Eyck and Max Wolly, in a series of graceful dances and striking poses, entitled "The Gambols of the Gods," is one of the promising attractions on this strong bill. Harry Adler and Miss Anna Arline will provide a distinct novelty in the skit called "A New Idea." Margaret and William Cutty, of the famous Cutty family, and the Four Janleys, world famous exponents of risley equilibristics, complete this splendid program.

AT THT EMPRESS

Trio of Live Comedians.

The trio of comedians, Meyer Harris, George Hart and Fred DuBois, with the French burlesque production, "The Queens of the Follies Bergere," keep the Empress houses in an uproar all the time with their quick-fire of new jokes. In wit and humor nothing has ever excelled these kings of the burlesque stage.

The catchy airs that predominate through the songs sung by the leading lady, Josephine Barlow, assisted by the well organized beauty chorus, is one of the features which stands out prominently in this great musical comedy. The costumes and fancy designed dresses that are worn by the ladies of the company, with a background of pretty scenery, would be a good subject for an artist's brush.

AT THE TEMPLE.

"THE GIRL IN THE TAXI."

Screaming Comedy to Be Presented by the Temple Players.

A cream comedy hit, one that brings laughs in a deluge from curtain to curtain is "The Girl in the Taxi," the vehicle in which the Temple players will be enjoyed all week, opening this evening. This widely heralded show has been the talk of Paris, London and New York for several seasons and but recently has been released to stock. It is essentially a farce comedy relying on the amusing lines and funny situations for the laughs.

The mix ups start at the flat of John Stewart, on Riverside drive, New York. Mr. Stewart's family is a wife and one son; the wife very much on the hen-with-one-chick order; the son just arriving in tennis flannels and $5.00 a month spending money—and objecting strenuously to the penury thus forced upon him. Indeed he has been making absent treatment love to a contortionist lady in the flat upstairs and pawning his father's clothes to buy flowers for her. Then Percy and Mary Peters appear upon the scene. Percy is looking for "The Girl in the Taxi," who proves to be Mrs. Smith, the wife of a perfume manufacturer, who comes to pay a visit to the Stewarts on the eventful evening which starts the play on its rapid-fire, speed-defying journey of joys and jealousies.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

LITTLE MARY PICKFORD.

Enthralls With Beautiful Character Drawing in "Esmeralda."

Mary Pickford, winsomest of all screen immortals, reaches the very pinnacle of her dramatic powers in "Esmeralda," the Famous Players company's beautiful picturization of Frances Hodgson Burnett's touching story. The story fairly overflows with that kindly, homely sentiment which the author invariably weaves into her fascinating stories, while the character of "Esmeralda" seemingly was written to conform to the inimitable personality of "Little Mary."

Tomorrow and Wednesday the brilliant Charlotte Walker, who scored pronouncedly in "Kindling," will appear in a new Lasky-Paramount production, "Out of Darkness," written by Hector Turnbull, former dramatic critic of the New York Tribune.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

GEORGE NASH AND "BROKEN COIN"

Due to the fact that several thousand local serial-play enthusiasts are following "The Broken Coin" with an unusual display of interest, the Orpheum theater has decided after numerous requests to continue this wonderful Universal serial-drama, and the thirteenth installment will be shown today. George Nash, the eminent Broadway star, makes his maiden appearance in films in the headlining attraction of the day, a filmization of the noted stage success, "The Cotton King."

John Osborne, the cotton king, refuses to go into a cotton cornor, and buys a big mill in the Suth, which is blown up. He is in love with one girl, and is accused of running with another. The bottom falls out of the cotton market, and he is ruined. His rival, the villian of the piece, attempts to kill Osborne's fiancee, but is defeated. The girl escapes, the villian is unmasked, and the lovers are made happy. Sensational scenes on the cotton market and illustrative of life in the South are shown in the picture.

The chief detective of a New York hotel, worked hard and earnestly on a stolen watch "case," and finally recovered the missing article. As a reward, the owner of the watch, a woman, named her dog after the nice man.

SPFLD ILL. FT. WAYNE OFFICE ANTHONY HOTEL BLDG. LIMA OHIO

BY THE NIP-IN AT THE WAIST YOU MAY KNOW IT'S BRAND NEW.

By Betty Brown.

The gently nipped-in waistline is one of the things you can't help but notice if you cast an observant eye on the new fall frocks, for almost all of them are more or less in-drawn at the waist. Just to show you how graceful and pretty this fitted waist may be, I sketched this model the other day in the studio of Mme. Reichert of the Fashion Art League of America. Velvet in a golden brown tint was used to develop the gown, which proves its up-to-dateness, not only by the fitted waistline, but by the flaring skirt of the rather long coat. Tabs embroidered in green and brown make a pretty garniture at the belt line; the full skirt is cut with a flare, and it's a bit shorter than even the shoe-top length skirt.

FASHION

A Rehearsal Of the Newest Ideas.

BY MRS. KINGSLEY.

AN evening gown of thin black is a satisfactory possession at all times, whether intended primarily for winter or for summer wear. It is always ready to put on, never soiled, looks cool enough in summer and warm enough in winter, and one never tires of it. It has another advantage, that of looking simple enough for an informal occasion and dressy enough for an elaborate one. Very many such gowns were sent from Paris this year, as we should naturally expect. Even those French women who are not actually wearing mourning are dressing sympathetically in sombre colors. For these last cut jet was revived to give a discreet brightness, and frocks of thin black materials banded with jet in graduated widths rivaled the ruffles of the mode. The crowns of transparent hats have been incrusted with it, and their brims edged with jet beads. A charming new scarf has appeared of a length of black chiffon edged with narrow braids of jet, with broad bands at each end, giving it weight and causing it to take most becoming lines when draped around the shoulders.

Striped blouses and corsages are one of the novelties of the fashion season. Suppose the morning tailored suit is to be worn. Then you will don a sheer striped blouse with plain lawn collar and cuffs. In the corner of the collar and cuffs will be seen a little clover leaf flower or geometrical figure done in the color of the stripe in the blouse. This stripe, it is well understood, is of the color of the tailored suit, blue, buff or black.

A vest front, a skeleton one that passes in two long strips only in front and ends in vest points just below the waist, is brought around toward the back by a narrow two-inch extension stripe and hidden under the blouse's lace sides. A striped belt shows between the opened vest front and passes around to the back and ties in two big loops. Six-inch cuffs of the striped material bind the wrists and a frill of net falls over the hand. A rolled-over collar of the silk is faced with the lace and descends in a V. Below this comes the vest flap, an oblong extension of about eight inches, fastened with round black glass buttons that nearly touch.

BUYING A HOME

BY MRS. McCUNE.

"WE'VE been thinking of getting a home—our ideal home, for years," began Mrs. Little, "but there were always so many expenses we thought we just couldn't do it. John and I were always talking about it and always putting it off from year to year.

"I guess we've lived in every kind of a house and flat in the city—including housekeeping rooms when we first came here. Maybe I didn't get sick of moving. It seemed we never had a real home, and we used to say our children could never look back to their childhood with happy memories of the old home—because there wasn't any home. It was just one succession of moving days.

"Now our oldest daughter is married nicely and the other two children have positions so that they are no longer an expense to us. So father said, about a couple of months ago: 'Mother,' he said, 'don't you think we might start in and buy that home now. We're getting along in years and it's time. And I'd like,' he said, 'to be carried out of my own doorway for the last long journey.'

"That made me cry, because I don't like to think of my John leaving me. But I agreed that it was high time we were starting if we ever intended to buy. So we began to look around.

"Say, how do you suppose all the real estate agents get wind of it when you're thinking of buying? I never saw anything like it. It seems we'd no more than made up our minds when they all knew it! Anyway, John and I had more automobile rides to look at places!

"But we kept getting more and more particular. You see, we learned so much from all those real estate agents that took us around. And then, of course, we were looking for a place minus all the faults of all the flats and houses we've rented.

"We'd almost decided we couldn't find what we wanted and would have to build, when a woman agent called us up one evening and said she guessed she had what we wished. We'd heard that before, but still we didn't want to pass up a possibility. And it happened that she did have what seemed to be almost perfect. It's a perfect dream of a little place and has home all over it. And there are climbing roses on the back porch. John and I said in chorus: 'We'll take it.'

"Yesterday all the papers were signed up and we got the key to the house. Maybe you think it's silly, but I put that key under my pillow when I went to bed last night.

"I lay awake all night just thinking about that dream of a home and planning the pictures and the furniture and all. John slept and snored same as always—he'd sleep through a fire. 'How can that man sleep,' I thought, 'when I'm so happy?'

"Just think—a real home for ourselves. And if our own children have no childhood memories of a homestead, our grandchildren will have, anyway."

"It's simply fine," beamed Mrs. Smith. "But it seems to me I'd get tired living in one place all the time. I always say to my husband, it's necessary to move every once so often just to get rid of a lot of truck that gathers when you stay too long in one place."

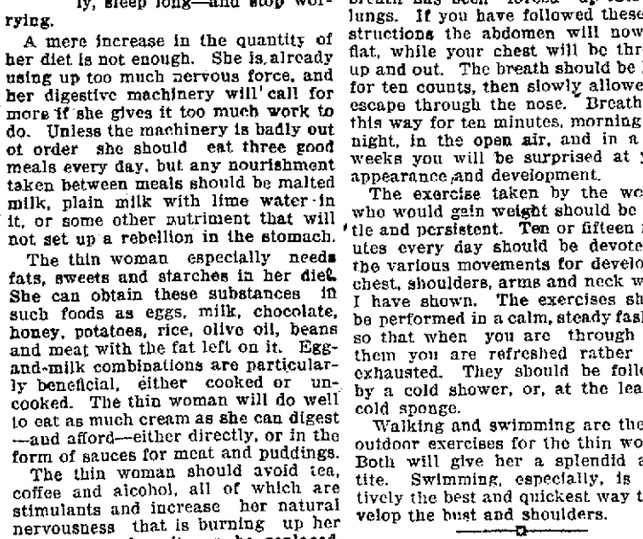
GOOD MANNERS

HOSPITALITY demands the courtesy of a gracious note of thanks. To call up your hostess on the 'phone and tell her what a delightful visit you had at her house is not sufficient.

Send the note at once, don't put off writing it until several days have elapsed since your visit.

The girl who makes a point of acknowledging a favor done her by a gracious little note, sent at once, wins more friends than she who spends much time in telephoning or in being effusive in her thanks when she happens to meet her hostess perhaps several weeks after the favor has been granted or the hospitality offered her.

Good manners always pay in the long run. They may seem to be unnecessary and irksome at the time, but the girl who is always courteous and who is careful to carry out all the little forms and obligations of the social life will find that after all it does pay.



DINING ROOM IN HUNTER'S SCREEN WITH FLEMISH OAK FINISH.

ODDS & ENDS

THE proper care of the hair does not require a woman to scour her scalp with soap and drench her hair with water until a shampoo, including drying the hair, takes the better part of the day. In fact, authorities say that the less soap and water used on the hair the better, as the alkali and moisture tend to make the hair coarse, dull and brittle. If you want to keep the scalp clean and the hair light and fluffy, try dry shampooing.

A HOSTESS who is ever on the lookout for novelties for her afternoon tea table should be sure to serve her crackers in little baskets made of themselves. Use salted wafers for the basket, allowing one to a side, and tying them together with a narrow satin ribbon about a quarter of an inch in width. Put this on a handsome plate covered with a lace doily and pile the other crackers in and around it. The effect is charming and will be much admired. One hostess used these cracker baskets as corner pieces on her luncheon table. In the center were purple asters, while the crackers were tied with purple ribbon the same shade and were filled with purple and white grapes.

A KITCHEN sink should be kept spotlessly clean. The best way to clean a galvanized iron sink is to rub strong soap powder into every corner and over every inch of surface. Let it rest for ten or fifteen minutes, then with a scrubbing brush and boiling water go over the whole, rubbing vigorously. When thoroughly scrubbed polish with a soft flannel cloth wet with kerosene. This prevents the sink from rusting after the strong powder has been used. For a porcelain-lined sink use kerosene first, last and every time.

ODDS and ends of a bright gingham can be made into a pretty chair cushion. Cut the pieces in octagon shapes and join with white dress beading. One cushion made in this manner was tufted. The pattern was cut double, the two pieces filled with cotton, lightly pasted together, then joined with the beading, which was stitched on the machine. Colored material can be used in the same manner and joined with some bright dress braid. Striped material in red and white can be made into tiny star shapes, with an irregular stripe and finished in the same manner. Pincushions are made of silk, joined with lace insertion through which narrow ribbon is run.

BREAD that is not very stale can be used to advantage in bread tarts. Cut the bread a quarter of an inch thick, and stamp it into circles with a biscuit cutter. Moisten these circles with milk, but do not use enough milk to make them lose their shape. Then spread over them some sort of jam or preserve, and place two circles together like a sandwich. Put them in a frying pan with a little butter, and saute them on both sides to a delicate color. Sprinkle with powdered sugar, and serve very hot. A fruit charlotte is another excellent dessert in which to utilize stale bread. Cut the bread into slices about a quarter of an inch thick, then into strips two inches wide. Butter a mold, clip the slices of bread with melted butter and arrange them around the bottom and sides of the mold, slightly overlapping. Fill the center with apple sauce, seasoned with butter and sugar, and put a teaspoon of apricot jam in the center of this. Cover the top of the mold with strips of the bread and bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes. The bread should be amber in color when done. Serve with a hard sauce. Any stewed fruit may be used in making this dessert.

THE new way to make puff paste is to take half a cup of any shortening, butter, lard, drippings or any of those sold in cans, and put into a mixing bowl with a cup and one-half of flour and give just a few chops or until the lumps of fat are about an inch square. In making an apple pie add to the dry flour one-quarter teaspoonful each of nutmeg and ground cinnamon, the same amount of salt and half teaspoonful of baking powder. This is an improvement over putting the flavoring in with the apples, as in the old way. The whole is mixed to a stiff paste with cold water, then turned on to a floured board still lumpy and rolled out. This mashes the lumps into irregular layers of flakes. After rolling once the sides of the pastry are folded over toward the middle, making three folds and rolled out again. The top and bottom are brought together and there is a third rolling. The pastry is now ready for use, but it will be improved by being put in the ice box for an hour or so.

A WOMAN who sleeps in a house full of rattling windows was delighted to receive the other day a dozen bent springs of steel for insertion between the sashes and casings of rattling windows. They are flat at one end and swell toward the other, thus fitting themselves to any casing. Another novelty is the radiator brush. These are long or short and as flat and thin as can be, the bristles being wired in. They are the only things that will clean a radiator, going between the various pipes and getting out every bit of dust. In lamb's wool there are long-handled brushes of the wool for wiping off wall paper, and these take off every bit of dust. They are also useful for dusting highly polished or oiled floors. They may be washed with lukewarm water and white soap when sufficiently soiled. Short-handled sticks, with round swabs of the wool, come in many sizes for dusting picture frames and furniture, and single gloves, with the palms and fingers lined with lamb's wool, are also good for dusting. All are washable and come out when rinsed and shaken as white as when first bought.

HOW TO GAIN WEIGHT

BY EDNA EGAN.

TO develop her figure, the thin woman should eat wisely, breathe deeply, exercise sanely, sleep long—and stop worrying.

A mere increase in the quantity of her diet is not enough. She is already using up too much nervous force, and her digestive machinery will call for more if she gives it too much work to do. Unless the machinery is badly out of order she should eat three good meals every day, but any nourishment taken between meals should be malted milk, plain milk with lime water in it, or some other nutriment that will not set up a rebellion in the stomach.

The thin woman especially needs fats, sweets and starches in her diet. She can obtain these substances in such foods as eggs, milk, chocolate, honey, potatoes, rice, olive oil, beans and meat with the fat left on it. Egg-and-milk combinations are particularly beneficial, either cooked or uncooked. The thin woman will do well to eat as much cream as she can digest—and afford—either directly, or in the form of sauces for meat and puddings.

The thin woman should avoid tea, coffee and alcohol, all of which are stimulants and increase her natural nervousness that is burning up her flesh faster than it can be replaced. She should also eschew vinegar, lemon juice, pickles, sharp fruit juices, sour sauces, hot peppery dishes. She may eat and drink practically everything else, so far as her digestion permits. Unlike her stout sister, she need not even fear the candy box.

Eight or nine hours a night is none too long a sleep for the thin woman. Also, she will do well to adopt this summer the hot weather custom of the siesta that obtains in many countries. If she is in circumstances that permit it, a nap after lunch will do her a world of good.

The hours she spends in bed will not be particularly helpful, however, unless she resolves to banish all her useless worries—which means all of them, for no worry was ever useful, ever did a particle of good. The thin woman must cheer up.

The deep breathing exercise is so important for the thin woman that I am going to repeat once more the directions for it.

Stand relaxed and let the arms hang. Hold the head and chest erect. Inhale deeply through the nose. Continue breathing until you feel the breath has been forced up into the lungs. If you have followed these instructions the abdomen will now lie flat, while your chest will be thrown up and out. The breath should be held for ten counts, then slowly allowed to escape through the nose. Breathe in this way for ten minutes, morning and night, in the open air, and in a few weeks you will be surprised at your appearance and development.

The exercise taken by the woman who would gain weight should be gentle and persistent. Ten or fifteen minutes every day should be devoted to the various movements for developing chest, shoulders, arms and neck which I have shown. The exercises should be performed in a calm, steady fashion, so that when you are through with them you are refreshed rather than exhausted. They should be followed by a cold shower, or, at the least, a cold sponge.

Walking and swimming are the best outdoor exercises for the thin woman. Both will give her a splendid appetite. Swimming, especially, is positively the best and quickest way to develop the bust and shoulders.

BOUDOIR CAPS

A NATURAL accompaniment of the negligee, be it of the pajama order or of a more feminine style, is the boudoir cap. Women adore these dainty contrivances of lace and ribbon, and rightly so, for the boudoir cap covers a multitude of sins in the way of a mussed coiffure and makes the wearer look neat and pretty, when without it she would largely resemble a fright.

Men, on the other hand, are said to dislike these airy bits of nothingness, but it is safe to say that when appropriately worn the boudoir cap appeals to a man's sense of beauty and he has nothing but admiration to bestow upon it. What man does not like to see his wife sitting opposite him in the morning contentedly sipping her coffee, dressed in a dainty and becoming negligee, her coiffure partly covered by an attractive cap? But what man, on the other hand, cares to see those same ruffles bending over the frying pan assimilating the odors of the kitchen, losing their freshness and daintiness by this coarse contact? When once frills have been so desecrated they lose their charm. To many men light pink is the most odious color in the rainbow because it calls up recollections of shattered illusions—recollections of that wonderful creation of crepe de chine and lace that began its career in the dear delightful honeymoon days and ended it several seasons later, gray and bedraggled, as the easiest thing to put on in the early morning when duties called the wearer reluctantly from sleep.

Nut Chowder.

Take ½ pound of mixed nut meats which have been broken into small pieces. Put them in a saucepan and allow them to simmer for an hour and 30 minutes. Peel and dice several potatoes, a turnip, and a good sized onion. Have a pint of canned or stewed tomatoes. Line the bottom of a kettle with a layer of potatoes, add a layer of the turnip and onion with a sprinkling of thyme, sweet marjoram, chopped parsley and salt, then a layer of tomatoes, and lastly the nut meats. Let simmer 30 minutes, then add 1 pint of milk and a little thickening.

Carameled Carrots.

The humble carrot, so little thought thought of by Americans, becomes on the Hungarian table a delicious sweet to serve with meat.

Cut one or two large carrots into thin pieces about an inch long, put them in a sauce pan, sprinkle them well with sugar and add 1 tablespoonful of butter. Pour on enough water to just cover them and let them simmer until all but about 1 tablespoonful has boiled away, by which time they will be soft. Then sift a little flour over them and stir until it is all absorbed.

Thus carameled, they do not taste like the ordinary carrot at all, and they may be used with meat or as a luncheon dish.

Canned Peas.

When canned peas are to be used, open and drain them early in the morning; put in a bowl of cold water, changing the water several times. Twenty minutes before they are needed, put them in agate pan over a slow fire with salt, pepper, a little sugar and a large spoonful of butter. Don't cook, but toss about occasionally that they may be thoroughly heated.

Sour Cream Cabbage.

Shred ½ small firm head of cabbage; put in kettle with cold water to cover; add salt to season; boil until tender; drain off water; add ½ a cup of sour cream and 4 tablespoons of vinegar. Let it boil up once before serving. It will take a delicate pink and is extremely palatable.

Baked Macaroni With Tomatoes.

Put 1 cup of macaroni broken into ½ inch lengths into boiling salted water, and cook until perfectly tender; turn into a colander to drain, then pour cold water over it and let drain again. Mix together ¼ of a cup of flour, ½ teaspoon of salt, ½ teaspoon of curry powder and 1 teaspoon of paprika, and stir it into 1 rounding tablespoon of butter heated to the bubbling point. Add gradually 1½ cups strained tomato liquor and stir until smooth and thick, then add 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1 teaspoon of minced parsley, ¼ of a teaspoon of onion juice, and cook gently for about 5 minutes. Butter a baking dish, turn in half of the macaroni, cover with half of the sauce and sprinkle with ¼ of a cup of soft American cheese cut in small bits; add the rest of the macaroni, then the rest of the sauce, sprinkle with another layer of cheese, then with fine crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown.

Fried Stuffed Eggs.

Fried stuffed eggs make a delicious luncheon dish. Boil the eggs for 12 minutes and then drop them into cold water and remove the shells without breaking the whites. Cut the eggs in two through the middle, take out the yolks, and mix them with minced ham and chicken, or any savory meat on hand. Season to taste, add with salt and pepper the uncooked yolk of an egg, a few bread crumbs, and a little butter. Minced parsley and a soupspoon of onion juice add to their flavor. Then put the eggs together again, pressing the sides tight; they should not be filled so full as to prevent this, and roll the eggs first in the white of egg and then in bread crumbs, repeating the process if the surface is not well covered. Fry in a basket in deep fat and serve with tomato sauce and celery or parsley as a garnish.

Mock Terrapin.

One cup veal cut in dice shape, 1 cup cream or rich milk, one hard-boiled egg cut in small pieces, 1 tablespoon butter. Put all together in a stew pan, season with salt and pepper to taste, heat to boiling point, and thicken with 1 teaspoon of cornstarch dissolved in milk. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Green Pepper Stuffed With Corn.

Cut around stem end of pepper about three-fourth around, leaving other fourth as hinge, forming a lid. Put peppers in cold water sufficient to cover and bring to a boil. Drain, cover with freshly boiling water, and cook slowly until tender. Drain again, salt lightly, and allow to cool. Allow 2 tablespoons of butter to become hot in frying pan, add 3 cups corn, 3 tablespoons boiling water in which is dissolved 1 teaspoon beef extract. Cook 5 minutes; add ½ cup cream, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper. Cook slowly until quite thick. Cool and fill peppers. Fasten down lids of peppers and place in buttered baking dish. Melt one tablespoon of butter in ½ cup boiling water, add 1 teaspoon of beef extract. Pour over peppers and bake for 25 minutes. Delicious when served with fish.

GIBBONS EASILY BESTS M'FARLAND

Brighton Beach, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a boxing match in this country, Mike Gibbons, of St. Paul, outpointed Packey McFarland, of Chicago, in a ten-round no decision contest here Saturday night. The bout, which brought together two of the cleverest boxers in the ring today, was hard fought from start to finish, but Gibbons scored the more frequent and more effective blows. McFarland showed that his long absence from the ring had dulled his speed and power to snap punches to vulnerable points of his opponent's head and body. McFarland showed flashes of his old rapid fire left but the leads were little more than snaps and did not check Gibbons in his assaults. McFarland appeared nervous when he entered the ring and was not as fined conditioned as his opponent. The St. Paul phantom immediately took the aggressive and showed that he intended to make a fight of it instead of a sparring exhibition.

There was power behind almost every blow that he landed and he found little difficulty in beating the stockyards boxer to the punch. For the first four rounds Gibbons was always in the lead, playing alternately for the head and body. In the fifth McFarland took the aggressive and being thoroughly warmed up, fought desperately to stem the tide of defeat. Gibbons met him half way, however, and the best the Chicago boxer could get was an even break in this round. Mike increased his speed in the sixth and scored the majority of effective blows. McFarland made a strong play for Gibbons' body but the latter covered so well that few of the blows reached their objective.

CASE OF TENNIS VS. BASEBALL

Tennis enthusiasts are claiming tennis as the national pastime. Baseballers look on them with deep seated pity. But there's no denying that tennis is coming. Its popularity is growing with such rapidity that it is hard to realize what a hold it has on the mass of people.

In the middle west it is estimated that one in every four persons between the ages of 15 and 25 plays tennis. And all players are enthusiasts. And now the question arises, what will become of baseball?

Well, this is what will happen—baseball will keep right on plodding. Baseball is here to stay. Tennis will never in the world depose it.

Tennis may become so popular that it is played everywhere by everyone, but, even so the interest in baseball will remain. There are now and always will be men and women who have a certain limited time for amusement in the daylight hours, say one afternoon a week, and to them tennis has not the charm it holds for the constant player. They will be content to have others do the playing. Tennis never can become as spectacular to watch as baseball, as the limited space, the few players, the very character of the game prohibits the things that are intensely interesting to great multitudes.

Baseball may become less popular as an amateur game, but as a professional game, tennis cannot supplant it. People will continue to watch it as they watch a play, they will watch it for the skill and the brawn there are there. They will flock to baseball, a game that has the essential requirements of a game to be watched, rather than to tennis, a game that needs to be played to be properly enjoyed.

NO WORRY AT THE MICHIGAN CAMP

"Hustle-'em-up" Yost isn't worrying. The Michigan football boss has seven veterans as the nucleus for this year's eleven, and the sophomore class is placing at his disposal about twenty promising looking rookies.

Michigan's prospects are bright—so bright that they dazzle Michiganders into the belief that this year's eleven will do stunts that will recall the days of Heston, Weeks, Snow, Redden and others who made "point-a-minute" elevens.

Johnny Maulbetsch is ready. Johnny was known last fall as "The Michigan Team," and Johnny, because of his amazing ground gaining powers won an almost unanimous vote for the All-American eleven.

The other 1914 regulars who were not shorn from Michigan via the graduation process, are: Cochran, captain and tackle; Reimann, tackle; Doane, Benton and Staatz, ends, and Watson, a great guard.

Most of these men were "green" last year, but before the end of November had developed into wonderful players. The seasoning will add to their ability and Yost won't look around for tackles or ends—and he'll need just one new guard.

Yost needs a center to replace Raynsford, three backfield men and a drop kicker.

From last year's second team Yost has as candidates for the line Rehor, Norton, Millard, Nelman, Skinner and Warner. For backfield candidates he has Bastian, Roehm, Zeiger, Calvin, Hildner, Johnson, McNamara and Boyle.

The 1914 freshman team furnishes the following: Linesmen—Howe, Robins, Lambert, Fobanz, Sharpe, Brazell, Willard, Biber, Loucks and Ingham; backfield—Raymond, Smith, Bixler, Brown, Schultz, Foster and Johnson.

Howe and Frobanz look best for the line. If both show well enough, Yost may make room for them, playing one at guard and the other at tackle, shifting Capt. Cochran to guard.

Some feel that with Maulbetsch back of the line Michigan has all the backfield needed. But Yost, probably for appearances sake, has decided to have the full quota.

Bastian, because of his work as a substitute, seems a certainty for one of the jobs. Zeiger and Hildner, because of kicking ability, may land the others, although Roehm will give both battle.

Smith and Schultz, who hail from Bay City, are touted as the best sophomores who yearn to become varsity halfbacks.

"I need a drop kicker—a real drop kicker," said Yost, "but I am confident that among the thirty-seven men who report Sept. 20 I'll find the kicker I want."

Sixteen Qualify for Golf Tournament.

Hamilton, 107; F. I. Brown, 107; A. E. Smith, 107; H. A. Perfect, 108; H. C. Rockhill, 109; W. B. Seavey, 110.

INDIAN TELLS OF REAL GAME FISH

(This is the first of two stories on fishing, told to C. L. Gilman, fisherman, hunter and writer, by Buckahtay Moingam, an Objibway Indian. The Indian used to depend upon the water and woods for his food. He had to know where to look for what he wanted. His traits and information have been passed down from one generation to another).

(By Buckahtay Moingam, as Told to C. L. Gilman).

A fish is like a man. When the weather is hot he wants to be cold and when it is cold he wants to be hot. So in summer he stays in deep water, or, on bright, hot days is in the shade. When the sun goes down or when it is cloudy he goes to shallow water to hunt food.

Indians know this because if the Indian does not catch fish maybe he does not eat. When he catches a fish he remembers the place and maybe he will tell somebody. By and by he will tell somebody else and after awhile all Indians know good places to fish.

It is nearly time for catching black bass. All spring Ah-shegun (black bass) watched his eggs in shallow water and fought with everybody who came past. There was no shallow water then for the little fish to hide in and the black bass had easy eating. In the summer then he is tired and fat and stays down where it is cold.

Soon as it is colder black bass will seek shallow water where he can lie in the sun. If you drop in a minnow or frog or crawfish where he can get it without any work, he might bite it.

Maske-no-zhe (the big pickerel) lives in deep water, two or three paddles deep (about ten or fifteen feet), where the little fish are bigger. He eats Oh-za (perch) and na-ma-bin (the sucker). At night or when the day is dark he will seek rushes.

When you see weeds growing in deep water and coming almost to the top, there is a place where the pickerel lives. It is a good place to fish deep with a little fish for bait. (Note—Good water to comb with a floating lure. An eight-pound northern pike coming after a pork chunk with his head out of the water and his mouth open is some sight).

Where the water is deep and cold and the bottom is rocky, is a good place to fish for Oh-gah (wall eyed pike). He like minnows. Na-ma-goes (lake trout) is another fish that swims deep.

In hot weather the trout hunts cold water. Where there is a spring at the bottom of a deep lake is a good place to fish for him. Or where a cold brook flows into the lake. Even in spring, when he is not in the coldest water, you must fish deep, about one paddle (five or six feet) for him. It is no good to fish for him unless you know where the water is cold. It is best to troll with a sinker to make the spoon go deep and a long line.

(The next story will appear tomorrow).

H. Underwood, 42, first; E. A. Wagner, 40, second; W. V. Beemer, 31, third.

BASEBALL CARRIED SPPALDING FROM $5 GROCERY JOB TO MULTI-MILLIONAIRE.

(By Brown Holmes).

A. G. Spalding, whose memory is revered in all parts of the country, following his death at Point Loma, Cal., his home, was devoted to baseball from his school days and through his connection with the game rose from grocery clerk to multi-millionaire.

Spalding was 65. He was born at Byron, Ill., then moved to Rockford, Ill., where he worked in a grocery for $5 a week, and was docked every time he took an afternoon off to play ball.

Spalding organized a kid team called the Pioneers and one of his players was Ross Barnes. Spalding and Barnes went into professional ball together at Boston, where Spalding became a great pitcher and Barnes a great second baseman.

At 17 Spalding's pitching caused him to be offered a job as bill clerk in a wholesale grocery at Chicago at $10 a week. Besides working in the grocery he was to pitch for the Forest City team. Spalding went to Chicago in the fall. Before the baseball season arrived the firm failed and Spalding returned to Rockford.

At 21 Spalding went to Boston in 1871 and pitched the team to five consecutive pennants. He was the only pitcher on the club. In 1876 he went to Chicago and was there until 1891, serving as manager, secretary and president consecutively.

In 1888 he organized a team that made the first baseball tour of the world, a trip that was not duplicated until Charley Comiskey led two teams around the globe two years ago.

Spalding was one of the organizers of the National league and was the main force in settling the war with the Players' brotherhood, which, for a time, threatened to disrupt the game.

After retiring from baseball activity Spalding organized a sporting goods concern and became wealthy.

An example of his determination to win at everything he tried was shown in 1890 when he was asked to run for the California senate, and although he had only thirty days in which to make a campaign, carried seventy-five legislative districts.

RECEIVES BAD CUT IN FOREHEAD

Charles Szink, a helper at a locomotive spring fire in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, sustained an injury at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning which rendered him unconscious for an hour and badly frightened his comrades, who feared he was fatally hurt. Mr. Szink with a heavy sledge, was attempting to knock the band off a locomotive spring, when a piece of broken spring leaf flew up and struck him, inflicting an angular wound extending over and down the side of the right eye. He was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where Dr. Budd VanSweringen attended him. It was found that the wound was a flesh one, but that the force of the blow caused temporary concussion and the injured man was unconscious when taken from the shops. Mr. Szink is not dangerously injured, however, the attending surgeon says. The young man is a son of C. A. Szink, the painter at the shops, who is off duty on account of the accident. He is helper for Blacksmith F. H. Gaylord.

WILL HAVE ROLL CALL.

G. I. A. No. 518, Will Take Inventory of Membership.

Now that the summer vacation season is practically over, Nickel Plate division No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the B. L. E., will have a roll call of officers and members and otherwise prepare for the fall and winter work. It is the desire of the officers that every member be present at the meeting next Thursday to answer to her name. The division now has forty-nine members and it is proposed to inaugurate a membership campaign soon. The ladies inaugurated the 1915-1916 series of pedro parties last week and will give the second one tomorrow afternoon at the hall and follow it up with an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. John Hood, 1150 West Main street, in the evening. All friends are invited to these affairs.

J. T. CALLAHAN ON THE JOB.

James T. Callahan, notice of whose appointment to the chief clerkship in Supt. W. F. Watterson's office, on the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate, was made by the Sentinel two or three weeks ago, arrived in the city from Conneaut Sunday and this morning assumed the duties of the office. Mr. Callahan succeeds P. J. H. Meyers, who went to California two months ago. Mr. Callahan has been chief train dispatcher of the eastern division of the road with headquarters at Conneaut, for six or seven years, but Fort Wayne was his home for many years and he is glad to be returned here. He is known to all the employes of the railways of Fort Wayne and no introduction is necessary.

BOOMING JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENT.

His good work as district president during the past eighteen months and as business agent for Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, has resulted in a boom in various places for Clayton H. Johnson for the presidency of the Indiana State Federation of Labor. The Fort Wayne unions are unanimously for him, it is said, and last week the South Bend News contained an editorial predicting his election to that office. The strongest opposition was removed when Charles Fox, of Terre Haute, was named for a position connected with the Indiana Workmen's Compensation law, the exceptance of which disqualifies him for office in the State Federation of Labor body.

J. A. LECHLER TO BE ORGANIZER.

James A. Lechler, machinist at the Wabash shops, has accepted the office of special organizer for the International Association of Machinists, with territory in the east, probably in the New England states. He has obtained leave of absence from the Wabash shops for ninety days, beginning next Wednesday, and will leave as soon as he has instructions from J. F. Anderson, first vice president of the International Association of Machinists, with charge of organization work. Not until he hears from Mr. Anderson will Mr. Lechler know to what territory he will be assigned. A special effort is being made to boom the eastern I. A. M. and it is said to be meeting with great success.

HEAVY MOVEMENT OF STUDENTS.

The Fort Wayne students will leave for the university tonight and tomorrow and it is expected that many more will come from the country, bringing the total handled by the Wabash during the two days up to over 200.

ADDED ANOTHER CREW.

Trainmaster Ogden Pierce, of the Chicago division of the Nickel Plate, added another crew to the regular list this morning, an indication that business is increasing. The personnel of the new crew is Conductor D. C. Potts and Brakemen C. W. Lathrop and T. A. Muldary. They had been on the extra list.

PENNSY TEAM DEFEATED.

MONTPELIER BANK SAFE BALKS.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 13. About $20,000 has been temporarily put out of circulation by the big safe at the First National bank in this city baffling all attempts to open it. The safe is one operated on a time basis and is always set to open about 7 o'clock in the morning, but Thursday the big safe refused to open and money had to be borrowed to conduct the business. The employes tried at different times to open it, but were unsuccessful, so a man from the factory was sent for and has worked all day today in an effort to open it, but has also been unsuccessful. He is awaiting further instructions from the factory.

FORT WAYNE MEN IN SMASH.

Peru, Ind., Sept. 14.—John Rogers and some companions of Fort Wayne were in an automobile wreck near here, but all escaped injury, when an automobile driven by Rogers plunged down the Wabash river embankment about two miles west of Peru. The car was badly damaged but Mr. Rogers and his three companions, Fred Smith, William Ollinger and George Umberger, all of Fort Wayne, were uninjured. According to the story told by the men they were attempting to get around a farm wagon when they slid off the embankment. The damaged car is being cared for at a local garage.

DEKALB SETTLER IS DEAD.

LaOtto, Ind., Sept. 13.—Moses Simon, a pioneer of DeKalb county, near here, will be buried this afternoon after services in the Methodist Episcopal church here and interment will be made in the cemetery at Swan. He had lived in this vicinity for sixty-seven years. Mrs. Simon, who was Miss Abigail Homesher and to whom he was married on March 20, 1848, died four years ago. Six of a family of seven children survive. They are: Mrs. Martha Kinsey, of South Whitley; Oliver Simon of this place; Mrs. Annice Bowman, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Esther Duglay, of Churubusco, and Mrs. Ella Bridenstine and Miss Cornelia Simon, at home.

WAS KILLED IN MOTOR SMASH.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 13.—Fred Davis, a former Adams county boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Davis, formerly of this city, now of Chicago, was killed in a motorcycle accident Thursday morning at Chicago, but word of his death was received by telegram only Saturday. The boy's grandfather, James Boyd, and aunt, Mrs. Addie Boyd, left for Chicago. The funeral will be held today.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT BURIED.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 13.—The remains of John Schmidt, 45, of this city, who was killed in a hunting accident at Wallace, Neb., arrived in Hartford City Saturday. John R. Johnston, who was at the head of the party of which Mr. Schmidt was a member, was not able to come on from Chicago until later, as he was taken ill there, due to the strain under which he has been. A party of Knights of Columbus and members of the office force of Mr. Johnston met the train and accompanied the body to the house, west of the city. Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church. Interment in the Odd Fellows' building.

MONTPELIER CARNIVAL OPENS.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 13.—The carnival will open in this city today under the auspices of the firemen. The streets have been decorated for the occasion and everything is in readiness. A carnival was to have been held in Hartford City next week, but when the management learned of the Montpelier carnival he cancelled his engagement at Hartford City and will stage it at Gas City next week.

FORT WAYNE BARBER LEAVES.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 13.—C. M. Swigart, of this city, has sold a half interest in his barber shop here to Ernest Linn, of Fort Wayne, who has been here several days looking over the situation. The business had increased so that additional facilities and help were necessary and Mr. Swigart decided to take a partner.

FINDS STEEL SAWS IN JAIL.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 13.—Four steel hack saws were discovered today in a cell at the Wells county jail by James Brown, a youthful prisoner, in a crack above the door of a room in which the toilet for prisoners is located.

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Boys and Matches are Blamed for Big Blaze on East Jefferson Street.

The barn situated in the rear of the home of Mrs. Mary Colerick, 315 East Jefferson street, was destroyed by fire at 10 o'clock Saturday evening and two adjoining buildings were badly damaged. It is thought that boys who have been in the habit of playing in the barn are responsible for the blaze.

The barn was empty with the exception of the winter supply of coal, but this was nearly all saved. The barn belonging to George P. Dudenhoefer, 311 East Jefferson street, was badly damaged and the flames were also communicated to to barn at 317 Jefferson street, owned by Joseph Winecord. All three structures were insured.

The fire was only a square and a half from Hope hospital and many people who thought that the fire was at that place rushed to the scene and shortly after the department arrived several thousand people had congregated.

VEGETABLE GROWERS MEET.

Appoint Committee to Investigate High Cost of Living.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Progressive advertising, co-operation, establishment of the national market commission, and other subjects of vital importance to producer and consumer were discussed yesterday at the sessions of the national convention of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America.

A movement was started by Howard W. Selby, of Philadelphia, president, of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' association, to run a membership campaign to bring the membership of the national association up to 10,000. More than 1,500 members are attending the convention.

One of the most important events of the session was the passage of a resolution appointing a committee of five members of the association to investigate the cause of the present high cost of living and to draw up a plan of reducing this cost as much as possible.

"PAWED" BY A LEOPARD.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 13.—Leopold Dryfus, one of Lafayette's wealthiest business men, is suffering from a badly lacerated right arm, the result of trying to feed wild animals in a circus which was showing here last night. Dryfus, who conducts a packing plant and several meat markets, was feeding fresh meat to a leopard, when the animal stuck its paw through the cage and tore Dryfus's arm open from the shoulder to the wrist. He was badly frightened and is suffering also from nervous shock.

Members of the Mizpah patrol and band will go to South Bend Saturday, September 18, to attend the first interstate fair held in St. Joseph county in twenty years. $5,000.00 PAID TO MRS. NICHOLS

CASHIER WAS DROWNED WHILE FISHING

The many friends of Mrs. Rachel M. Nichols, widow of the late Frank M. Nichols, cashier of the State Bank of Lima, at Howe, Indiana, will be pleased to know that she has received from the Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident association a check for $5,000.00 on account of the accidental death of her husband on the 12th day of August.

Had Paid in Only $30.

The check was issued to Mrs. Nichols within three days after the proofs of death were in the hands of the association—another instance of the absence of "red tape" in settling claims against this splendid Fort Wayne institution.

Mr. Nichols had paid in to the association only $30 in assessments.

How the Accident Occurred.

Mr. Nichols, one of the best-known business men of his community, had gone fishing at Ferrell Lake on the fatal day, accompanied by a little son. He was standing in a boat, several rods from shore, when, in making a cast, he lost his balance and fell into the water. At the same time, the boat was tipped to such an extent as to let in a quantity of water which almost caused it to sink with the boy.

Just at this moment, F. G. Smeltzley came driving by. He heard the boy's cry of distress and hastened to attempt to give relief to Mr. Nichols who had risen to the surface. On wading into the water, however, he became partially mired in the mud which coats the bottom of the lake. He was also unable to save Mr. Nichols after a boat had been procured, although the boy was rescued. The body of Mr. Nichols was removed shortly afterward.

Mrs. Nichols' Grateful Letter.

The gratitude of Mrs. Nichols for the prompt payment of the claim against the Accident association is expressed in the following letter which the association received from her:

Howe, Ind., Aug. 30, 1915.

Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident Association, Fort Wayne, Ind.,

Gentlemen:

I am today in receipt of your check, No. 7933, on the First National Bank, of Fort Wayne, Ind., for Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), in full settlement of my claim against the Association, on account of the accidental death of my late husband, (Frank M. Nichols), who met death by accidental drowning on August 12th, 1915. My proofs were completed and sent to you under date of August 25th, 1915.

I wish to thank you for the courtesy extended to me under these circumstances, and also wish to thank you for the promptness with which my claim has been handled and paid.

RACHEL R. NICHOLS,
Beneficiary.

Splendid Growth of Mercantile.

The past year has been one of marked growth of the Fort Wayne Mercantile Accident association, due largely to the growing knowledge among the people of Fort Wayne and various other parts of the state that the Mercantile provides the best protection at the lowest cost; that it pays its claims promptly and without the usual annoying delays in such instances.

Costs $10 a Year.

The low cost of protection in the Mercantile is one of its attractive features. At no time have policy-holders paid more than $10 per year for protection which may be presented briefly as follows:

Death by accident, $5,000.00.
Loss of both arms or legs, $5,000.00.
Loss of both eyes, $5,000.00.
Loss of one hand or foot, $1,250.00.
Loss of one eye, $1,250.00.
Loss of one leg, $2,500.00.
Loss of one arm, $2,500.00.
Total disability, $25 per week.
Partial disability, $12.50 per week.

Best Protection at Lowest Cost.

A study of the above figures will convince the honest investigator that the Mercantile provides the best of protection at the lowest possible cost. This condition is due to the fact that the effort from the beginning has been to provide accident insurance at actual cost. A small, efficient office force is maintained, and no large salaries are paid to those in charge of the management of the association.

Louis F. Curdes is the president of the association; George W. Pixley, vice president, and L. H. Ransom, secretary treasurer. The directors, in addition to the gentlemen mentioned, are: R. D. Hudgel, chairman; William Lawson, U. S. Shoff, J. A. Rossell, James C. Craig and Wm. M. Leedy. Mr. Ransom is in direct charge of the association offices.

Fort Wayne people, especially, are recognizing in ever-enlarging measure the value of the Mercantile in the commercial life of the city and are showing their confidence and appreciation by joining the association as policy-holders.

Secretary Ransom will welcome the visit of any who are interested in securing the best accident insurance at the lowest cost. His office—third floor of the People's Trust building—is convenient to reach. The 'phone number is 2494. Many who have joined the Mercantile are delighted with their common-sense move. The readers of this paper are urged to identify themselves with this substantial home institution.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS INAUGURAL PICNIC

As an experiment the picnic of the Allen County Sheriffs' Protective association, Sunday, was some degrees more of a success than the most sanguine of its promoters anticipated. It was scheduled as first annual affair of the association and interest in the outing, as well as ideal picnic weather, drew a crowd of about 1,000 people to Fitzgerald's grove, in St. Joe township, near Robison park. The crowd began to arrive about 10 o'clock in the morning and kept increasing until late in the afternoon. Arrangements for the picnic were perfect and there was refreshment and diversion for all who attended.

At a short business session of the association during the forenoon the association re-elected its officers as follows: President, Amiel C. Gladieux; secretary, Henry Branning, jr.; treasurer, Andrew Blume, of St. Joe township. After a few words of welcome by Sheriff Gladieux, Prosecuting Attorney H. H. Hilgemann addressed the members of the association on the work for which it was organized, the best means for its effectiveness and the notable freedom of Allen county from crime.

Refreshments were dispensed through the medium of the time-honored basket picnic and there were plenty of baskets and each one was filled. Following the dinner there was a program of athletic events. The Silver Star Cornet band, of Adams township, furnished music throughout the picnic.

STREETS OF TOWN TO BE PAVED WITH GOLD

Kusa, Akla., Sept. 13.—The main business street of Kusa will be paved with material which carries a per cent of both gold and silver. The material is the residium or "sludge" from a zinc smelter which George E. Nickolson and associates are building here.

Paving the streets of an Oklahoma town with gold will be done in the next sixty days, according to an official of the townsite company who completed arrangements today with the smelter people to save the waste paving material. Much of the one hundred tons of ore that will be smelted daily at Kusa carries rich gold and silver values. The ore is shipped here from Montana, Idaho, Utah and other mountain states. When the gold value is sufficiently rich to defray the cost of shipment it is sold to smelters in Colorado that make a specialty of handling precious metals. If found to be insufficient it will be used on Kusa streets.

It is estimated that about ten tons of excellent paving material a day will be saved, practically all of which will carry gold and silver. None of the Joplin ore has precious metal. Thousands of tons, however, will find its way into the Kusa smelter.

None Equal to Chamberlain's.

"I have tried most all of the cough cures and find there is none that equal Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes W. V. Harner, Montpelier, Ind. When you have a cold give this remedy a trial and see for yourself what a splendid medicine it is. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

By the Past Chiefs' Association of the Pythian Sisters.

At a meeting of the Past Chiefs' association of the Pythian Sisters at the home of Martha Lotz the following officers were elected: President, Anna Wohlach; vice president, Edna Black; secretary, Cassie Clark; treasurer, Ella Hartle. Mrs. Martha Lotz was named delegate from Rathbone temple, No. 31, Pythian Sisters, to the grand temple meeting at Indianapolis in October.

Billousness and Constipation.

It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by billousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of billousness and constipation." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Being obliged to buy in greater quantities, we were able to beat down the cost prices to the absolute minimum. That's why we can undersell. This Dining Room Suite offer proves. Come in and see for yourself.

The Table

This extension table has a 48-inch top which extends to six feet. It is equipped with a patented lock to prevent spreading. The pedestal is solid. Look at the picture for a complete realization of the beauty of the buffet. It is an exact match for the table in material, construction and exquisite finish. Has two top drawers, one lined for silver; two spacious china closets; and a large, roomy drawer at the bottom for linen. The front is designed in the popular Colonial Roll. Mounted upon Colonial standards is a large, genuine beveled French Plate Mirror. This buffet is large, massive and of splendid attractiveness. The outfit would not be complete without it.

The Six Chairs

The six chairs are perfect matches for the rest of the outfit. Made of quartered oak in golden finish and in box seat construction upholstered in genuine black leather over resilient springs. The legs are patterned in the Colonial Roll. The back panel is wide enough to give perfect comfort, and is augmented with a form-fitting shape in the back for greater ease. Come in and sit on one to fully realize what a fitting climax they are to the quality of the entire outfit.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Opening Day Feature of Big G. A. R. Encampment at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 13.—On the opening day of the forthcoming Grand Army encampment in Washington, President Wilson will "wig wag" a message of greeting and good will to the veterans visiting the national capital. Mr. Wilson will not personally manipulate the flags for he does not understand the old Myer code which was in use by the Union army during the Civil war, but his welcome will be translated into the sign language and sent from station to station about Washington by survivors of the signal corps of fifty years ago.

Arrangement for the signalling features of the encampment were announced today by Lieut. Carr Round, the president of the United States Veterans Signal Corps association, who has called upon all members of the organization who are able to do so to be present in Washington during encampment week. The main station of the signal corps boys of '61-'65 will be upon the heights of Georgetown in the extreme western section of Washington and upon the very spot where the government had its signal camps of instruction during the war. Mt. Tabor Methodist church stands there now and it will be used as the headquarters of the corps. From that point welcomes will be "wig-waged" by such signal corps officers at General Fisher, General Greely, General Scriven and Col. Albert J. Myers, Jr. These officers understanding the code will doubtless take the flags in their own hands and do their own signaling, flashing messages of peace and good will to the American people. At various points about Washington such as Fort Stevens, Fort De Russy, The Soldiers' Home, Fort Richardson and Fairfax Seminary, which were used as signaling points in war times, stations will be established during the encampment and messages will be transmitted in the old way as in the days before the invention of the field telephone and the wireless. Instead of being war orders they will be what President Round of the Signal Corps association, calls "jubilee messages." The scheme was tried with much success during the encampment at Chattanooga and Gettysburg.

FREAK SWINE.

There will be a freak swine on exhibition at the Fair grounds which will certainly interest both young and old. This pig goes about everywhere he wishes and has but one leg on each side and was raised on the Bowser farm north of Fort Wayne. Don't fail to see him on west side of Fair gound.

Worth Their Weight in Gold.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and found them to be just as represented, a quick relief for headaches, dizzy spells and other symptoms denoting a torpid liver and a disordered condition of the digestive organs. They are worth their weight in gold," writes Miss Clara A. Driggs, Elba, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

LINDMAN NAMED MANAGER.

Will Have Charge of New Morris Bank to Open Here Soon.

Ed J. Lindman, who has had much experience in the banking business, has been selected by the executive committee of the Morris Plan company as manager of the office soon to be opened by the newly organized company in this city. A meeting of the committee will be held this week at which time a location will be selected. Mr. Lindeman was formerly cashier of the Bank of Wayne on East Berry street and for some time was connected with the S. Ackerman and Co. real estate agency in Physicians' Defense building.

To the Public.

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Witherall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately." Obtainable everywhere. —Adv.

STEEPLECHASE MAKES SOCIETY GIRLS POSSESS SYLPH-LIKE FIGURE.

Every girl might be svelt and sylph-like if she would but follow the simple rules laid down by Miss Doris Collins, society girl and sportswoman of Los Angeles.

Riding horseback is her recommended panacea for all ills which are spelled in those dread three letters F-A-T!

But is not sufficient to ride horseback, merely as a fad or fancy, to the park in the evening or on the fashionable turf paths in the afternoon.

The woman who would shave off the sides of her hips, and remove all flabbiness from her shapely limbs, must take to STEEPLECHASING!

Both in Los Angeles and New York.

Miss Doris Collins and her pet mount

Out of her broad experience she has set forth the following as distinct benefits of riding:

Steeplechasing in the early morning hours makes one an accomplished equestrain.

Horseback riding gives woman a poise they cannot gain in any other outdoor sport.

One should ride for the sport not for fancy or fad.

Early morning riding will prevent women from becoming stout.

"It is difficult to be sick and be an habitual rider," Miss Collins cheerily advises.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Wheat took a decided upward swing today after a show of weakness at the start. General rains northwest and a forecast of more gave courage to the bulls. The opening, which ranged from ¼c to 1¼c lower, with September at 93c to 93⅝c and December at 74¼c to 94¾c, was followed by a sharp general advance, which in some cases went 2c a bushel above Saturday night's level.

The close was unsettled at ⅝@½c net gain, with September 93⅝c and December at 95⅝c.

The close was weak at ⅝c to ⅞@1c net decline.

Transactions in provisions were few and far between. The market was nominally steady.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 13.—War shares furnished the sole interest in today's early trading, with further phenomenal gains. Both Bethlehem Steel opened at 320½, soon advancing to 326. General Motors gained 5½ at 26, Crucible Steel 3¼ at 89 and Studebaker 2 at 117. United States Steel was the only former speculative favorite to make marked improvement over last week's close, gaining a point at 75¼. Railroads as a whole were irregular at the outset, with a downward tendency later. London was again a seller of our shares, judging from the heaviness of the international list at that center.

Some specialties increased their early gains. The railways were under steady pressure except Eries and Rock Island. Trading dwindled during the second hour, with reactions of one to four points in war stocks. Interest continued to center in foreign exchange, which evinced greater weakness. Bonds were lower, European selling being the chief factor.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; probably local thundershowers.

For Lower Michigan: Rain tonight and probably Tuesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is high on the Atlantic coast, with highest in the extreme northeast. It is low in the interior districts, with the center of the disturbance in Colorado. This distribution of pressure has resulted in rains in the lake region and upper Mississippi valley, with heavy falls in localities, and local showers in the northern plateau region, north Pacific states, northern Rocky mountain region, on the northeastern slope and on the west gulf coast. Clear skies prevail in the south, but in the northern half of the country the weather is generally unsettled. It is warm in eastern and southern sections, but in the northwestern states temperatures are below the normal.

CLOSING CONTRACT FOR GIFT OF PARK

Board to Take Over Sieling Donation of Spot in East End.

The board of park commissioners at its Monday afternoon meeting is closing up the contract for the transfer to the city of Sieling park, in the far east end of the city, which tract is the gift of Dietrick F. and Ida Sieling. It is about an acre in area and is a triangular tract bounded by Wayne trace, New Haven avenue and Warren street. One corner of this tract was dedicated some years ago to the city and upon it Mary Penrose Wayne chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, placed a large boulder containing a tablet commemorating this part of the old trail to Incinnati, and marking it as a part of the route of General Harmer's army in 1790 and of General Wayne's in 1794. The local chapter of the D. A. R. has long been anxious to secure the entire triangle as a public park and Mr. and Mrs. Sieling decided to make a gift of it to the city. The only condition is that the city pay the expense of removing the buildings and fences, purchase a lot upon which to place one of the buildings, assume the assessment for the New Haven avenue pavement and designate the park by the official title of "Dietrick F. and Ida Sieling park," and henceforth to maintain it as a park. The city will incur an expense of about $3,000, while the tract is valued at about $7,000. The park board will pay the expense from its funds in three annual installments, the city council having already appropriated $1,000 for the first payment. The contract will go to the council Tuesday evening for ratification.

DISTRICT SCHOOLS START ON NEW TERM

Practically every district school in Allen county opened Monday morning for the new term with prospects for the most successful year in the history of the schools. The schools never were opened with more promising prospects, according to Superintendent D. O. McComb.

Contrary to expectations the new Lincoln consolidated school in Washington township did not open Monday owing to the failure of the furniture to arrive in time. However, it is believed that this school will be ready to start the new term within the next few days.

SUFFERS SPRAINED ANKLE.

Miss Anna Gordon, of 314 Brandriff street, fell down the stairs at her home and suffered a badly sprained ankle. Her condition is not serious, but she will be unable to leave the house for a week.

FIND BLIND TIGER UNDER A REDLIGHT

There was barely enough evidence in the city court to convict Laura Frazier, a negress, of keeping a house of ill-fame, Anna Brown, another colored lady, of prostitution, and Sam Rickards, John Holley, J. W. Reed, Frank Bondle, Edward Hall and William Anderson, all white men, and John Brown, a colored man better known as Moulton, of associating. There was an abundance of evidence that the place has been doing business as a blind tiger and on that charge more may be heard of it. The raid was made about 1 o'clock Sunday morning on the Frazier home, 239 Holman street, by Officers Kavanaugh, Madden, Fry, Bunck, Pattee and Godfrey and the mixed crowd was taken to police headquarters. Brown tried to escape through a window, but was captured, and one of the women was found under a bed upstairs. The rooms indicated the character of the place. The white men testified in court that they went there to buy beer and Holley stated that they purchased several bottles for which he settled a bill of $1.25. Henry Murphy, a colored man held as a witness, said he went into the place and solicited the companionship of a lady and after paying $1 to a man was chased out of the house at the point of a gun. Judge Kerr fined Laura Frazier $25 and costs for keeping a house, and added thirty days in jail. Anna Brown drew $15 and costs and fifteen days, and all the men but Anderson, who was not in court, were fined $15 and costs and given fifteen days. The jail sentences were suspended in each case. "Wing" Frazier, husband of Laura Frazier, who was on guard in front and directing traffic into the place, has disappeared.

Paroled Man Is in Trouble.

Ralph Dunlap, a paroled man who was not long ago released after doing time for forgery, was arraigned in the city court Monday morning on a charge of horse-stealing. He pleaded not guilty, and after part of the testimony was taken the case was continued until next Monday and he went to jail for want of $1,000 bond. The testimony was that Dunlap had tried to sell a horse he had hired of Walter E. Tinkel, a liveryman at Huntertown, to the Webers, horse dealers, at the Burnett sales stables on Wells street in the afternoon. A Huntertown man recognized the Tonkel horse and notified Officer John Greer, who arrested Dunlap.

Alcoholfest Broken Up.

Fred Raymond, Tom Moser, Cornelius Kramer, Edward Jones, Ernest Doweyer and James Wilson had purchased a half gallon of alcohol, some bacon, pork chops and other provender and were laid out on the river bank near the baseball park Saturday evening preparing to stage a "white line" party. Two colored women who passed became frightened and notified the police. The bunch was pinched and all were fined $1 and costs.

Had His Teeth Knocked Out.

Harvey Croy and Christ Sommers were quietly passing along the west side of Harrison street Saturday evening when they were assaulted by Edward Hoffman, of Franklin avenue. Croy had two teeth knocked out. Hoffman was fined $10 and costs. He said the men insulted him and that there had been bad blood between them. Croy and Sommers both testified that they had said nothing to provoke the assault.

Other City Court Cases.

These drunks were disposed of: Robert Green, $5 and costs; Elmer Hess, of Auburn, $5 and costs; William Weber, $1 and costs; James Wilson, $1 and costs; William Salzer, $1 and costs; William English, ernie Worden, Jack Ross and John Miller, turned loose; Jack Cummings, continued to Wednesday; William Wilson, continued to Tuesday.

Arthur Mannier, a youth of 20, charged with disorderly conduct, was allowed to go. He had been arrested by the police upon complaint of a sister after the youngster had come home drunk and fought with his brother.

A gang of five vags picked up at the hobo camp along the Wabash tracks west of the city had a uniform story of wanting to leave the city and all were turned loose.

William Jacobs and Ernest Blazer, two young men who were accused of having insulted some women who were going early Sunday morning to meet their mother at the Nickel Plate station, were arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct. They were continued until Tuesday for further testimony.

Earl Bales, who borrowed an overcoat from Dalton Green, of the Baltes hotel, found $17 in the pockets. He returned the coat but not the money. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel on a charge of larceny. He pleaded guilty in court and the case was continued. Bales has been an inmate of the school for feeble-minded.
